Rockefeller Orders Monaghan Hearings

Will Check If Ethics Violated

Race Czar Denies Breach of Code

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The State Investigation Commission will conduct public hearings on charges that harness racing commissioner George P. Monaghan violated the code of ethics for state officials.

Gov. Rockefeller, in a letter made public Wednesday after an hour's conference with Monaghan, requested that the commission get the hearings underway "as promptly as possible."

Asks to Be Present

The governor said Monaghan "denies any breach of the code of ethics" and "also indicated his desire to present his side of the case at public hearings of the Commission of Investigation."

Although a commission report to the governor on harness track operations in the state has never been made public, it is known the group looked into the way tracks spend millions of dollars in tax relief the state grants to improve track facilities.

Monaghan has sole authority to approve financing of construction projects from these funds.

The charges against Monaghan were contained in the commission report.

In his letter to Jacob Grumet, chairman of the investigation commission, Rockefeller said his counsel would suggest to the commission "certain specific questions which have arisen in the course of my study of your report and Commissioner Monaghan's response, which I feel require investigation."

Says Hearing Fair Course

"Also," Rockefeller continued, "you have indicated to my counsel your desire to pursue additional lines of inquiry related to your report.

"I have concluded that the fair and effective course of action is for you to conduct these further investigations and such hearings as you deem appropriate."

Rockefeller said Monaghan had given him a written and oral statement denying any breach of the state's code of ethics.

Enacted in 1954

The code, enacted in 1954, prescribes conduct for state officials and is intended to prevent conflicts of interest and attempts to influence public officers in performance of their duty.

Monaghan, summoned to Albany for the first time by Rockefeller April 8 to discuss the commission's report, was instructed to

TV Interference Not Caused by Freeman Machine

The zoning board, apparently unaware of the fact that reported television interference downtown has been traced to another source, today released an opinion on complaints as filed late last year against The Freeman Publishing Company.

It was held that a lead-melting machine in The Freeman building had caused the interference, and had that been true, the board noted, a 1928 zoning ordinance does not empower it to affirm such complaints against use of such electrical units.

A restricting decision, it noted, could be reached only under a section of the ordinance dealing with mechanical units in excess of 50 horsepower or steam power over 150 pounds.

The decision, released by Attorney George A. Beck, as board chairman, with Attorney Thomas F. Saccoman a board member concurring, is on a complaint filed and aired late last year. It lists as complainants Emerson DuBois, of 11 Broadway, and others.

Petitioners, said the report that the peitioners "adduced proof (at a Dec. 11 hearing) that up to about three years ago they had enjoyed relatively good television reception, and that at about that time they noticed interference so severe as to render impossible any viewing during the period in which said disturbance took place."

The interference, it said, came in one minute out of every four. It was traced to an oil-burning unit in a building near The Freeman plant, which is in a business district.

Rosendale Meeting Set May 19 on Dissolution

A Taxpayers Association's committee of the Village of Rosendale, after an investigation of more than a year, has reported that more than one third ($11,631.55) of a $31,543.02 budget used during 1956-57, could be eliminated if the incorporated village were dissolved. A hearing to discuss the findings of the committee has been scheduled, Thursday, May 19, 8 p. m., at the Village Hall, Main Street.

Findings Released

After a near year long investigation into the matter, the Taxpayers' Association has reported the following specific findings based upon the 1957-58 Village of Rosendale expenditures:

1) It is the opinion of the committee that all of the following items would be eliminated under the town management:

Mayor's salary and expenses	$ 675.00
Trustees salaries	600.00
Police justice's salary and expenses	234.00
Staff	2,166.17
Police	2,644.89
Street maintenance	2,538.39
Public health	36.95
Sanitation	58.36
General	2,409.42
Other activities	268.37
Total	$11,631.55

This is more than one third of the expenditures in the year 1957-58, the total expenditures being $31,543.02 for that year. The figures for 1958-59 are not yet available as the fiscal year ends May 31, 1959. However, the budgets for the previous year and the current year are about the same.

Special Districts Proposed

2 In the event of the dissolution of the village, the town board would establish special districts for fire protection, lighting, garbage disposal and water. The cost of these services during 1957-58 were as follows:

Fire Department	$3,558.97
Lighting	3,181.82
Garbage	2,966.69
Total	$9,707.48

The water department is presently self supporting and maintained as a separate department, which receives its income based upon the number of fixtures of the users of such service ,and therefore, its income and receipts are omitted. In addition to the above services the people who were formerly in the village after dissolution would have to pay $4,000 a year plus interest on the debts acquired for the firehouse and fire

JCC Purchases Old Hurley Camp Site for $40,000

A 124-acre camp site at Old Hurley, costing approximately $40,000 was purchased to be used as a summer day camp for the Jewish Community Center, it was announced today by Abraham Streifer, president of the Jewish Community Council, and Sigmund Rudisch, president of the center.

The Jewish Community Center has been looking for a suitable camp site for four years and the task was accomplished by the summer site committee headed by Sidney Halpern.

For Use All Year

Halpern said that although the site has been purchased primarily for the center's summer day camp it will also be used for family camping during summer as well as outdoor activities durthe spring, fall and winter.

The property consists of approximately 60 acres in open, gentle rolling fields interspersed with woodlands containing a substantial growth of maturing evergreen trees and other trees native to this area. The land lies between two streams, part of both streams are on the camp property.

Adjoining the property are extensive, undeveloped woodlands which are part of the state reservation. The rolling hills and sections of woodland interspersed with fairly level open fields make

Frisco, Quebec Good Bets For August Summit Sites

PARIS (AP) — Today's best guess for the site of an East-West summit conference is San Francisco, or Quebec.

Allied diplomats also reported that the target date favored by the Western powers for the conference is about Aug. 1.

Decisions on both points would have to be taken by East-West foreign ministers who meet in Geneva May 11.

As of now, the big powers have not definitely decided that a summit meeting will be held.

Both San Francisco and Quebec have been formally offered to the Big Four as summit sites. In the case of San Francisco, this has been done by the civic authorities. In the case of Quebec, Canada has sent notes to the powers concerned.

Britain has indicated to the Allies a preference for Vienna. The French also favor a European city, but reportedly would not object to a North American meeting place.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is believed ready to meet the Allies almost anywhere—perhaps most of all in the United States which he has never visited.

Lansdell Firm Gets Contracts

Firm Is Different From One in Probe

Contracts for road oil were awarded this wek to the Lansdell Asphalt Corp., by both the city and county.

The corporation, the only bidder for each contract, is a different one from The Lansdell Co., Inc., a branch official of which came in for mention during the kickback investigation here.

The county bid was on a price of 14.9 a gallon and that for the city was 15.4. Grade and usage differences figure in the lower county price, it was indicated.

The city contract was awarded at a special meeting of the Board of Public Works yesterday and the county bid was acted upon earlier in the week.

The Lansdell Co., Inc., it was noted today, is incorporated in New Jersey and The Lansdell Asphalt Co., as a New York State corporation.

As the result of a grand jury request here last year legislation was enacted this year aimed at boycotting firms whose personnel refuse to testify during investigations or trials when called upon to do so. The law becomes effective July 1.

Requests were also put in locally for the names of companies whose personnel or officials refused to testify in the local in-

Judge Cashin to Preside At U. S. Court Law Day

Federal Judge John M. Cashin will preside at Law Day—U. S. A. exercises to be held Friday, May 1 by the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York. The celebration of Law Day will be held at 10 o'clock in Room 506, United States Courthouse, Foley Square, New York City. Members of the Bar and the public are invited to attend.

Chief Judge Sylvester J. Ryan in announcing the program lists the following speakers for the observance: Dudley B. Bonsal of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York; Arthur H. Swartz of the New York County Lawyers Association; Chauncey Belknap of the New York State Bar Association; Theodore R. Jackson of the Federal Bar Association of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut; Miss Mollie Strum of the Federal Bar Association and Orison R. Marden of the American Bar Association.

Not All for Same Plan, But—

Need Is Acknowledged For Area New Schools

Apparently no one disagrees about the need for new schools, as the general informational meeting last night in the George Washington School indicated.

Differences arise in the matter of timing, however.

Some favor the proposed bond issue for $5,980,000 which would be paid off in 20 years.

Others prefer a somewhat less ambitious 10-year plan, with other construction programs as the need arose.

There is no basic disagreement with the proposed building program, as enunciated by the Kingston Board of Education, although some take issue with less important details, such as location of sites.

Some 100 persons were present at the meeting sponsored by the George Washington School Parent-Teacher Association.

It was the feeling of some persons in the audience that the building program would be inadequate, that by the time it could be completed it would again be overflowing.

Third Junior High Mentioned

A member of the panel indicated that the board of education already has under consideration the possible construction in the not too distant future of a third junior high school—in addition to the Myron J. Michael School and the proposed junior high school in the Dietz Stadium area. This is not included in the present building plans, however.

Present building plans include three new schools (a junior high and two elementary schools), additions to Schools 5 and 6 in the city and to Lake Katrine, Hurley, Tillson and Port Ewen in outlying sections of the enlarged city district.

Election Is Tuesday

Voters will go to the polls Tuesday, May 5, to vote on the 20-year $5,980,000 bond issue.

At the same time they will cast their ballots for two candidates for the board of education to succeed Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker Jr., and Harold Darling.

Composing the panel last night were N. Jansen Fowler, Kingston attorney, former member of the board of education, now a member of the advisory Committee of Fifty; Chris Larios of Hurley, chairman of the Committee of Fifty; Andrew T. Gilday, a member of the board of education, and William Switzer, representing the architectural firm of Perkins and Will. Henry Halterman, president of the P-TA presided.

Three of the 11 candidates for the board of education were present

Retired Navy Officer Will Make Second Sub Trip Here

When the fleet type submarine Conger arrives in Kingston for Memorial Day weekend it will have aboard as honored guest the oldest living retired submarine officer in the U. S. Navy.

In spite of this designation there is nothing archaic about retired Lieutenant Commander Edward W. Coady of 286 Flatbush Avenue who made his first submarine trip to Kingston in 1907. A veteran of 56 years of military and civilian service with the Navy, he is a slight, vigorous man whose looks and manner belie his 76 years of age.

Coady enlisted in the Navy when he was 14, serving on training ships U. S. Constellation, Vermont and Topeka. In those days sailing ships were all the Navy had and the life of an "apprentice boy" was far different from the program of training and education offered the modern recruit.

50 Cents a Month

An apprentice boy, an enlistee under 21 years of age, received 50 cents per month. Actually his total month's pay was $9 to begin with and went up to $12. The Navy held back all but the 50 cents, a part in trust until the boys reached 21 and a part to cover clothing allowance.

Shoes were a part of the clothing issued but apprentices were not allowed to wear them except for very special occasions. The apprentice soon learned to run ratlines in his bare feet and by the time his enlistment was up thought nothing of his barefoot status.

Coady recalls being in a parade to honor Admiral Dewey in New York City and said that it was a great occasion—the apprentice boys got to wear shoes.

Prior to being assigned to submarine service in 1905, Coady was aboard the U. S. S. Brooklyn, a steamship cruiser, and participated in the blockade of the Spanish fleet at Santa Diego

End Paris Parley in Agreement

New Course Ready If Package Fails

PARIS (AP)—The Western Big Four foreign ministers announced complete agreement today on a package plan they will deliver to the Geneva conference next month. They then unexpectedly ended their session.

A final communique gave no details of the plan. The foreign ministers opened their meeting only Wednesday to unify their positions for the East-West foreign ministers conference at Geneva May 11.

Stand Firm on Pledge

The ministers said they stood four-square behind the West's pledge to hold firm in Berlin and to refuse to abandon the 2¼ million residents of that city.

Though the communique did not say so, official sources reported the ministers had agreed to negotiate a separate Berlin settlement if the Soviet Union rejects the over-all package deal on Berlin, German unity, and European security they plan to propose at Geneva.

This Allied agreement on a fallback position was disclosed before the U.S., British, French and West German foreign ministers began their closing discussion of Britain's project for a zone of limited, controlled arms and armies in central Europe.

Zone Is Macmillan Plan

Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has advocated establishment of such a zone as the first step in a cold war settlement with the Soviet Union.

There was a compromise on the British-proposed European security zone. Details were not disclosed. But officials said the proposal was watered down considerably to meet American, French and West German objections.

The officials said the British proposal will be fitted into the Allied program for unification of East and West Germany. In other words, its fulfillment would depend on progress toward a German political settlement.

Calls for Controls

The British idea, as originally conceived, called for controls, inspection and limitation of armed forces in a tension-ridden area of Europe roughly embracing the two Germanys, Poland and Czechoslovakia. Allied critics have expressed fear a pullback in that particular area would put the West at a military disadvantage.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter is to take off for Washington Friday after calling on French Premier Michel Debre.

Qualified sources gave this outline of the new Allied plan of negotiations:

The Western package that will be laid before the Soviets at the Geneva conference of foreign ministers next month will cover the Berlin dispute, the reunification of Germany in four phases, and a pan-European security system.

If, as expected, the Soviets reject this package, the Western Allies have agreed to fall back on a new position that would allow separate arrangements on threatened Berlin.

Won't Separate Link

The Allies are resolved, however, that they will not separate their linked program for German reunification and the development

The Americans said the first day of the talks with the British, French and West Germans got off to a good start with everything going smoothly.

But the British were still searching behind the scenes for some-

KINGSTON, PA., ROTARIANS VISIT HERE — The Rotary Club of Kingston, Pennsylvania held an inter-club meeting with Kingston Rotary Wednesday evening at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Preceding the meeting, the 25 members of the visiting club were taken on a tour of the city. Kingston, Pa., is a borough of some 22,000 people and is situated on the Susquehanna River opposite Wilkes-Barre in the heart of industrial northeastern Pennsylvania. This city's early connection with this Pennsylvania region was through the Delaware and Hudson Canal, which brought anthracite coal from Honesdale, Pa. to Rondout. From Rondout the coal was shipped down the Hudson River to the New York area markets. In Academy Green at the statue of Henry Hudson, whose voyage up the Hudson 350 years ago is being celebrated this year, are left to right, Adrian Kaplan, vice president and incoming president of the local club; Donald G. Conference Giving Gains

Methodists Vote Today On $60,000 Area Camp

Methodists in the four districts of the New York Conference have given $4,449,177 this year for the support of the church locally and throughout the world, it was reported today at the 160th annual session at St. James Church. The total exceeds by $131,587 the amount given last year, Treasurer Howard H. Darling of Newburgh told the delegates.

Included in the total is $824,190 for ministers' salaries, an increase of $71,886 over last year.

Notes Increase in Rolls

Church school rolls added 743 members for a total of 38,838 and there are 16,937 preparatory members, a rise of 529 over last year, according to the report of the Rev. Lee H. Ball of Maybrook, Conference statistician. The value of church buildings, equipment and land has risen $1,392,666 to an all-time high of $27,806,594.

Preaching Wednesday night to a group of student ministers being admitted to the Conference, the Rev. Harold A. Bosley of Evanston, Ill., declared that the primary requirements for an effective ministry are intellectual and moral honesty and the courage to take a strong stand on controversial issues. He cautioned them never to side-step political, racial, social or economic problems but to take a Christian stand and express it with conviction.

The Rev. Charles L. Warren of New York City led devotions this morning preaching on "Attaining Harmony in the Inner Life." It

Two Meetings Tonight

Meetings will continue tonight—one at School No. 4, the other at Chambers School.

The School 4 meeting is sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Club of that school.

The meeting at Chambers School is sponsored by the Ulster-Albany Avenue Businessmen's Association.

The School 4 discussion will be informational on the proposed bond issue.

Both meetings are scheduled to begin at 8 p. m.

Voters of the enlarged city district will go to the polls next Tuesday to vote on the proposed $5,980,000 bond issue which would be paid up in 20 years.

A member of the panel indicated that the board of education already has under consideration the possible construction in the not too distant future of a third junior high school—in addition to the Myron J. Michael School and the proposed junior high school in the Dietz Stadium area. This is not included in the present building plans, however.

Present building plans include three new schools (a junior high and two elementary schools), additions to Schools 5 and 6 in the city and to Lake Katrine, Hurley, Tillson and Port Ewen in outlying sections of the enlarged city district.

Election Is Tuesday

Voters will go to the polls Tuesday, May 5, to vote on the 20-year $5,980,000 bond issue.

At the same time they will cast their ballots for two candidates for the board of education to succeed Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker Jr., and Harold Darling.

Composing the panel last night were N. Jansen Fowler, Kingston attorney, former member of the board of education, now a member of the advisory Committee of Fifty; Chris Larios of Hurley, chairman of the Committee of Fifty; Andrew T. Gilday, a member of the board of education, and William Switzer, representing the architectural firm of Perkins and Will. Henry Halterman, president of the P-TA presided.

Retired Navy Officer Will Make Second Sub Trip Here

When the fleet type submarine Conger arrives in Kingston for Memorial Day weekend it will have aboard as honored guest the oldest living retired submarine officer in the U. S. Navy.

In spite of this designation there is nothing archaic about retired Lieutenant Commander Edward W. Coady of 286 Flatbush Avenue who made his first submarine trip to Kingston in 1907. A veteran of 56 years of military and civilian service with the Navy, he is a slight, vigorous man whose looks and manner belie his 76 years of age.

Coady enlisted in the Navy when he was 14, serving on training ships U. S. Constellation, Vermont and Topeka. In those days sailing ships were all the Navy had and the life of an "apprentice boy" was far different from the program of training and education offered the modern recruit.

EDWARD W. COADY

50 Cents a Month

An apprentice boy, an enlistee under 21 years of age, received 50 cents per month. Actually his total month's pay was $9 to begin with and went up to $12. The Navy held back all but the 50 cents, a part in trust until the boys reached 21 and a part to cover clothing allowance.

Shoes were a part of the clothing issued but apprentices were not allowed to wear them except for very special occasions. The apprentice soon learned to run ratlines in his bare feet and by the time his enlistment was up thought nothing of his barefoot status.

Coady recalls being in a parade to honor Admiral Dewey in New York City and said that it was a great occasion—the apprentice boys got to wear shoes.

Prior to being assigned to submarine service in 1905, Coady was aboard the U. S. S. Brooklyn, a steamship cruiser, and participated in the blockade of the Spanish fleet at Santa Diego (Continued on Page 12, Col. 6)

End Paris Parley in Agreement

New Course Ready If Package Fails

PARIS (AP)—The Western Big Four foreign ministers announced complete agreement today on a package plan they will deliver to the Geneva conference next month. They then unexpectedly ended their session.

A final communique gave no details of the plan. The foreign ministers opened their meeting only Wednesday to unify their positions for the East-West foreign ministers conference at Geneva May 11.

Stand Firm on Pledge

The ministers said they stood four-square behind the West's pledge to hold firm in Berlin and to refuse to abandon the 2¼ million residents of that city.

Though the communique did not say so, official sources reported the ministers had agreed to negotiate a separate Berlin settlement if the Soviet Union rejects the over-all package deal on Berlin, German unity, and European security they plan to propose at Geneva.

This Allied agreement on a fallback position was disclosed before the U.S., British, French and West German foreign ministers began their closing discussion of Britain's project for a zone of limited, controlled arms and armies in central Europe.

Zone Is Macmillan Plan

Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has advocated establishment of such a zone as the first step in a cold war settlement with the Soviet Union.

There was a compromise on the British-proposed European security zone. Details were not disclosed. But officials said the proposal was watered down considerably to meet American, French and West German objections.

The officials said the British proposal will be fitted into the Allied program for unification of East and West Germany. In other words, its fulfillment would depend on progress toward a German political settlement.

Calls for Controls

The British idea, as originally conceived, called for controls, inspection and limitation of armed forces in a tension-ridden area of Europe roughly embracing the two Germanys, Poland and Czechoslovakia. Allied critics have expressed fear a pullback in that particular area would put the West at a military disadvantage.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter is to take off for Washington Friday after calling on French Premier Michel Debre.

Qualified sources gave this outline of the new Allied plan of negotiations:

The Western package that will be laid before the Soviets at the Geneva conference of foreign ministers next month will cover the Berlin dispute, the reunification of Germany in four phases, and a pan-European security system.

If, as expected, the Soviets reject this package, the Western Allies have agreed to fall back on a new position that would allow separate arrangements on threatened Berlin.

Won't Separate Link

The Allies are resolved, however, that they will not separate their linked program for German reunification and the development

The Americans said the first day of the talks with the British, French and West Germans got off to a good start with everything going smoothly.

Conference Giving Gains

Methodists Vote Today On $60,000 Area Camp

Methodists in the four districts of the New York Conference have given $4,449,177 this year for the support of the church locally and throughout the world, it was reported today at the 160th annual session at St. James Church. The total exceeds by $131,587 the amount given last year, Treasurer Howard H. Darling of Newburgh told the delegates.

Included in the total is $824,190 for ministers' salaries, an increase of $71,886 over last year.

Notes Increase in Rolls

Church school rolls added 743 members for a total of 38,838 and there are 16,937 preparatory members, a rise of 529 over last year, according to the report of the Rev. Lee H. Ball of Maybrook, Conference statistician. The value of church buildings, equipment and land has risen $1,392,666 to an all-time high of $27,806,594.

Preaching Wednesday night to a group of student ministers being admitted to the Conference, the Rev. Harold A. Bosley of Evanston, Ill., declared that the primary requirements for an effective ministry are intellectual and moral honesty and the courage to take a strong stand on controversial issues. He cautioned them never to side-step political, racial, social or economic problems but to take a Christian stand and express it with conviction.

Matter of FACT

No one knows why Michigan's popular name is "The Wolverine State." Some people believe that early settlers found many of the animals called wolverines. However, experts have been unable to find any trace of them. Michigan's first explorers did find other great natural treasures, though. One of the most valuable of these was fur—beaver, mink, fox, bear and muskrat.

Statement by Macy Papers On Strike Breaking Probe

William L. Fanning, executive vice president of the Westchester County Publishers, Inc., in the following statement released Wednesday says that the publishers of the Macy newspapers believe that the time has come to clear the air on issues which have been indirectly referred to by the Special Committee of Investigation of the New York State Department of Labor.

A wholly distorted picture of the matters into which this Committee has delved has unfortunately been conveyed to the public.

It is a regrettable fact that Martin P. Catherwood, present State Industrial Commissioner, has put himself in the position of aiding and abetting a group of law-breakers now engaged in carrying on illegal strikes against the eight daily newspapers published by Westchester County Publishers Inc.

No other construction can be placed upon his decision to authorize the Special Committee created by his predecessor to resume its investigation into allegations that these newspapers have been engaged in strike breaking activities. In order that the public may know precisely what the facts about this controversy are, they are herewith set forth.

On December 9, 1957 the International Typographical Union struck the White Plains Reporter Dispatch, the Yonkers Herald Statesman, the New Rochelle Standard Star, the Mamaroneck Daily Times and the Mount Vernon Daily Argus.

On December 16, 1957, the International Typographical Union struck the Port Chester Daily Item and on December 23, 1957 the Tarrytown Daily News and the Ossining Citizen Register were also struck.

All of these strikes were called by the International Typographical Union for the purpose of forcing the publisher to enter into contracts with locals of the I.T.U., contracts which were and are illegal, and which were and have been found to be illegal by the National Labor Relations Board and by the Courts.

Nevertheless when the strikes were called in December 1957, the publisher offered to arbitrate all issues. This offer to arbitrate was made in writing and copies of these written offers to arbitrate were filed with the New York State Board of Mediation.

Since the committee was created on December 31 last, the National Labor Relations Board in five different proceedings has found the identical demands to be illegal and in two of these cases, where strikes were called to enforce them, the Board has found the strikes to be illegal.

The Special Investigating Committee was advised as to those decisions, but, notwithstanding the fact that the issues which precipitated the strikes in Westchester County were identical to those which brought about these two strikes, in Haverhill and Worcester, Mass., the Committee has persuaded the Industrial Commissioner to continue its existence so that it may further harass these newspapers.

No charge of violation of law has ever been preferred against Westchester County Publishers Inc. The only complaint, obviously is that they have succeeded in resisting an illegal conspiracy to force them to cease publication until they would agree to violate the law by entering into contracts with a union, that, for more than a decade, has expressed its defiance of the law of the land.

In this period the ITU has called strikes against 135 newspapers in an effort to compel them to enter into agreements discriminating against non-members of that organization. It has spent by its own admission, upwards of $30,000,000 in this illegal effort.

The struck newspapers in Westchester County prior to 1947 had operated under contracts. Following the enactment of the Taft-Hartley Act in that year, the local unions, at the direction of the International, terminated these agreements because of its disapproval of the new labor act.

In 1953, the locals again sought to negotiate contracts. Under the direction of the International, they insisted upon the inclusion in any agreement entered into of provisions theretofore found not only by the National Labor Relations Board but by the Courts, in proceedings brought by the Board, to be in violation of the anti-discrimination and anti-closed shop provisions of the Taft Hartley Act. This company offered to negotiate legal agreements, but refused flatly to enter into agreements which its counsel advised it were utterly illegal in nature and which, if observed, would subject to severe penalties.

The local union groups refused to accept any agreement unless it contained those provisions mandated by the International in an effort to maintain conditions prohibited by law. Negotiations from 1953 to 1957 were carried on under constant threat of strike action to enforce the illegal demands of the ITU.

When the strikes were called in December 1957, the company offered to arbitrate all of the issues. Having been forewarned by the union of its intention to strike, the company, in order to stay in business, filled the positions vacated by the strikers and continued to publish.

More than one year later, and on his last day in office, Dr. Isidor Lubin, former Industrial Commissioner of the State of New York, established, at the request of the ITU, a Special Committee ostensibly to investigate the methods by which companies threatened with the shut-down of their business by strikes—in our case absolutely illegal strikes—continued to operate. Dr. Lubin's order unquestionably as aimed directly at this Company in an effort to assist the ITU in its illegal conduct.

Westchester County Publishers was "invited" to appear before the special committee and through counsel did appear, as a matter of courtesy, but not of compulsion on March 6, last. At that time, our counsel were requested to file a memorandum with the Committee, stating this Company's position. The memorandum was filed.

The Committee was informed of the persistant defiance of law by the International Typographical Union and the condemnation of its illegal activities by the National Labor Relations Board and the Courts. Its attention was called to the most recent one of these decisions in which not only was the Union found guilty of violating the Act by imposing its demands upon a publisher, but that publisher in turn was found guilty for having acceded to those demands, and was subjected to a severe financial penalty by the Board.

Even so, the Committee decided to pursue its inquiry. It ordered public hearings to begin on March 30.

On March 31, the National Labor Relations Board in another decision found illegal a contract such as the unions had attemped to foist on Westchester. In this case its order was directed solely against a publisher who had voluntarily entered into the agreement and then pursuant to the union's demand, discriminated against its employes in violation of law. Even so, the Committee presisted with its inquiry.

Then, when the present Industrial Commissioner suggested it close the matter out, it cried aloud it was being forced out of business by political pressure. Of course, it did not comment on the manner by which it got into business in the first place.

On April 17, the National Labor Relations Board in still another of its decisions found the precise terms for which the Westchester strikes were called to be the causes of illegal strikes called against two newspapers in Massachusetts.

Both the Industrial Commissioner and the Investigating Committee had been informed as to this decision prior to the decision of the Commissioner to authorize a continuance of the Inquiry.

Because it is our view that it is our obligation to serve the people of Westchester County with news and information it is our intention to continue to publish notwithstanding the illegal strikes called against us, and to resist in every proper legal manner the attempt by the Special Committee to aid and comfort those law-breaking groups.

Statement by Macy Papers On Strike Breaking Probe

William L. Fanning, executive vice president of the Westchester County Publishers, Inc., in the following statement released Wednesday says that the publishers of the Macy newspapers believe that the time has come to clear the air on issues which have been indirectly referred to by the Special Committee of Investigation of the New York State Department of Labor.

A wholly distorted picture of the matters into which this Committee has delved has unfortunately been conveyed to the public.

It is a regrettable fact that Martin P. Catherwood, present State Industrial Commissioner, has put himself in the position of aiding and abetting a group of law-breakers now engaged in carrying on illegal strikes against the eight daily newspapers published by Westchester County Publishers Inc.

No other construction can be placed upon his decision to authorize the Special Committee created by his predecessor to resume its investigation into allegations that these newspapers have been engaged in strike breaking activities. CHALLENGE OF OUR HERITAGE

We who live in America and the Western world have a great many things in our heritage to be thankful for.

There are wonderful things to read, from beautifully told stories to perceptive histories to the speculations of the philosophers. There is music to stir the heart and delight the ear, art of many sorts to please the eye and touch that same heart.

Some of these high marks of our cultural accomplishment are comparatively new. Others have come down to us from a past that ranges from a few decades ago to distant centuries.

In every age, some of the new things are not recognized for what they are. Experiment with new forms and ideas may actually be leading to new levels of greatness, yet people used to conventional ways of writing or composing find themselves resisting the change.

In every time, too, there are many who look only for the new. They imagine that good books and good music and the like are the products of fashion, like women's hats, and that somehow last year's or last century's writings are no longer worth looking at.

Those who feel this way are of course themselves the losers. The great things they turn their backs upon will endure longer than the individuals who spurn them.

One thoughtful fellow put it like this:

"The great works of our civilization are not on trial before each new generation. They have stood the test of time. They have already proved themselves with millions of human beings who examined them and found them rich in reward.

"It is we, looking at these things today, who are on trial.

"The question is whether we can see in them their true substance, glean from them the reward they hold, appreciate the comment they make upon life. If we cannot, it is we, not the great works, that have failed."

A magnificent heritage is ours for the taking. No one of us ought to ignore it. To do so is to travel on the thin surface of life, never probing its depths. It is to move in the clamorous present, detached from the solid anchor of the past. It is to reduce living close to mere existing.

With all its perils, the world Western men have built is worth living in. But to live in it, to the hilt, we must meet its challenge, and not expect it to met ours.

Red China's version of the assault on Tibet would indicate that the greatest "leap forward" has been in the field of prevarication.

TOP OF THE LADDER

Human beings, being human, think of themselves as standing alone at the peak of the evolutionary ladder. They never weary of piling up evidence in support of the notion that man is, though a little lower than the angels, several rungs above the lesser animals.

This diligence in bolstering the idea of human superiority may be accounted for by a recurrent hunch that the superiority is more fancied than real. We find ourselves wondering about this from time to time—and never more than in spring.

In this season of renewal, what are the lords of creation doing? Why, most of them are doing pretty much what they normally do—working to acquire more things, fretting about bills and taxes, hewing and building and striving and scheming.

What, meanwhile, are the lesser animals doing? They are flitting about in the fragrant, rain-washed air; they are lazing in the warm sunshine; they are keeping themselves in tune with the universe, instead of ignoring the music of the spheres as the mighty race is wont to do. Is it any wonder that we wonder who, after all, is wiser, man or the creatures over whom he has dominion.?

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

ECONOMIC STATESMANSHIP

This much is visible to the naked eye: Great Britain and West Germany are fully recovered economically and are strong in world markets; the Common Market is developing among six nations of Europe; the Free Market, including Commonwealth countries, is making some progress; Soviet Russia is becoming a mercantile country using capitalistic economics for socialist ends.

What is happening to the United States in the economic field? It is becoming increasingly clear that the United States has outpriced itself in all commodities. The theory of American industrial output, particularly in the consumer goods market, has been that the United States, by mass production, could pay higher wages, keep prices down and maintain a high standard of living. When that formula ceases to be correct, the economy of the United States is in difficulty. This is most apparent in the world market for automobiles into which good cars, well engineered but lower priced, are beginning to hurt the American-made car even in the American market. All sorts of explanations are given but the most correct is undoubtedly that the American car has outpriced itself.

When does a commodity outprice itself? Obviously when buyers' resistance asserts itself. It is as simple as that. The consumer determines the value of any commodity. Circumstances often assist the consumer. For instance women turned from silk stockings to the inferior rayon stocking during World War II. They could not get silk, but nylon also was not available. When the war was over, women did not return to silk but stayed with nylon. The standard stocking in the Western world is nylon, which is a durable commodity fairly priced.

But anybody can make nylon and it will all be of approximately the same quality. The question then becomes price. In the age of automatic machinery, the two principal factors in price are wages and taxes. Wages relate to the cost of living. In an inflationary economy wages are absurdly high and send costs rocketing.

Mass production by automatic machinery is adopted to reduce the labor cost, but it is unsound socially for a country to have a large unemployed population dependent upon state charity for support. This not only increases the tax burden of those who pay taxes but it develops discontent, anxiety, political demagoguery and abnormal conditions in the home. While the slogan, machines make jobs, may be justified by long term economic history, it does not serve immediately, for those who are out of jobs know it and if their numbers are sufficiently large, in addition to being a social problem, they become a political menace, in the sense that they vote not with regard to the welfare of the country but solely for what they believe might be their private advantage. Thus, the political facade of the country deteriorates. Unemployment is a horrible social disease.

The American problem then is to find a price that will defend the American market from invasion or adopt a protective tariff or find a price that will keep our goods competitive in foreign markets. The first task in the handling of this problem is to keep the American dollar level. It has been supported by a 25 per cent gold reserve —the so-called Fort Knox depository. All sorts of book-keeping are done these days in an attempt to prove that the $20,000,000,000 in gold is that reserve. But how much of that deposit should be on the liability side of the ledger? All that is earmarked for other countries! The fact is that based on a 1940 dollar, the 1959 dollar is worth about 48 cents in wages and in purchasing power. Mobile American capital is leaving the United States in many different ways, either by investment in foreign businesses, by the purchase of foreign securities or by deposits in Swiss Dutch, Nassau and other foreign banks. All these become factors in the outpricing of the American commodity in world markets.

What is happening to our economy requires a statesmanly approach. It requires honesty of investigation and honesty of statement because the picture is not too pleasant in the sense that economically we are becoming isolated, more isolated than the American Firsters of pre-World War II days advocated. We have expended much of our wealth to avert isolation. What effect will economic isolation have upon our general status?

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Big changes have been made in the handling of U. S. "Point Four" technical assistance for underdeveloped countries since this program was launched 10 years ago.

A special citation is being presented to ex-President Harry S. Truman—its daddy—to hark the April 30 anniversary.

It began as a kind of Johnny Appleseed adventure. The idea was that Americans with know-how would travel through the backward areas, planting seeds of wisdom to show primitive people how to raise their living standards.

These first modern Johnny Appleseeds soon found they couldn't share or transfer their skills directly to illiterate people. A 180-degree turnabout in policy had to be developed. What was needed were American teachers of foreign teachers who in turn could train natives of their own countries to operate their own projects.

THE PROGRAMS had to be changed, too. Agricultural aid is still the biggest part of Point Four operations. But the original health - education - welfare concept has been extended to cover housing, community development, public administration, labor relations, industry mining and transport.

The approach now is to try to find what an undeveloped country needs most, then organize to supply it. All kinds of mistakes have been corrected by experience.

It was soon discovered that it was foolish to try to teach farmers how to use fertilizer if there were no plants in the country to make the fertilizer.

It was silly to double rice production if there were no roads to take the crops to market, no warehouses to store them in.

It didn't make sense to teach the use of modern wonder drugs if they couldn't be obtained locally.

Setting up small businesses to supply these needs was impossible because there were no native commercial banks to make small loans. This led to the snitching of Point Four appropriations for capital development funds.

CONGRESS RAISED the roof about that at first. But it ultimately led to establishment of the Development Loan Fund to set up credit systems for soft currency loans.

So today Point Four programs are operating in 58 countries. By and large they are successful. There has been trouble in only four countries. Saudi Arabia and Syria never signed agreements for this kind of assistance. Egypt and Burma has programs, broke them off, but are now resuming.

The 1950 budget for Point Four operations was 85 million dollars. For 1960 a budget of 211 million is now before Congress. U. S.-administered programs will take 156 million of this—three million for Europe, 21 million for Africa, 50 million for the Near East and South Asia, 37 million for the Far East and 45 million for Latin America. To this is added 25 million for nonregional aid and 30 million for projects administered through United Nations.

State Department's International Co-operation Administration, which now handles Point Four projects, had requests for another 30 million dollars worth of technical assistance that had to be turned down for next year.

IN SOME CASES proposals were not considered sound. In others the countries requesting aid couldn't finance their share of the costs, which varies by country and type of project from 2 to 98 per cent.

One of the big difficulties is finding enough competent technical advisers. Agricultural experts are plentiful. But industrial executives and public health doctors are hard to find at $12,000 top government salaries.

This year there were 6,800 U. S. experts employed overseas on Point Four projects. But nearly 10,000 foreign nationals were brought to the United States for training.

The expectation is that in the next 10 years of Point Four's life, aid to Africa will be stepped up about 40 per cent as that part of the world grows more important.

There is considerable pressure now to shift more technical assistance to the United Nations. The U. S. government has been willing to increase its U. N. contribution if other countries would kick in more. But so far they haven't.

Prevention Is Watchword in Dealing With Poison Danger

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

My file on accidental poisoning, particularly that of children, gets thicker year by year.

Among recent additions is a report of two boric acide poisonings in an infant, and of 13 accidental poisonings reported to the New York City Poison Control Center in youngsters from 18 months to 6½ years. The latter resulted from swallowing medication carried by the mother or grandmother in her pocketbook.

Another is a report indicating that medicine chest clean-ups twice a year may save 35 bathroom poison deaths in 1959 alone.

There are many sources of difficulty. For example, one study of children under five years of age in the United States found that petroleum products accounted for one-quarter of all accidental poisoning in this age group.

In another study reported from Vermont, 151 children were admitted to five hospitals during a 10-year period because of the accidental swallowing or inhalation of kerosene. Three of these children died. Most of them were found on the floor chocking, coughing, gagging or vomiting.

Once a child has been found poisoned with kerosene, the problem becomes an immediate one of hospitalization and expert medical care. How quickly this can be obtained may be literally a matter of life and death.

More important however, is to prevent a child from getting hold of such poisonous substances in the first place. Everyone should be aware of this danger and never, never leave kerosene in a place where it could be swallowed or inhaled by a curious child.

Many cases of poisoning occur each year from such substances as furniture polishes, weed killers, cleaning fluids, insect or rat poisons and the like.

Another important group of poisons are the cleaning fluids, most of which are poisonous when swallowed and some of which even when inhaled. Also, some of them are inflammable and therefore a possible source of burns.

The drugs which people commonly keep in the medicine cabinet cause trouble frequently. Among these are aspirin and its relative, oil of wintergreen. Of the first 500 poisoning cases reported to the Chicago Poison Control Center 84 were the result of aspirin.

All of us should take an inventory of potentially poisonous substances and make sure they are disposed of in a safe place, or put where they cannot possibly be reached by youngsters who are too young to know what they are doing.

Also important is the establishment of poison control centers in many communities. If you have one in your community, look it up, put down the telephone number and keep it posted along with the numbers of the fire and police departments.

West Shaping 3-Step Plan To Achieve German Unity

By DAVID LAWRENCE

PARIS—What a familiar paradox — fifty reporters unsuccessfully pressing an American government spokesman to tell them what the Western Allies plan to agree to at the forthcoming Geneva conference, while a French afternoon newspaper prints the details of the so-called "package plan" which is to be offered to the Soviets.

Forty years ago it was much the same. This correspondent then watched the American delegation keep faith on the secrecy rule while the British and French "briefed" their own newsmen at that time on important news developments at the Paris peace conference. It did not matter then, because the enemy was not to be present anyhow at the "summit" conference in Paris, and everything agreed upon by the Allies was to be submitted to the defeated adversary to be signed later on the dotted line.

But today the "enemy" is very much in evidence. The Communists, of course, have plenty of stooges in Paris nowadays, but they only have to read the French press to get vital information before the negotiations start.

Notwithstanding these handicaps, it is apparent that Secretary of State Herter is standing firmly on a broad plan that offers the Soviets a palatable program—if they are in a conciliatory mood—but one that does not alter the substance of things. Thus, the idea now is to present a three-step plan—described in some detail by the French press—with the ultimate purpose of establishing a unified Germany through free elections. When former Secretary Dulles recently abandoned temporarily the concept of free elections as a requisite to discussions with the Soviets, it did not mean that the United States was giving up the proposal altogether. It took a little while to reassure the West German government on this point. But now all is fully understood in Bonn.

The program now, in the first stage, is to issue a number of declarations of a "non-aggression" character, along with the establishment of two committees. One would be a permanent four-power committee to discuss European security, and the other would be an East-West German committee or "council" to discuss continuing contacts between the two rival German governments and to draft an electoral law. This "council" would not be created unless the Soviets accepted from the outset the proposal that within a stated period—probably five or six years—free elections would be held to unify Germany.

Control Zone Proposed

The second stage would provide a system of control of forces and armament in a "zone" as large as possible in Europe, preferably from the Atlantic to the Ural Mountains.

The third stage would be a reunification of Germany by free elections, which would be followed by a "free choice" by Germany as between an alliance with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and a position of "neutrality." The German choice would determine the kind of permanent security structure that would be established in Europe. Only in this stage would there be a limitation or a ceiling on armed forces and on armaments in general. Berlin would meanwhile be kept in its existing status until the third stage had been accomplished, when it would become the capital of a reunified Germany.

The American spokesman naturally was inhibited today from saying how much of the French newspaper article was accurate, but it is assumed generally here that it covers the substance of what was discussed by the Foreign Ministers.

The information that was officially divulged by the American delegation here was confined to the statement that very few differences appeared between the Western Foreign Ministers and that they were agreed upon a general approach to be made at the Geneva meeting on May 11. There is indeed a very pleasant feeling between the Western governments.

Even the stupid remarks on an American television program by Viscount Montgomery, who managed to insult the United States and its present leaders in a dozen ways, are not likely to spoil the friendly relations which exist between the governments of the United States and Great Britain. Maybe the eccentric Britisher, who now is trying to make headlines by his talks with Khrushchev in Moscow will realize the big blunder he has made when he reads the scathing denunciation of his television interview by all sections of the British press. But it is precisely the belief, engendered by such things as the Montgomery episode, that the Western Allies are not united or have no confidence in each other which encourages the Kremlin to think it can disregard the Allied proposals in the coming negotiations.

Secrecy Rule Urged

Moscow would, of course, like to have in advance the details of the Western proposals, and it is too bad that the Allies do not really observe a secrecy rule before a big conference is held. What the Western diplomats and attaches ought to do perhaps is to consult John L. Lewis, Walter Reuther and David McDonald about the techniques of hard-boiled negotiations. None of them ever tells in advance what his price happens to be and how long he will maintain a strike or threat of a strike. The Western governments need to get more hard-boiled about keeping their own counsels prior to a negotiation. The Communists naturally want the Western press to tell them each day what has happened, so that it will be easier to demolish the Allied arguments at the Geneva conference.

CHALLENGE OF OUR HERITAGE

We who live in America and the Western world have a great many things in our heritage to be thankful for.

There are wonderful things to read, from beautifully told stories to perceptive histories to the speculations of the philosophers. There is music to stir the heart and delight the ear, art of many sorts to please the eye and touch that same heart.

Some of these high marks of our cultural accomplishment are comparatively new. Others have come down to us from a past that ranges from a few decades ago to distant centuries.

In every age, some of the new things are not recognized for what they are. Experiment with new forms and ideas may actually be leading to new levels of greatness, yet people used to conventional ways of writing or composing find themselves resisting the change.

In every time, too, there are many who look only for the new. They imagine that good books and good music and the like are the products of fashion, like women's hats, and that somehow last year's or last century's writings are no longer worth looking at.

Those who feel this way are of course themselves the losers. The great things they turn their backs upon will endure longer than the individuals who spurn them.

One thoughtful fellow put it like this:

"The great works of our civilization are not on trial before each new generation. They have stood the test of time. They have already proved themselves with millions of human beings who examined them and found them rich in reward.

"It is we, looking at these things today, who are on trial.

"The question is whether we can see in them their true substance, glean from them the reward they hold, appreciate the comment they make upon life. If we cannot, it is we, not the great works, that have failed."

A magnificent heritage is ours for the taking. No one of us ought to ignore it. To do so is to travel on the thin surface of life, never probing its depths. It is to move in the clamorous present, detached from the solid anchor of the past. It is to reduce living close to mere existing.

With all its perils, the world Western men have built is worth living in. But to live in it, to the hilt, we must meet its challenge, and not expect it to met ours.

Red China's version of the assault on Tibet would indicate that the greatest "leap forward" has been in the field of prevarication.

TOP OF THE LADDER

Human beings, being human, think of themselves as standing alone at the peak of the evolutionary ladder. They never weary of piling up evidence in support of the notion that man is, though a little lower than the angels, several rungs above the lesser animals.

This diligence in bolstering the idea of human superiority may be accounted for by a recurrent hunch that the superiority is more fancied than real. We find ourselves wondering about this from time to time—and never more than in spring.

In this season of renewal, what are the lords of creation doing? Why, most of them are doing pretty much what they normally do—working to acquire more things, fretting about bills and taxes, hewing and building and striving and scheming.

What, meanwhile, are the lesser animals doing? They are flitting about in the fragrant, rain-washed air; they are lazing in the warm sunshine; they are keeping themselves in tune with the universe, instead of ignoring the music of the spheres as the mighty race is wont to do. Is it any wonder that we wonder who, after all, is wiser, man or the creatures over whom he has dominion?

ECONOMIC STATESMANSHIP

This much is visible to the naked eye: Great Britain and West Germany are fully recovered economically and are strong in world markets; the Common Market is developing among six nations of Europe; the Free Market, including Commonwealth countries, is making some progress; Soviet Russia is becoming a mercantile country using capitalistic economics for socialist ends.

What is happening to the United States in the economic field? It is becoming increasingly clear that the United States has outpriced itself in all commodities. The theory of American industrial output, particularly in the consumer goods market, has been that the United States, by mass production, could pay higher wages, keep prices down and maintain a high standard of living. When that formula ceases to be correct, the economy of the United States is in difficulty. This is most apparent in the world market for automobiles into which good cars, well engineered but lower priced, are beginning to hurt the American-made car even in the American market. All sorts of explanations are given but the most correct is undoubtedly that the American car has outpriced itself.

When does a commodity outprice itself? Obviously when buyers' resistance asserts itself. It is as simple as that. The consumer determines the value of any commodity. Circumstances often assist the consumer. For instance women turned from silk stockings to the inferior rayon stocking during World War II. They could not get silk, but nylon also was not available. When the war was over, women did not return to silk but stayed with nylon. The standard stocking in the Western world is nylon, which is a durable commodity fairly priced.

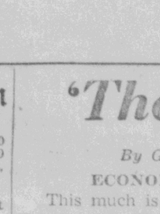

But anybody can make nylon and it will all be of approximately the same quality. The question then becomes price. In the age of automatic machinery, the two principal factors in price are wages and taxes. Wages relate to the cost of living. In an inflationary economy wages are absurdly high and send costs rocketing.

Mass production by automatic machinery is adopted to reduce the labor cost, but it is unsound socially for a country to have a large unemployed population dependent upon state charity for support. This not only increases the tax burden of those who pay taxes but it develops discontent, anxiety, political demagoguery and abnormal conditions in the home. While the slogan, machines make jobs, may be justified by long term economic history, it does not serve immediately, for those who are out of jobs know it and if their numbers are sufficiently large, in addition to being a social problem, they become a political menace, in the sense that they vote not with regard to the welfare of the country but solely for what they believe might be their private advantage. Thus, the political facade of the country deteriorates. Unemployment is a horrible social disease.

The American problem then is to find a price that will defend the American market from invasion or adopt a protective tariff or find a price that will keep our goods competitive in foreign markets. The first task in the handling of this problem is to keep the American dollar level. It has been supported by a 25 per cent gold reserve —the so-called Fort Knox depository. All sorts of book-keeping are done these days in an attempt to prove that the $20,000,000,000 in gold is that reserve. But how much of that deposit should be on the liability side of the ledger? All that is earmarked for other countries! The fact is that based on a 1940 dollar, the 1959 dollar is worth about 48 cents in wages and in purchasing power. Mobile American capital is leaving the United States in many different ways, either by investment in foreign businesses, by the purchase of foreign securities or by deposits in Swiss Dutch, Nassau and other foreign banks. All these become factors in the outpricing of the American commodity in world markets.

What is happening to our economy requires a statesmanly approach. It requires honesty of investigation and honesty of statement because the picture is not too pleasant in the sense that economically we are becoming isolated, more isolated than the American Firsters of pre-World War II days advocated. We have expended much of our wealth to avert isolation. What effect will economic isolation have upon our general status?

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Big changes have been made in the handling of U. S. "Point Four" technical assistance for underdeveloped countries since this program was launched 10 years ago.

A special citation is being presented to ex-President Harry S. Truman—its daddy—to hark the April 30 anniversary.

It began as a kind of Johnny Appleseed adventure. The idea was that Americans with know-how would travel through the backward areas, planting seeds of wisdom to show primitive people how to raise their living standards.

These first modern Johnny Appleseeds soon found they couldn't share or transfer their skills directly to illiterate people. A 180-degree turnabout in policy had to be developed. What was needed were American teachers of foreign teachers who in turn could train natives of their own countries to operate their own projects.

THE PROGRAMS had to be changed, too. Agricultural aid is still the biggest part of Point Four operations. But the original health - education - welfare concept has been extended to cover housing, community development, public administration, labor relations, industry mining and transport.

The approach now is to try to find what an undeveloped country needs most, then organize to supply it. All kinds of mistakes have been corrected by experience.

It was soon discovered that it was foolish to try to teach farmers how to use fertilizer if there were no plants in the country to make the fertilizer.

It was silly to double rice production if there were no roads to take the crops to market, no warehouses to store them in.

It didn't make sense to teach the use of modern wonder drugs if they couldn't be obtained locally.

Setting up small businesses to supply these needs was impossible because there were no native commercial banks to make small loans. This led to the snitching of Point Four appropriations for capital development funds.

CONGRESS RAISED the roof about that at first. But it ultimately led to establishment of the Development Loan Fund to set up credit systems for soft currency loans.

So today Point Four programs are operating in 58 countries. By and large they are successful. There has been trouble in only four countries. Saudi Arabia and Syria never signed agreements for this kind of assistance. Egypt and Burma has programs, broke them off, but are now resuming.

The 1960 budget for Point Four operations was 85 million dollars. For 1960 a budget of 211 million is now before Congress. U. S.-administered programs will take 156 million of this—three million for Europe, 21 million for Africa, 50 million for the Near East and South Asia, 37 million for the Far East and 45 million for Latin America. To this is added 25 million for nonregional aid and 30 million for projects administered through United Nations.

State Department's International Co-operation Administration, which now handles Point Four projects, had requests for another 30 million dollars worth of technical assistance that had to be turned down for next year.

IN SOME CASES proposals were not considered sound. In others the countries requesting aid couldn't finance their share of the costs, which varies by country and type of project from 2 to 98 per cent.

One of the big difficulties is finding enough competent technical advisers. Agricultural experts are plentiful. But industrial executives and public health doctors are hard to find at $12,000 top government salaries.

This year there were 6,800 U. S. experts employed overseas on Point Four projects. But nearly 10,000 foreign nationals were brought to the United States for training.

The expectation is that in the next 10 years of Point Four's life, aid to Africa will be stepped up about 40 per cent as that part of the world grows more important.

There is considerable pressure now to shift more technical assistance to the United Nations. The U. S. government has been willing to increase its U. N. contribution if other countries would kick in more. But so far they haven't.

Only in this stage would there be a limitation or a ceiling on armed forces and on armaments in general. Berlin would meanwhile be kept in its existing status until the third stage had been accomplished, when it would become the capital of a reunified Germany.

The American spokesman naturally was inhibited today from saying how much of the French newspaper article was accurate, but it is assumed generally here that it covers the substance of what was discussed by the Foreign Ministers.

The information that was officially divulged by the American delegation here was confined to the statement that very few differences appeared between the Western Foreign Ministers and that they were agreed upon a general approach to be made at the Geneva meeting on May 11. There is indeed a very pleasant feeling between the Western governments.

Even the stupid remarks on an American television program by Viscount Montgomery, who managed to insult the United States and its present leaders in a dozen ways, are not likely to spoil the friendly relations which exist between the governments of the United States and Great Britain. Maybe the eccentric Britisher, who now is trying to make headlines by his talks with Khrushchev in Moscow will realize the big blunder he has made when he reads the scathing denunciation of his television interview by all sections of the British press. But it is precisely the belief, engendered by such things as the Montgomery episode, that the Western Allies are not united or have no confidence in each other which encourages the Kremlin to think it can disregard the Allied proposals in the coming negotiations.

Secrecy Rule Urged

Moscow would, of course, like to have in advance the details of the Western proposals, and it is too bad that the Allies do not really observe a secrecy rule before a big conference is held. What the Western diplomats and attaches ought to do perhaps is to consult John L. Lewis, Walter Reuther and David McDonald about the techniques of hard-boiled negotiations. None of them ever tells in advance what his price happens to be and how long he will maintain a strike or threat of a strike. The Western governments need to get more hard-boiled about keeping their own counsels prior to a negotiation. The Communists naturally want the Western press to tell them each day what has happened, so that it will be easier to demolish the Allied arguments at the Geneva conference.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Now that the 1959 Hudson Champlain contest is on it is interesting to look back to the 1909 Hudson-Fulton school essay contest. It seems, students of each high school and academy in the state were given a chance to win bronze medals for an essay on "Discovery of the Hudson" or "Application of Steam to Navigation." I find the names of E. L. Wood and M. C. Keefe of the Kingston Academy, and C. Harry Peters of Ulster Academy are mentioned as receiving these awards in 1909.

We talk about shad fishing today. Some 150 years ago a book describes salmon fishing around here, with some weighing 25 pounds. "At times they passed up the stream in schools, their bright fins flashing on the water like silver, the poor pioneers having little else to eat. Salmon was so plentiful that fishermen used to stand on a rude log bridge and spear them with a pitch fork. A Mrs. Loche, while washing clothes one day by a brook caught one in her apron weighing some 13 pounds." Perhaps these are just fish stories but anyway it was in print.

This is taken from an old "Kingston Daily Express" of June 30, 1891. It seems the owners of the steamer, James W. Baldwin had treated their vessel to a new steam whistle. While the steamer was passing the Truck Planing Mill late at night, the men on the boat noticed the mill was on fire. They started to blow their new whistle like a fire alarm, so that the residents of Ponckhockie all rushed out to see who was making all the noise and why."

Various items from the old "Daily Express" of 1891. "Moonlight Excursion to Poughkeepsie on steamer, John McCausland. fare only 35 cents...Commencement exercises were held at the Port Ewen Academy this afternoon (June 25, 1891). That portion of Ponckhockie northeast of Abruyn Street is building up fast. During the past year, a number of handsome houses have been erected in the locality and several more will be built soon. It is a pleasant place to live and commands a fine view of the Hudson River."

Some more items from same paper: "Among the new institutions of the city are the uniformed police, now that this city has uniformed police force there is much speculation as to who will be appointed Police Surgeon ...The best Hudson River strawberries now sell in New Yok for 16 to 18 cents per quart."

Here is one about a pet of a very famous man of our Hudson River history. "Captain A. E. Anderson of the Mary Powell has a dog of which he is very fond and the more so because it was a great pet of his little son now no more. This dog considers it his duty to be on the dock every night when the Powell arrives and when it departs. He knows the peculiar sound of the Mary Powell whistle and races to the dock to be the first to welcome his captain home."

The Mary Powell played a great part in our lives in the early 1900's. We all knew the whistle as it came around the Light House. It meant curfew for all us youngsters. Folks set their watches and clocks by Capt. Anderson's whistle.

Kremlin Takeover in Iraq Would Amount to Colossal Disaster for West Allies

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was a pleasant, warm, sunny day outside as President Eisenhower answered questions at his news conference Wednesday. The question about Iraq was just one among others.

And the President's answer didn't take long. Yet the question and answer threw across the room a somber shadow hardly noticeable as the reporters pressed ahead with other questions of their own.

For in Iraq — and what may happen to it and the Middle East later — lies the possibility of one of America's greatest cold war defeats.

Two Possible Delays

Just the day before, Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee: Communists are in almost complete control in Iraq.

If they are, then it would seem in a short time they should be able to take over. If they delay, it will be because of these two things:

1. That Moscow, for reasons of its own, will order the takeover delayed.

2. That the United States and its allies can find some way and some policy to prevent it. Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the committee, said the situation is not hopeless if such a policy can be found.

None in Sight Now

But none is in sight now.

Two years ago Iraq was linked with the United States through its defense agreement with Iran, Turkey, Pakistan. That was when Eisenhower asked, and Congress approved, a declaration that the President could use U.S. troops to help any Mideast country against armed aggression from any country controlled by international communism.

One of the weak spots in that policy has always been this: What can the United States do if native Communists take over a country from within, and without obvious outside aggression?

Last summer when the Iraqi army overthrew the government — which had linked itself with this country — by killing the King, Eisenhower sent American troops into neighboring Lebanon.

Troops Now Unlikely

Lebanon itself at the time was torn by civil war. Eisenhower said he acted then on the request of the Lebanese President, Camille Chamoun, to guard American lives and protect Lebanon against indirect aggression.

But could Eisenhower use these powers to send American troops into Iraq to prevent a Communist takeover from within? It seems unlikely.

For one thing, Iraq's Premier Abdel Karim Kassem, who led the revolution against the King, has surrounded himself with Communists. If they took over, they'd be his boys, not outsiders.

And even if he tried to disown them at the last moment, he might be eliminated too fast to do what the Lebanese President did: ask for American help.

First Firm Foothold

If the Reds take over in Iraq, which is completely shut off from border contact with the Soviet Union by its neighbors, the Soviets would have their first firm foothold in the Middle East. It would be a colossal disaster for the West.

At his news conference the President was asked if there was any way to save Iraq from slipping behind the Iron Curtain. There was nothing concrete in the President's answer.

Most of what he said can be summed up in his last paragraph: "If there is anything we can do to promote better relations with this country without making other enemies in the same region, why that is a good policy to follow. And we do follow it."

Slenderella Asks To Settle Debts

NEW YORK (AP) —Slenderella Systems Inc., operator of more than 100 beauty salons throughout the country, filed a petition in federal court Wednesday to arrange for settlement of its debts with creditors.

The petition was filed voluntarily under the Federal Bankruptcy Act to permit the corporation to continue its operations and pay its creditors over a period of time.

Slenderella listed assets of $423,214 and liabilities of $315,492. Among the listed creditors were the district director of internal revenue in Hartford, Conn., $250,330 in taxes, and the New York State Tax Commission, $2,086.

Last April 21, the Brooklyn district director of internal revenue filed income tax liens totaling $384,797 against seven Slenderella salons in Kings, Queens, Nassau and Suffolk counties for taxes due from 1953 through 1957.

Kremlin Takeover in Iraq Would Amount to Colossal Disaster for West Allies

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was a pleasant, warm, sunny day outside as President Eisenhower answered questions at his news conference Wednesday. The question about Iraq was just one among others.

And the President's answer didn't take long. Yet the question and answer threw across the room a somber shadow hardly noticeable as the reporters pressed ahead with other questions of their own.

For in Iraq — and what may happen to it and the Middle East later — lies the possibility of one of America's greatest cold war defeats.

Two Possible Delays

Just the day before, Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee: Communists are in almost complete control in Iraq.

If they are, then it would seem in a short time they should be able to take over. If they delay, it will be because of these two things:

1. That Moscow, for reasons of its own, will order the takeover delayed.

2. That the United States and its allies can find some way and some policy to prevent it. Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the committee, said the situation is not hopeless if such a policy can be found.

None in Sight Now

But none is in sight now.

Two years ago Iraq was linked with the United States through its defense agreement with Iran, Turkey, Pakistan. That was when Eisenhower asked, and Congress approved, a declaration that the President could use U.S. troops to help any Mideast country against armed aggression from any country controlled by international communism.

One of the weak spots in that policy has always been this: What can the United States do if native Communists take over a country from within, and without obvious outside aggression?

Last summer when the Iraqi army overthrew the government — which had linked itself with this country — by killing the King, Eisenhower sent American troops into neighboring Lebanon.

Troops Now Unlikely

Lebanon itself at the time was torn by civil war. Eisenhower said he acted then on the request of the Lebanese President, Camille Chamoun, to guard American lives and protect Lebanon against indirect aggression.

But could Eisenhower use these powers to send American troops into Iraq to prevent a Communist takeover from within? It seems unlikely.

For one thing, Iraq's Premier Abdel Karim Kassem, who led the revolution against the King, has surrounded himself with Communists. If they took over, they'd be his boys, not outsiders.

And even if he tried to disown them at the last moment, he might be eliminated too fast to do what the Lebanese President did: ask for American help.

First Firm Foothold

If the Reds take over in Iraq, which is completely shut off from border contact with the Soviet Union by its neighbors, the Soviets would have their first firm foothold in the Middle East. It would be a colossal disaster for the West.

At his news conference the President was asked if there was any way to save Iraq from slipping behind the Iron Curtain. There was nothing concrete in the President's answer.

Most of what he said can be summed up in his last paragraph: "If there is anything we can do to promote better relations with this country without making other enemies in the same region, why that is a good policy to follow. And we do follow it."

Slenderella Asks To Settle Debts

NEW YORK (AP) —Slenderella Systems Inc., operator of more than 100 beauty salons throughout the country, filed a petition in federal court Wednesday to arrange for settlement of its debts with creditors.

The petition was filed voluntarily under the Federal Bankruptcy Act to permit the corporation to continue its operations and pay its creditors over a period of time.

Slenderella listed assets of $423,214 and liabilities of $315,492. Among the listed creditors were the district director of internal revenue in Hartford, Conn., $250,330 in taxes, and the New York State Tax Commission, $2,086.

Last April 21, the Brooklyn district director of internal revenue filed income tax liens totaling $384,797 against seven Slenderella salons in Kings, Queens, Nassau and Suffolk counties for taxes due from 1953 through 1957.

Girl Scout News

Joan Dunbar and Kathryn Lacey, Mariner Senior Girl Scouts of Troop 90, Kingston High School, were elected to represent Ulster County at the 15th annual Senior Girl Scout Conference of the Greater New York Senior Girl Scout Council Saturday at the Joan of Arc Junior High School, 154 West 93rd Street, New York City.

Girls were chosen at a recent meeting of the Ulster County Senior Girl Scout Planning Board held in the Civic Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston. Mrs. Donovan Buehring, county Senior Girl Scout adviser will accompany the delegates.

The conference will get underway shortly after noon Saturday with a formal registration of several hundreds of Senior Girl Scouts of the Metropolitan area and their guests. The theme of the conference will be "Behold the World So Wide," centering around International Friendship.

Following the opening assembly at 1:30 p. m. in the auditorium, Senior Girl Scouts and Adult Scouts attending will participate in five concurrent discussion groups — The New Woman, A New Look at the Laws, Student Exchange Program, Freedom of Expressions In The Arts, and an adult discussion group. An informal box supper hour and community singing is planned. The evening's program will feature the conference theme, concluding at 9 p. m.

During the business session of the Planning Board Margaret Patterson, Mariner Scout of Troop 4, president, Kingston presented Carol Gillman, Mariner Scout of Troop 4, St. James Church, Kingston, recently elected by her troop as their official representative on the county-wide Planning Board to the group.

Miss Gillman and Frances Lynch, Senior Girl Scout, Troop 22, of Wallkill, gave a resume of the activities of the Senior Patrol now in training for the National Senior Roundup to be held on the 1,200 acres of ranch land owned by Dr. Kenneth Cogswell and R. E. Johnson, of Colorado Springs, Colo., during the early part of July. The girls work in a patrol of eight, with a similar patrol of eight alternates-in-training. They must be camping experts, able to swap tales of the past and current development of their own cities and towns, to care for themselves outdoors at an altitude more than a mile above sea-level, and ready to enter new areas of science and education. Tentative plans were formulated by the board for the participation of all county troops in a "Farewell" luncheon in Poughkeepsie on the day of departure for Ulster's Roundup delegates.

Mrs. Gertrude West, senior leader, of Highland and Troop 48 were appointed in charge of arrangements for the affair. Kathryn Lacey, and members of Troop 90, Kingston High School, will have charge of the program for the day.

Cooking With Sunlight

University of Wisconsin anthropologists are now cooperating with Indians in Arizona to test solar cookers. They want to find out if sunlight, only, is needed for cooking.

Kripplebush

KRIPPLEBUSH — Last Monday 19 members of the WSCS and seven guests went to Cold Spring for the April meeting and a visit with the Rev. and Mrs. George I. Goodwin. Mrs. Goodwin installed Mrs. Lawrence Miller as treasurer of the group. After a tour of the parsonage and the Cold Spring Methodist Church, luncheon was served in the church hall. The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Uriah Conner.

Several from here attended the program of colored slides and exhibit of Indian arts presented by the Rev. and Mrs. Lester Finley Friday at the Stone Ridge Methodist Church.

Sunday is Conference Sunday at St. James Methodist Church, Kingston. There will be no church services or Sunday school at the Kripplebush church. All may attend the 11 a. m. service at St. James Church.

In observance of national family life week, there will be a fellowship supper Thursday 6 p. m. in the lodge hall. Families attending will bring a covered dish. Rolls and beverage will be furnished.

Just Testing

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — University of Virginia students will walk the world's first continuously reinforced sidewalk. The 303-foot long slab of reinforced concrete was laid as a joint operation by the University and the Virginia Council of Highway Investigation and Research. Concealed in the pavement are hundreds of feet of tiny wires. Every quiver or movement of the big slab will be recorded and results analyzed. It is a pilot study for an interstate highway.

Italian-American Vets Post Seeks Members in Area

A county-wide membership drive will be conducted early in May by a newly organized local post of the Italian-American War Veterans of the United States.

Membership is open to veterans of World Wars I and II, and veterans of the Korean conflict.

A local committee is being formed to arrange a dinner meeting at which Past National Commander John Nave, of Syracuse, will be a guest. Other guests will include Samuel Vasile, commander of the Department of New York and his staff.

Further information may be obtained from George Nichols, Bloomington.

Popular Sport

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — University of Virginia students will walk the world's first continuously reinforced sidewalk. The 303-foot long slab of reinforced concrete was laid as a joint operation by the University and the Virginia Council of Highway Investigation and Research. Concealed in the pavement are hundreds of feet of tiny wires. Every quiver or movement of the big slab will be recorded and results analyzed. It is a pilot study for an interstate highway.

U.S. Will Hold Up Sending of Planes to Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has tentatively decided to send no more high-altitude planes to West Berlin — for the next few weeks.

Some officials were urging today a review of this decision in the light of a new Soviet challenge. The Soviet Union disputed again Wednesday the American view that such flights are perfectly legal.

Most authorities appeared ready however, to stand by the temporary ban to avoid further controversy in advance of meetings with the Soviet Union.

The temporary halt was decided upon last week jointly by the State and Defense departments in a confidential review.

They took the decision mainly because of Britain's misgivings that further flights above the 10,000-foot level might look as if the West were deliberately trying to provoke an incident which might torpedo East-West talks on the future of Berlin and Germany.

Cases Held in County Court Here on Wednesday, Today

Charles K. Schoonmaker, 27, of 21 President's Place, Kingston, was sentenced to a term of from 2½ to 10 years in Clinton State Prison Wednesday by County Judge Louis G. Bruhn. Schoonmaker had entered a plea of guilty under an indictment charging a sex offense alleged to have been committed on April 23, 1958 in the city. Charles Saccoman appeared for defendant.

Chester Roy Ennist, 48, Ulster Heights carpenter, entered a plea of guilty to reckless driving under an indictment which had charged him with criminal negligence in the operation of a motor vehicle. Ennist was the operator of a vehicle which on August 17, 1957, struck and fatally injured two pedestrians on Route 209 about two miles south of Ellenville.

Ennist was given 30 days in jail and fined $100. State Police from the Ellenville station first arrested Ennist on a charge of driving while intoxicated but that charge was later changed to criminal negligence. Orest Ptasiuk, 17, was killed and a companion, Eugene Shuhan, 15, died next day. Both on vacation from New York City were making a tour of Ukranian Youth camps in the area and were en route to Spring Glen at the time they were struck. Shuhan died at Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, the day after the accident. Both youths were unidentified after the accident and it was not until the day after the happening that Corporal N. G. Leacakes of the Ellenville state police station stopped some passing bicyclists who were able to identify the youths.

Ennist was operating a vehicle owned by Mary Roventine of Ulster Heights at the time of the accident in a northerly direction. The youths were traveling south toward Spring Glen.

John J. Stotomayor, 43, of 65-30 223rd Place, Bayside, L. I., was given a year suspended jail sentence in County Court today on a plea of guilty to petit larceny. Indicted on charges of grand larceny, first degree, and grand larceny, second degree, Stotomayor entered his plea under the first count of the indictment. He was placed on probation. Joseph Saccoman, who appeared for defendant, asked for leniency and told the court that the defendant, a contractor, had not willfully violated the law regulating contractors. District Attorney Raymond J. Mino told the court the offense grew out of a commercial transaction, one to build a house. Restitition will be made. In answer to the usual questions the defendant admitted having had prior conflicts with the law. On motion of Attorney Saccoman the remaining counts of the indictment were dismissed.

James Cassell, 38, Asbury Park, N. J., cook, was sentenced to a term of from 5 to 10 years at Clinton Prison on a plea of guilty to the second count in an indictment charging a sex crime. Kirtland F. Snyder appeared for Cassell who was sentenced as a second offender. In answer to the usual questions Cassell admitted he had been convicted of grand larceny in Ulster. The act under which Cassell was sentenced occurred June 8, 1958.

An indictment returned May 25, 1938 charging Cassell with burglary and unlawful entry was dismissed as were the first, third and fourth count of the present indictment. At the time of the prior conviction in Ulster County Cassell was sentenced to Elmira Reformatory.

Woman Editor Buys County Weekly Paper

The Ulster County Townsman, weekly newspaper having its headquarters in Woodstock and covering northern Ulster County, has been purchased by its editor, Marian Callaghan Umhey, of Mt. Tremper, from the Stamford Publishing Corporation of Stamford, N. Y.

Mrs. Umhey announced today that she plans to enter into partnership with another of the paper's staff members, Baird "KiKi" Godwin of Woodstock.

Mrs. Umhey has been editor of the Townsman for the past 3½ years and Mrs. Godwin has been advertising manager for the same length of time. The Townsman is the official newspaper of the townships of Woodstock and Shandaken and one of the official newspapers of the Onteora Central School District.

Prior to their respective marriages, Marian was on the staff of the Brooklyn Eagle and "KiKi" was with the United Features Syndicate. The former is the wife of a Mt. Tremper native, contractor Howard C. Umhey, and is the mother of three children. She is also a councilman of the town of Shandaken, the first woman ever elected to the town board. KiKi is the wife of Paul Godwin of Woodstock and the mother of a nine-year-old daughter.

No Injuries Reported

A mishap involving a school bus and a sedan on Abeel Street near the Forst plant Wednesday afternoon resulted in no injuries, a police report noted. The bus, owned by the Arrow Bus Line, New Paltz and driven by Robert Alton Phelps, of Box 209, Route 2, Kingston, was headed west and the car, owned and operated by Richard P. McCutcheon was going east. Officers Robert Bonesteel and John Kennedy investigated.

Front Merchants Discuss Ways to Boost Business

A number of North Front Street merchants met in the Salvation Army building Wednesday night to discuss ways to improve business on that street and in the uptown section generally.

Several merchants from other streets in the uptown area were also present.

Those present were particularly concerned because of "a slowdown in business" in the uptown area, reflected in the fact that there are now nine empty stores on North Front Street. A number of ideas were presented.

Foremost in the thinking of the group appeared to be the parking situation. It was the consensus of opinion that much could be done to improve the parking lot below North Front Street and that a stairway might be built from the lot up to the street level. This idea will be presented at the next meeting of the Uptown Businessmen's Association.

Some indicated that high assessments and large rents made it difficult to maintain stores along the street. Better advertising, better lighting systems and improved store fronts were also suggested.

Samuel Barnett of Barnett Jewelry Store, 67 North Front Street, presided.

Colgate President Against Oath for Students on Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Should students be required to take a loyalty oath to get financial aid under the National Education Act?

President Everett Case of Colgate University says "no." He made a strong plea Wednesday for repeal of the requirement in an appearance before the Senate Education Committee.

The committee is considering a bill by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and Sen. Joseph Clark (D-Pa) to strike the oath provision from the law.

Case said he spoke both as an individual and as chairman of a committee of the American Council on Education which had carefully studied the matter.

He termed the oath an "invasion of the privacy of an individual's belief" and pointed out that it was required only of students who were in need of financial aid provided by the act.

Allies Open . . .

thing to offer the Soviets that Moscow might accept — possibly with regard to Berlin.

Counter Soviet Demands

The Western terms — tying together arrangements for Berlin, German reunification and European security — run directly counter to Soviet demands which were restated Wednesday without modification after a rival conference of Communist-bloc statesmen in Warsaw.

In prospect was another head-on East-West collision at the Geneva foreign ministers' conference opening May 11.

The Western powers are determined to stand firm against the Soviet demand that they end their occupation of Berlin and make that part of the city a demilitarized, international area.

But British Prime Minister Macmillan's government fears that insistence on the whole Western plan or no change in the present setup may (1) force the Allies into an ignominious retreat from their tough bargaining stance, or (2) prod Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev into action around Berlin that will explode a nuclear war.

In meetings outside the conference room, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd pleaded with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville for the divorce of Berlin proposals from plans for any over-all German or European settlement.

Bus Talks Still Stalemated; May Resume in Week

Negotiations between Adirondack Trailways and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen were still stalemated today with a threatened strike in the offing.

No date has been set for some 60 bus drivers to walk off the job but a spokesman said it would probably be early in May.

A spokesman for Adirondack Trailways said today that a mediator had called to propose a meeting for next week. It is under consideration.

Adirondack Trailways operates between New York City and northern New York points, including Kingston.

Approximately 85 per cent of the drivers and garagemen voted last Thursday evening for a walkout.

A union spokesman said the company's final offer, after four weeks of negotiations, was $9 per hundred miles for route drivers.

The bus line's long-distance drivers are now paid $8.35 per 100 miles. They seek $10.30.

Methodists Vote

is not enough to know Jesus in history to become mature Christians, he told the conference, and added, "We need to know the Christ so intimately that he becomes a daily companion."

Dr. Warren pointed out that age is no criterion for maturity since many persons "grow old disgracefully." He urged all Christians to examine their inner lives honestly and realize that one mission of the church is to help man "become inwardly and outwardly better."

137-Acre Site Proposed

The conference this afternoon will consider a proposal to purchase 137 acres of property 12 miles south of Kingston near High Falls for use as a training center and summer camp. The site, known as Camp Dreamland, contains 10 furnished buildings and may be purchased by the conference for $60,000. It is owned by Robert Kristeller, Carmel, school principal, who has operated it as a private camp.

The Rev. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman was elected a delegate to the 1960 General Conference in Denver, Colo., on the first ballot. Two other ministers and three laymen will be elected.

Card of Thanks

The family of the late Leon H. Smith wish to thank all whose many acts of kindness were of great comfort and assistance during his long illness and at the time of his death.

Hope Wanes For Missing Upstate Girl

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Squads of police scoured Buffalo's east side again today for Sharon Crossman, a frail 3-year-old who disappeared from her bed two days ago.

"There is little hope that Sharon will be found alive unless someone is taking care of her," said Police Capt. James J. Lewis, heading the search.

Disappeared Tuesday

Sharon, who spent five weeks in a hospital after a pancreas operation last fall, disappeared some time Tuesday after her mother, Mrs. Robert Crossman, tucked her in for a nap.

"With all this rain and her recent illness, it's difficult to see how she could survive the last two nights," said Lewis, "as far as we know she hasn't had anything to eat since 6 or 7 Tuesday morning."

Detective Chief John J. Whalen suggested the child could have been kidnapped, either from her room or after wandering away from the house.

Checks Inns, Stations

Erie County Sheriff Robert Glasser, working on that possibility, ordered a systematic check of suburban restaurants and service stations. He said a kidnapper might have stopped at some public place on the way out of the area.

Sharon apparently disappeared some time between 11 a. m. and 6 p. m. Tuesday. Her parents could not say how she was dressed.

Mrs. Crossman, 27, was too distraught to undergo long questioning, police said. Her husband, 28, is a factory worker. They have two other children, both boys.

She told police she had put Sharon to bed for a nap Tuesday morning and gone to the basement to do the laundry. She said she then took a nap in another bedroom. She discovered that Sharon was missing about 6 p. m.

Block from Tracks

The Crossman home is a block from railroad tracks. City police asked the railroads to check their freight cars.

Sharon was described as small for her age, with blue eyes and blonde hair cut in bangs. She has a bruise on her nose and a cut under her chin, the result of falls.

U.S. Will Hold Up Sending of Planes to Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has tentatively decided to send no more high-altitude planes to West Berlin — for the next few weeks.

Some officials were urging today a review of this decision in the light of a new Soviet challenge. The Soviet Union disputed again Wednesday the American view that such flights are perfectly legal.

Most authorities appeared ready however, to stand by the temporary ban to avoid further controversy in advance of meetings with the Soviet Union.

The temporary halt was decided upon last week jointly by the State and Defense departments in a confidential review.

They took the decision mainly because of Britain's misgivings that further flights above the 10,000-foot level might look as if the West were deliberately trying to provoke an incident which might torpedo East-West talks on the future of Berlin and Germany.

Cases Held in County Court Here on Wednesday, Today

Charles K. Schoonmaker, 27, of 21 President's Place, Kingston, was sentenced to a term of from 2½ to 10 years in Clinton State Prison Wednesday by County Judge Louis G. Bruhn. Schoonmaker had entered a plea of guilty under an indictment charging a sex offense alleged to have been committed on April 23, 1958 in the city. Charles Saccoman appeared for defendant.

Chester Roy Ennist, 48, Ulster Heights carpenter, entered a plea of guilty to reckless driving under an indictment which had charged him with criminal negligence in the operation of a motor vehicle. Ennist was the operator of a vehicle which on August 17, 1957, struck and fatally injured two pedestrians on Route 209 about two miles south of Ellenville.

Ennist was given 30 days in jail and fined $100. State Police from the Ellenville station first arrested Ennist on a charge of driving while intoxicated but that charge was later changed to criminal negligence. Orest Ptasiuk, 17, was killed and a companion, Eugene Shuhan, 15, died next day. Both on vacation from New York City were making a tour of Ukranian Youth camps in the area and were en route to Spring Glen at the time they were struck. Shuhan died at Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, the day after the accident. Both youths were unidentified after the accident and it was not until the day after the happening that Corporal N. G. Leacakes of the Ellenville state police station stopped some passing bicyclists who were able to identify the youths.

Ennist was operating a vehicle owned by Mary Roventine of Ulster Heights at the time of the accident in a northerly direction. The youths were traveling south toward Spring Glen.

John J. Stotomayor, 43, of 65-30 223rd Place, Bayside, L. I., was given a year suspended jail sentence in County Court today on a plea of guilty to petit larceny. Indicted on charges of grand larceny, first degree, and grand larceny, second degree, Stotomayor entered his plea under the first count of the indictment. He was placed on probation. Joseph Saccoman, who appeared for defendant, asked for leniency and told the court that the defendant, a contractor, had not willfully violated the law regulating contractors. District Attorney Raymond J. Mino told the court the offense grew out of a commercial transaction, one to build a house. Restitition will be made. In answer to the usual questions the defendant admitted having had prior conflicts with the law. On motion of Attorney Saccoman the remaining counts of the indictment were dismissed.

James Cassell, 38, Asbury Park, N. J., cook, was sentenced to a term of from 5 to 10 years at Clinton Prison on a plea of guilty to the second count in an indictment charging a sex crime. Kirtland F. Snyder appeared for Cassell who was sentenced as a second offender. In answer to the usual questions Cassell admitted he had been convicted of grand larceny in Ulster. The act under which Cassell was sentenced occurred June 8, 1958.

An indictment returned May 25, 1938 charging Cassell with burglary and unlawful entry was dismissed as were the first, third and fourth count of the present indictment. At the time of the prior conviction in Ulster County Cassell was sentenced to Elmira Reformatory.

Woman Editor Buys County Weekly Paper

The Ulster County Townsman, weekly newspaper having its headquarters in Woodstock and covering northern Ulster County, has been purchased by its editor, Marian Callaghan Umhey, of Mt. Tremper, from the Stamford Publishing Corporation of Stamford, N. Y.

Mrs. Umhey announced today that she plans to enter into partnership with another of the paper's staff members, Baird "KiKi" Godwin of Woodstock.

Mrs. Umhey has been editor of the Townsman for the past 3½ years and Mrs. Godwin has been advertising manager for the same length of time. The Townsman is the official newspaper of the townships of Woodstock and Shandaken and one of the official newspapers of the Onteora Central School District.

Prior to their respective marriages, Marian was on the staff of the Brooklyn Eagle and "KiKi" was with the United Features Syndicate. The former is the wife of a Mt. Tremper native, contractor Howard C. Umhey, and is the mother of three children. She is also a councilman of the town of Shandaken, the first woman ever elected to the town board. KiKi is the wife of Paul Godwin of Woodstock and the mother of a nine-year-old daughter.

Lowlands Club to Meet

The Lowlands Ranch Club will hold its next meeting Sunday, May 3, at 8 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Dennelly in Ruby.

No Injuries Reported

A mishap involving a school bus and a sedan on Abeel Street near the Forst plant Wednesday afternoon resulted in no injuries, a police report noted. The bus, owned by the Arrow Bus Line, New Paltz and driven by Robert Alton Phelps, of Box 209, Route 2, Kingston, was headed west and the car, owned and operated by Richard P. McCutcheon was going east. Officers Robert Bonesteel and John Kennedy investigated.

Front Merchants Discuss Ways to Boost Business

A number of North Front Street merchants met in the Salvation Army building Wednesday night to discuss ways to improve business on that street and in the uptown section generally.

Several merchants from other streets in the uptown area were also present.

Those present were particularly concerned because of "a slowdown in business" in the uptown area, reflected in the fact that there are now nine empty stores on North Front Street. A number of ideas were presented.

Foremost in the thinking of the group appeared to be the parking situation. It was the consensus of opinion that much could be done to improve the parking lot below North Front Street and that a stairway might be built from the lot up to the street level. This idea will be presented at the next meeting of the Uptown Businessmen's Association.

Some indicated that high assessments and large rents made it difficult to maintain stores along the street. Better advertising, better lighting systems and improved store fronts were also suggested.

Samuel Barnett of Barnett Jewelry Store, 67 North Front Street, presided.

Colgate President Against Oath for Students on Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Should students be required to take a loyalty oath to get financial aid under the National Education Act?

President Everett Case of Colgate University says "no." He made a strong plea Wednesday for repeal of the requirement in an appearance before the Senate Education Committee.

The committee is considering a bill by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and Sen. Joseph Clark (D-Pa) to strike the oath provision from the law.

Case said he spoke both as an individual and as chairman of a committee of the American Council on Education which had carefully studied the matter.

He termed the oath an "invasion of the privacy of an individual's belief" and pointed out that it was required only of students who were in need of financial aid provided by the act.

Monaghan previously has said he has no intention of resigning.

Allies Open . . .

thing to offer the Soviets that Moscow might accept — possibly with regard to Berlin.

Counter Soviet Demands

The Western terms — tying together arrangements for Berlin, German reunification and European security — run directly counter to Soviet demands which were restated Wednesday without modification after a rival conference of Communist-bloc statesmen in Warsaw.

In prospect was another head-on East-West collision at the Geneva foreign ministers' conference opening May 11.

The Western powers are determined to stand firm against the Soviet demand that they end their occupation of Berlin and make that part of the city a demilitarized, international area.

But British Prime Minister Macmillan's government fears that insistence on the whole Western plan or no change in the present setup may (1) force the Allies into an ignominious retreat from their tough bargaining stance, or (2) prod Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev into action around Berlin that will explode a nuclear war.

In meetings outside the conference room, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd pleaded with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville for the divorce of Berlin proposals from plans for any over-all German or European settlement.

Bus Talks Still Stalemated; May Resume in Week

Negotiations between Adirondack Trailways and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen were still stalemated today with a threatened strike in the offing.

No date has been set for some 60 bus drivers to walk off the job but a spokesman said it would probably be early in May.

A spokesman for Adirondack Trailways said today that a mediator had called to propose a meeting for next week. It is under consideration.

Adirondack Trailways operates between New York City and northern New York points, including Kingston.

Approximately 85 per cent of the drivers and garagemen voted last Thursday evening for a walkout.

A union spokesman said the company's final offer, after four weeks of negotiations, was $9 per hundred miles for route drivers.

The bus line's long-distance drivers are now paid $8.35 per 100 miles. They seek $10.30.

Methodists Vote

is not enough to know Jesus in history to become mature Christians, he told the conference, and added, "We need to know the Christ so intimately that he becomes a daily companion."

Dr. Warren pointed out that age is no criterion for maturity since many persons "grow old disgracefully." He urged all Christians to examine their inner lives honestly and realize that one mission of the church is to help man "become inwardly and outwardly better."

137-Acre Site Proposed

The conference this afternoon will consider a proposal to purchase 137 acres of property 12 miles south of Kingston near High Falls for use as a training center and summer camp. The site, known as Camp Dreamland, contains 10 furnished buildings and may be purchased by the conference for $60,000. It is owned by Robert Kristeller, Carmel, school principal, who has operated it as a private camp.

The Rev. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman was elected a delegate to the 1960 General Conference in Denver, Colo., on the first ballot. Two other ministers and three laymen will be elected.

Card of Thanks

The family of the late Leon H. Smith wish to thank all whose many acts of kindness were of great comfort and assistance during his long illness and at the time of his death.

Hope Wanes For Missing Upstate Girl

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Squads of police scoured Buffalo's east side again today for Sharon Crossman, a frail 3-year-old who disappeared from her bed two days ago.

"There is little hope that Sharon will be found alive unless someone is taking care of her," said Police Capt. James J. Lewis, heading the search.

Disappeared Tuesday

Sharon, who spent five weeks in a hospital after a pancreas operation last fall, disappeared some time Tuesday after her mother, Mrs. Robert Crossman, tucked her in for a nap.

"With all this rain and her recent illness, it's difficult to see how she could survive the last two nights," said Lewis, "as far as we know she hasn't had anything to eat since 6 or 7 Tuesday morning."

Detective Chief John J. Whalen suggested the child could have been kidnapped, either from her room or after wandering away from the house.

Checks Inns, Stations

Erie County Sheriff Robert Glasser, working on that possibility, ordered a systematic check of suburban restaurants and service stations. He said a kidnapper might have stopped at some public place on the way out of the area.

Sharon apparently disappeared some time between 11 a. m. and 6 p. m. Tuesday. Her parents could not say how she was dressed.

Mrs. Crossman, 27, was too distraught to undergo long questioning, police said. Her husband, 28, is a factory worker. They have two other children, both boys.

She told police she had put Sharon to bed for a nap Tuesday morning and gone to the basement to do the laundry. She said she then took a nap in another bedroom. She discovered that Sharon was missing about 6 p. m.

Block from Tracks

The Crossman home is a block from railroad tracks. City police asked the railroads to check their freight cars.

Sharon was described as small for her age, with blue eyes and blonde hair cut in bangs. She has a bruise on her nose and a cut under her chin, the result of falls.

Panama Is Ready To Deploy Troops Against Cubans

PANAMA (AP) — Panamanian troops today were reported preparing to go into action at any minute against invaders from Cuba holed up on the north coast 20 miles from the entrance to the Panama Canal.

A screen of U.S. fighter planes was ordered up over Panama's north coast today to detect the approach of more invaders reported crossing the Caribbean from Cuba. The air patrol was requested by the five-ambassador team sent by the Organization of American States to help end the vest-pocket attempt to overthrow Panamanian President Ernesto de la Guardia.

Guard Holds Attack

An informed source who reported the imminence of attack on the invaders said the National Guard had held off to protect the 1,000 inhabitants of Nombre de Dios, the coastal town taken over by the invaders who landed last Saturday from Cuba.

Between 200 and 300 guard troops have been deployed around Nombre de Dios since Tuesday.

The government said the invading force in Nombre de Dios now numbered 89, including 84 Cubans, 3 Panamanians, 1 American and 1 Puerto Rican. The identity of the American was not known. The government claims the foreigners were hired by Panamanians in Cuba plotting to overthrow De la Guardia.

Report More On Way

The U.S. Air patrol was ordered after Panamanian authorities reported one or two more invasion boats carrying up to 300 men left the Cuban port of Surgidero, on Batabano Bay, Tuesday.

The committee of ambassadors recommended that the OAS Council in Washington urge Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban government to "exhaust all measures to prevent a new invasion from being carried out." Castro has condemned action from Cuban soil against other Latin-American governments, and the OAS committee said it had found no evidence that any foreign government was involved in the invasion of Panama.

Plot Grab of Canal

In a dispatch from Havana, the New York Times reported that Panamanian rebels are plotting a symbolic grab of the canal if they overthrow De La Guardia. The United States has permanent jurisdiction over the waterway and the zone on each side of it under a treaty between Panama and the United States.

Minister of Government Jose D. Bazan told the National Assembly most of the invaders are civilians with criminal records in Cuba or the United States. They were each paid from $200 to $2,000 and were made all sorts of promises in the event of a victory, he said. He claimed about half had belonged to Castro's revolutionary army.

Exemptions, Taxes

3. According to law our war veterans are entitled to certain exemptions in regard to general property taxes, some being totally exempt, others partially. Under the present village setup, all the special services except water are included in the village taxes subject to exemptions. Under the special district system, upon the dissolution of the village, the special district tax and assessments would not be subject to these exemptions, and both exempt as well as non-exempt property owners would pay for these special services and privileges. As the amount of these exemptions are considerable, this would further reduce the cost of the special districts, and it is believed that the majority of these veterans would gladly pay their fair share for these special services.

4. The town has no unpaid or delinquent taxes, because the county takes over all its delinquent taxes each year, and the town receives all its money from the County, and the County conducts annual tax sales. However, the Village of Rosendale has many delinquent taxpayers, and the Village of Rosendale has not conducted a tax sale in many, many years (not in the memory of the committee members). By not collecting its taxes, the taxpayers that are paying taxes are also paying for the ones that do not pay. Upon dissolution of the village, there will be no uncollected taxes.

Disadvantages Cited

The Taxpayers' Committee cited the following disadvantages to dissolving the village:

1. Upon dissolution, the village will lose $3,342.03 state aid.
2. The Town of Rosendale highway tax is divided into four items—Road repair, snow removal, bridges and equipment fund. The property in the village does not pay into item one of the town highway budget, however this amounts to a negligible amount, as the greater portion of the highway tax is county highway tax. Offsetting this would be the savings to the people of the village since, upon dissolution, the Town Highway Department will maintain the village streets.
3. Loss of mortgage taxes to the village, of approximately $1,000.

The Taxpayers' Association concluded that for approximately $15,000 per year the Village of Rosendale could enjoy all the benefits it now has, and all its special services without curtailing any of them, which cost the village over $31,000. This would mean a savings of between $15,000 and $16,000 per year to the people of the village. The figures recited herein were taken directly from the records of the village clerk and treasurer and other official records of the village.

Glasco Man Hurt In 3-Car Crash

A Glasco resident was taken to Kingston Hospital this morning following a three-car collision on Route 9W near the Tall Cedars Motel.

He is Charles Cafaldo, 23 of Box 74, Glasco, who reportedly suffered a sprained left knee and neck.

Involved in the accident, which occurred at 7:45 a. m., were a 1958 sedan, operated by Jack Staudaecher, 31, of 4 Cherry Lane, Saugerties, a 1954 sedan operated by Cafaldo and a 1949 sedan operated by Herbert Wuttke, 49, of 3 North Front Street, the report said.

All vehicles were proceeding south at the time.

Trooper Joseph Ventriglia of the Kingston state police reported that Staudaecher and Cafaldo stopped for a school bus.

Wuttke broke over the crest of a hill and was unable to stop in time, smashing into the rear of the Cafaldo car and pushing it into the rear of the Staudaecher vehicle. There were no arrests.

Need Is . . .

—Howard L. Fox, Mrs. George L. Chilson and Charles Grant Ellis, all of Kingston.

There were some ragged moments during the evening, a few pot shots and a couple of loaded questions for panel members, but the results added up to general agreement on the dire need for new schools, particularly a junior high school.

Dr. Earl F. Soper, superintendent of schools, who was in the audience, summed it up at the end of the meeting when he remarked, in praising the spirit of the "town meeting," that "we have acknowledged the need" for new schools.

He pointed out that testimony adduced by panel and audience indicated that the building program might be somewhat on the conservative side, that it had been cut back repeatedly during its evolution despite, in some instances, vigorous opposition from school officials and others.

Cost Per Foot Discussed

Sharpest battle of the evening appeared following comments by Eugene DeDea, chairman of the education committee of the Kingston Civic Association.

DeDea said a junior high school in New Britain, Conn., now about half completed, was being built for $14.59 per square foot. He asked why the junior high school proposed for the local district should cost $17 as estimated by Perkins and Will.

Switzer answered that different costs are found in different areas. For example, one junior high school built recently in a metropolitan area cast $21 per square foot.

Mentions Factors

He indicated that local factors, such as labor costs, could make the difference, that New Britain was in a different frame of reference. He said the New Britain situation had been investigated and it was found that labor costs were as much as $1 to $1.50 less there than in some other sections.

"Incredible;" called Walter Donnaruma of Kingston, a member of the audience.

Soper Gives Figures

Dr. Soper then produced some figures showing the average cost of construction for new school buildings in New York State since 1956.

The average in early 1956 was $17.05 per square foot. Later that year it rose to $17.25, but dropped in July to $16.25. In November, 1956 it was $17.85, in February, 1957, it was $18.50, in September of that year, $18.20, in January, 1958, $18.20, and the same for June of that year. In November, 1958, it rose to $19.35. In April, 1959, it stood at $16.50.

Soper said these figures bore out the fact that at $17 the local school program would be under the average for New York State.

Fowler opened the discussion, calling attention to the importance of the bond issue and pointing out that money wisely invested in education is well spent.

He described the "package" plan recommended by the board of education and explained that if the bond issue is defeated the board will be compelled to proceed with a less ambitious program up to its constitutional limit of $4,675,000. The board can spend this much money without going to referendum. It must be paid off in 10 years, however.

Sees 10-year Plan Lacking

He said the board feels the package plan will provide a complete program for all children in the enlarged city district. He described the 10-year plan as a "half-loaf" which would leave some areas of the school district with inferior facilities.

If the building program can be completed for less than the amount of the bond issue—$5,980,000 — it will be, Fowler stated.

Everybody concedes that we need a new junior high school—"not three years, 10 years from now, but now."

He called attention to the enrollment at Kingston High School (2,048) although its state recommended maximum is only 1,800. The freshman (9th grade) at KHS should be in junior high school, he said. This is embraced in the proposed construction program.

There are now eight sections of seventh grade in the George Washington School contrary to all good educational standards, he said. This school is a kindergarten through sixth grade unit. In September there will be 11 sections of seventh grade.

MJM Overcrowded

The MJM capacity is 600, but there are now 800 enrolled there.

He said the proposed junior high school at Dietz Stadium could absorb 200 students from MJM, 395 from the Washington School and a good portion of the KHS freshman class.

Fowler corrected what he described as a misunderstanding about construction of sewer facilities in the Dietz Stadium area, that a rumor was being circulated that it would cost half a million dollars. He explained that the cost would be from $40,000 to $50,000.

Dietz Stadium itself will not be lost under the plan, he said. It will be used during school hours by students. Otherwise the city will control it and have all the use of it now enjoyed.

The proposal to build a junior high school in the Hasbrouck Park section doesn't make a great deal of sense, he told his audience, explaining that population was concentrated in the uptown areas. A junior high in the downtown section would pose a tremendous transportation problem, he said. He urged that we attempt to overlook minor objections to the Dietz site, which he described as the most logical one. It has also been accepted by the State Education Department.

Cites State Aid Advantage

Fowler explained that under the 20-year plan the building program would be paid for by extra state aid with something left over—$53,067 annually. Under the 10-year plan there would be a cost of $128,900 each year to the taxpayers above the extra state aid.

The 10-year plan would save some interest charges but would mean that the taxpayers during the ensuing decade would be "paying the shot" for schools which will be in use for many decades.

He called attention to Kingston Civic Association figures on costs ped square foot--$13 or $14 for elementary school construction, $15 for junior high construction, contrasting with estimates of $17 for elementary and $18 for junior high by Perkins and Will.

Must Be Durable

Fowler pointed out that new schools should be built with good materials, that a school takes a beating over a period of time and should be so constructed that it can withstand hard use and rapid deterioration.

He also cited the possibility of further inflation, that costs will probably rise rather than fall and that construction of the proposed schools might be considerably higher if we delay, as the Civic Association recommends. He asked that the new construction not be delayed. He also urged that the voters do "right, not only by our children, but by our neighbor's children." He asked for a fair break for every child.

Gilday Talks For Downtown

Gilday called attention to conditions downtown which do not match uptown schools, pointing out that Schools 2, 3 and 4 are almost 100 years old. He deplored what he called a "double standard" of education—one for the downtown section and one for the uptown section.

"To me it seems unfair and un-American," he told the audience and should be rectified as soon as possible.

He listed a number of conditions in Schools 2, 3 and 4 which should be remedied, citing fire and accident hazard, overcrowded conditions, inadequate toilet facilities in some instances, rooms too close to playgrounds, rooms too small, inadequate space for special class services, rooms either too hot or too cold, limited library facilities, children in special and advanced classes must attend schools outside their areas, etc.

In School 2 there are 14 classrooms, seven of which are on the third floor, he stated, pointing out that the higher the classrooms the greater the fire danger.

"I sincerely hope the bond issue will be passed," he concluded.

Deals With Rural Schools

Larios stressed the importance of equal educational facilities for all children.

He called attention to the existence of a number of one-room schools in the district and explained that in many schools several different grades must meet in the same room at the same time.

Port Ewen School, with 14 rooms, must build to 22 for children already enrolled in that attendance area, he said.

Hurley School is facing triple sessions in kindergarten, has 12 rooms and needs 18.

Tillson School is now on split sessions, now has room for 54 students and will have an enrollment in September of 214.

Advises Visits to Schools

He pointed out that it is good psychology to be against the bond issue, that the same thing is happening all over the country, that school boards everywhere are being harrassed by the people they serve. He described the school boards as sincere people with a deep interest in educational problems.

He said he was getting a little tired of all the statistics being thrown around, that people should get around to the schools and see the need for themselves.

Switzer presented a quick briefing on the building program, pointing out that it is the sincere belief of Perkins and Will that the building program is adequate and equitable for the present time and should produce an excellent school system.

If the estimate by the architectural firm should prove a little high, what happens to the excess?—he asked. He explained that it would not be "used up" in the construction program, that no type of construction is more carefully supervised, that, as architects, "we work under stringent controls."

Wives Block Roads

OKMULGEE, Okla. (AP) — Roadblocks will be continued for the third day today by wives of striking Phillips Petroleum Co. workers.

The women, ignoring pleas by their husbands and union leaders to "go home," have stopped at least 25 refinery tank trucks at three access roads to the refinery.

The strike by 103 Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers members is now in its 76th day.

Only two trucks have maneuvered through the blockade since Tuesday.

Retired Navy Man

Assigned to Cuttlefish

When he was assigned to the submarine U. S. S. Cuttlefish there were few subs in the entire navy. No one thought very highly of them and they were most experimental. The subs Cuttlefish, Tarantula and Viper made the trip in 1907 to Kingston. Their mission at that time was to deliver the body of George Clinton, New York's first governor, for burial in Old Dutch Church yard. Governor Clinton, who died in 1812 while serving a second term as vice president of the United States, had been buried in Congressional Cemetery, Washington, D. C.

The crew was unaware of their cargo and the citizens of Kingston were unaware of submarines. When the three subs arrived at Kingston Point the local press was openly skeptical of boats going underwater. As a result the subs were opened to the public for inspection and made numerous dives just to prove they really could. Until 1907 even other Naval officers had not been allowed aboard the vessels.

Conger, when it arrives will also be open to the public. It is approximately 300 foot long as compared to the 55-foot Cuttlefish. Its crew will number about 90 men. In early subs there was a 10-man crew and a skipper.

Looking Foreward to Trip

Coady confessed that he is completely "in the dark" on modern subs and is looking forward to the trip as an opportunity to relive his own experiences on a "more magnified scale."

Tentative plans at present are for Coady to go to New London, Conn., where he will tour the atomic sub, Skipjack. He will then board the Conger for a trip through Long Island Sound, staying in New York overnight before continuing the trip from the Battery to Kingston arriving here May 29.

Recalls Early Subs

In discussing modern submarines and the recent trip of the Skipjack under Arctic ice, Coady recalls a mid-winter trip made in 1907 by the Cuttlefish, Tarantula and Viper. The three subs were bound for Annapolis, Md., a 100-mile trip. At that time subs did most of their sailing above water rather than submerged.

The subs started on their first attempt. At the Narrows the Cuttlefish was turned back by mechanical difficulties. The Viper blew a cylinder head—subs in those days had 150 horsepower gasoline engines, and the Tarantula broke its conning tower on an ice floe. All three had to return to New York. A newspaper clipping of the day shows a sign reading "Submarine Boats Not Good at Ducking Icebergs."

The subs eventually made the trip to Annapolis with only minor difficulties, all arriving at the same time. And the Skipjack proved the sign to be far from prophetic some 52 years later. Coady ventured the opinion that if the early subs had submerged rather than attempting the trip on a surface run they would have had little difficulty.

Coady has made his home in Kingston since 1952 when he was assigned to Hiltebrant Dry Dock Inc., as supervisor of shipbuilding for the Navy. He had charge of the building of eight minesweepers, the briefing of their crews and delivering the ships to their destinations. When the contract was concluded he retired and now lives at his Flatbush Avenue home taking occasional trips to Arizona and other resort locations.

Need Is 'Right Now'

Mrs. Danford said today that the association feels the proposed building program is needed "right now."

For the past two years, she explained, the rural advisory committee and the board of education have studied the problem of increasing school population. The birth rate, plus the present enrollment, make it imperative to proceed with the building program as outlined by the board.

She said that construction of the Hasbrouck Park and Mary's Avenue schools would replace "antiquated and unsafe" structures now in use.

She stressed the need for improved facilities in the downtown section. She also explained that the additions to Schools 5 and 6 would not provide additional classrooms, but would improve general learning facilities in such a way that the schools would be comparable to the Washington School, Port Ewen School, Lake Katrine School, Tillson School, and Chambers School.

the property an ideal location for a camp area. The setting has much natural beauty, as the grounds offer a panoramic view of the City of Kingston, he said.

Three Miles From City

In addition, the property is well isolated, although it is only a little over three miles from Jewish Community Center on Wall Street. Easy access is provided via Route 28 and Old Mountain Hurley Road.

The day camp has been operating for about 10 years. Last year the camp was operated at Turkey Point, Saugerties, and in previous years at Spring Lake.

Plans are being made to develop the camp in time for the summer, in order to assure a complete camping season of eight weeks. It is expected that work will begin shortly on a swimming pool as well as buildings and sanitary facilities. Minor repairs will be made on the large barn now on the property in order to assure its use for the next year or two.

Cite Was Inspected

The Jewish Community Center had the property inspected, prior to purchase, by Monte Melamed, executive director of the Henry Kaufmann Camp Grounds, Inc., an agency of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies in New York. Melamed is a nationally known expert in the camp field. He strongly recommended that the center purchase this property—that it had all the requirements needed to develop an outstanding camp.

Daniel Balsam is executive director of the Jewish Community Center.

Panama Is Ready To Deploy Troops Against Cubans

PANAMA (AP) — Panamanian troops today were reported preparing to go into action at any minute against invaders from Cuba holed up on the north coast 20 miles from the entrance to the Panama Canal.

A screen of U.S. fighter planes was ordered up over Panama's north coast today to detect the approach of more invaders reported crossing the Caribbean from Cuba. The air patrol was requested by the five-ambassador team sent by the Organization of American States to help end the vest-pocket attempt to overthrow Panamanian President Ernesto de la Guardia.

Guard Holds Attack

An informed source who reported the imminence of attack on the invaders said the National Guard had held off to protect the 1,000 inhabitants of Nombre de Dios, the coastal town taken over by the invaders who landed last Saturday from Cuba.

Between 200 and 300 guard troops have been deployed around Nombre de Dios since Tuesday.

The government said the invading force in Nombre de Dios now numbered 89, including 84 Cubans, 3 Panamanians, 1 American and 1 Puerto Rican. The identity of the American was not known. The government claims the foreigners were hired by Panamanians in Cuba plotting to overthrow De la Guardia.

Report More On Way

The U.S. Air patrol was ordered after Panamanian authorities reported one or two more invasion boats carrying up to 300 men left the Cuban port of Surgidero, on Batabano Bay, Tuesday.

The committee of ambassadors recommended that the OAS Council in Washington urge Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban government to "exhaust all measures to prevent a new invasion from being carried out." Castro has condemned action from Cuban soil against other Latin-American governments, and the OAS committee said it had found no evidence that any foreign government was involved in the invasion of Panama.

Plot Grab of Canal

In a dispatch from Havana, the New York Times reported that Panamanian rebels are plotting a symbolic grab of the canal if they overthrow De La Guardia. The United States has permanent jurisdiction over the waterway and the zone on each side of it under a treaty between Panama and the United States.

Minister of Government Jose D. Bazan told the National Assembly most of the invaders are civilians with criminal records in Cuba or the United States. They were each paid from $200 to $2,000 and were made all sorts of promises in the event of a victory, he said. He claimed about half had belonged to Castro's revolutionary army.

Exemptions, Taxes

3. According to law our war veterans are entitled to certain exemptions in regard to general property taxes, some being totally exempt, others partially. Under the present village setup, all the special services except water are included in the village taxes subject to exemptions. Under the special district system, upon the dissolution of the village, the special district tax and assessments would not be subject to these exemptions, and both exempt as well as non-exempt property owners would pay for these special services and privileges. As the amount of these exemptions are considerable, this would further reduce the cost of the special districts, and it is believed that the majority of these veterans would gladly pay their fair share for these special services.

4. The town has no unpaid or delinquent taxes, because the county takes over all its delinquent taxes each year, and the town receives all its money from the County, and the County conducts annual tax sales. However, the Village of Rosendale has many delinquent taxpayers, and the Village of Rosendale has not conducted a tax sale in many, many years (not in the memory of the committee members). By not collecting its taxes, the taxpayers that are paying taxes are also paying for the ones that do not pay. Upon dissolution of the village, there will be no uncollected taxes.

Disadvantages Cited

The Taxpayers' Committee cited the following disadvantages to dissolving the village:

1. Upon dissolution, the village will lose $3,342.03 state aid.

2. The Town of Rosendale highway tax is divided into four items—Road repair, snow removal, bridges and equipment fund. The property in the village does not pay into item one of the town highway budget, however this amounts to a negligible amount, as the greater portion of the highway tax is county highway tax. Offsetting this would be the savings to the people of the village since, upon dissolution, the Town Highway Department will maintain the village streets.

3. Loss of mortgage taxes to the village, of approximately $1,000.

The Taxpayers' Association concluded that for approximately $15,000 per year the Village of Rosendale could enjoy all the benefits it now has, and all its special services without curtailing any of them, which cost the village over $31,000. This would mean a savings of between $15,000 and $16,000 per year to the people of the village. The figures recited herein were taken directly from the records of the village clerk and treasurer and other official records of the village.

Glasco Man Hurt In 3-Car Crash

A Glasco resident was taken to Kingston Hospital this morning following a three-car collision on Route 9W near the Tall Cedars Motel.

He is Charles Cafaldo, 23 of Box 74, Glasco, who reportedly suffered a sprained left knee and neck.

Involved in the accident, which occurred at 7:45 a. m., were a 1958 sedan, operated by Jack Staudaecher, 31, of 4 Cherry Lane, Saugerties, a 1954 sedan operated by Cafaldo and a 1949 sedan operated by Herbert Wuttke, 49, of 3 North Front Street, the report said.

All vehicles were proceeding south at the time.

Trooper Joseph Ventriglia of the Kingston state police reported that Staudaecher and Cafaldo stopped for a school bus.

Wuttke broke over the crest of a hill and was unable to stop in time, smashing into the rear of the Cafaldo car and pushing it into the rear of the Staudaecher vehicle. There were no arrests.

Need Is . . .

—Howard L. Fox, Mrs. George L. Chilson and Charles Grant Ellis, all of Kingston.

There were some ragged moments during the evening, a few pot shots and a couple of loaded questions for panel members, but the results added up to general agreement on the dire need for new schools, particularly a junior high school.

Dr. Earl F. Soper, superintendent of schools, who was in the audience, summed it up at the end of the meeting when he remarked, in praising the spirit of the "town meeting," that "we have acknowledged the need" for new schools.

He pointed out that testimony adduced by panel and audience indicated that the building program might be somewhat on the conservative side, that it had been cut back repeatedly during its evolution despite, in some instances, vigorous opposition from school officials and others.

Cost Per Foot Discussed

Sharpest battle of the evening appeared following comments by Eugene DeDea, chairman of the education committee of the Kingston Civic Association.

DeDea said a junior high school in New Britain, Conn., now about half completed, was being built for $14.59 per square foot. He asked why the junior high school proposed for the local district should cost $17 as estimated by Perkins and Will.

Switzer answered that different costs are found in different areas. For example, one junior high school built recently in a metropolitan area cast $21 per square foot.

Mentions Factors

He indicated that local factors, such as labor costs, could make the difference, that New Britain was in a different frame of reference. He said the New Britain situation had been investigated and it was found that labor costs were as much as $1 to $1.50 less there than in some other sections.

"Incredible;" called Walter Donnaruma of Kingston, a member of the audience.

Soper Gives Figures

Dr. Soper then produced some figures showing the average cost of construction for new school buildings in New York State since 1956.

The average in early 1956 was $17.05 per square foot. Later that year it rose to $17.25, but dropped in July to $16.25. In November, 1956, it was $17.85, in February, 1957, it was $18.50, in September of that year, $18.20, in January, 1958, $18.20, and the same for June of that year. In November, 1958, it rose to $19.35. In April, 1959, it stood at $16.50.

Soper said these figures bore out the fact that at $17 the local school program would be under the average for New York State.

Fowler opened the discussion, calling attention to the importance of the bond issue and pointing out that money wisely invested in education is well spent.

He described the "package" plan recommended by the board of education and explained that if the bond issue is defeated the board will be compelled to proceed with a less ambitious program up to its constitutional limit of $4,675,000. The board can spend this much money without going to referendum. It must be paid off in 10 years, however.

Sees 10-year Plan Lacking

He said the board feels the package plan will provide a complete program for all children in the enlarged city district. He described the 10-year plan as a "half-loaf" which would leave some areas of the school district with inferior facilities.

If the building program can be completed for less than the amount of the bond issue—$5,980,000 — it will be, Fowler stated.

Everybody concedes that we need a new junior high school—"not three years, 10 years from now, but now."

He called attention to the enrollment at Kingston High School (2,048) although its state recommended maximum is only 1,800. The freshman (9th grade) at KHS should be in junior high school, he said. This is embraced in the proposed construction program.

There are now eight sections of seventh grade in the George Washington School contrary to all good educational standards, he said. This school is a kindergarten through sixth grade unit. In September there will be 11 sections of seventh grade.

MJM Overcrowded

The MJM capacity is 600, but there are now 800 enrolled there.

He said the proposed junior high school at Dietz Stadium could absorb 200 students from MJM, 395 from the Washington School and a good portion of the KHS freshman class.

Fowler corrected what he described as a misunderstanding about construction of sewer facilities in the Dietz Stadium area, that a rumor was being circulated that it would cost half a million dollars. He explained that the cost would be from $40,000 to $50,000.

Dietz Stadium itself will not be lost under the plan, he said. It will be used during school hours by students. Otherwise the city will control it and have all the use of it now enjoyed.

The proposal to build a junior high school in the Hasbrouck Park section doesn't make a great deal of sense, he told his audience, explaining that population was concentrated in the uptown areas. A junior high in the downtown section would pose a tremendous transportation problem, he said. He urged that we attempt to overlook minor objections to the Dietz site, which he described as the most logical one. It has also been accepted by the State Education Department.

Cites State Aid Advantage

Fowler explained that under the 20-year plan the building program would be paid for by extra state aid with something left over—$53,067 annually. Under the 10-year plan there would be a cost of $128,900 each year to the taxpayers above the extra state aid.

The 10-year plan would save some interest charges but would mean that the taxpayers during the ensuing decade would be "paying the shot" for schools which will be in use for many decades.

He called attention to Kingston Civic Association figures on costs ped square foot--$13 or $14 for elementary school construction, $15 for junior high construction, contrasting with estimates of $17 for elementary and $18 for junior high by Perkins and Will.

Must Be Durable

Fowler pointed out that new schools should be built with good materials, that a school takes a beating over a period of time and should be so constructed that it can withstand hard use and rapid deterioration.

He also cited the possibility of further inflation, that costs will probably rise rather than fall and that construction of the proposed schools might be considerably higher if we delay, as the Civic Association recommends. He asked that the new construction not be delayed. He also urged that the voters do "right, not only by our children, but by our neighbor's children." He asked for a fair break for every child.

Gilday Talks For Downtown

Gilday called attention to conditions downtown which do not match uptown schools, pointing out that Schools 2, 3 and 4 are almost 100 years old. He deplored what he called a "double standard" of education—one for the downtown section and one for the uptown section.

"To me it seems unfair and un-American," he told the audience and should be rectified as soon as possible.

He listed a number of conditions in Schools 2, 3 and 4 which should be remedied, citing fire and accident hazard, overcrowded conditions, inadequate toilet facilities in some instances, rooms too close to playgrounds, rooms too small, inadequate space for special class services, rooms either too hot or too cold, limited library facilities, children in special and advanced classes must attend schools outside their areas, etc.

In School 2 there are 14 classrooms, seven of which are on the third floor, he stated, pointing out that the higher the classrooms the greater the fire danger.

"I sincerely hope the bond issue will be passed," he concluded.

Deals With Rural Schools

Larios stressed the importance of equal educational facilities for all children.

He called attention to the existence of a number of one-room schools in the district and explained that in many schools several different grades must meet in the same room at the same time.

Port Ewen School, with 14 rooms, must build to 22 for children already enrolled in that attendance area, he said.

Hurley School is facing triple sessions in kindergarten, has 12 rooms and needs 18.

Tillson School is now on split sessions, now has room for 54 students and will have an enrollment in September of 214.

Advises Visits to Schools

He pointed out that it is good psychology to be against the bond issue, that the same thing is happening all over the country, that school boards everywhere are being harrassed by the people they serve. He described the school boards as sincere people with a deep interest in educational problems.

He said he was getting a little tired of all the statistics being thrown around, that people should get around to the schools and see the need for themselves.

Switzer presented a quick briefing on the building program, pointing out that it is the sincere belief of Perkins and Will that the building program is adequate and equitable for the present time and should produce an excellent school system.

If the estimate by the architectural firm should prove a little high, what happens to the excess?—he asked. He explained that it would not be "used up" in the construction program, that no type of construction is more carefully supervised, that, as architects, "we work under stringent controls."

Wives Block Roads

OKMULGEE, Okla. (AP) — Roadblocks will be continued for the third day today by wives of striking Phillips Petroleum Co. workers.

The women, ignoring pleas by their husbands and union leaders to "go home," have stopped at least 25 refinery tank trucks at three access roads to the refinery.

The strike by 103 Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers members is now in its 76th day.

Only two trucks have maneuvered through the blockade since Tuesday.

Retired Navy Man

Assigned to Cuttlefish

When he was assigned to the submarine U. S. S. Cuttlefish there were few subs in the entire navy. No one thought very highly of them and they were most experimental. The subs Cuttlefish, Tarantula and Viper made the trip in 1907 to Kingston. Their mission at that time was to deliver the body of George Clinton, New York's first governor, for burial in Old Dutch Church yard. Governor Clinton, who died in 1812 while serving a second term as vice president of the United States, had been buried in Congressional Cemetery, Washington, D. C.

The crew was unaware of their cargo and the citizens of Kingston were unaware of submarines. When the three subs arrived at Kingston Point the local press was openly skeptical of boats going underwater. As a result the subs were opened to the public for inspection and made numerous dives just to prove they really could. Until 1907 even other Naval officers had not been allowed aboard the vessels.

Conger, when it arrives will also be open to the public. It is approximately 300 foot long as compared to the 55-foot Cuttlefish. Its crew will number about 90 men. In early subs there was a 10-man crew and a skipper.

Looking Foreward to Trip

Coady confessed that he is completely "in the dark" on modern subs and is looking forward to the trip as an opportunity to relive his own experiences on a "more magnified scale."

Tentative plans at present are for Coady to go to New London, Conn., where he will tour the atomic sub, Skipjack. He will then board the Conger for a trip through Long Island Sound, staying in New York overnight before continuing the trip from the Battery to Kingston arriving here May 29.

Recalls Early Subs

In discussing modern submarines and the recent trip of the Skipjack under Arctic ice, Coady recalls a mid-winter trip made in 1907 by the Cuttlefish, Tarantula and Viper. The three subs were bound for Annapolis, Md., a 100-mile trip. At that time subs did most of their sailing above water rather than submerged.

The subs started on their first attempt. At the Narrows the Cuttlefish was turned back by mechanical difficulties. The Viper blew a cylinder head—subs in those days had 150 horsepower gasoline engines, and the Tarantula broke its conning tower on an ice floe. All three had to return to New York. A newspaper clipping of the day shows a sign reading "Submarine Boats Not Good at Ducking Icebergs."

The subs eventually made the trip to Annapolis with only minor difficulties, all arriving at the same time. And the Skipjack proved the sign to be far from prophetic some 52 years later. Coady ventured the opinion that if the early subs had submerged rather than attempting the trip on a surface run they would have had little difficulty.

Coady has made his home in Kingston since 1952 when he was assigned to Hiltebrant Dry Dock Inc., as supervisor of shipbuilding for the Navy. He had charge of the building of eight minesweepers, the briefing of their crews and delivering the ships to their destinations. When the contract was concluded he retired and now lives at his Flatbush Avenue home taking occasional trips to Arizona and other resort locations.

Need Is 'Right Now'

Mrs. Danford said today that the association feels the proposed building program is needed "right now."

For the past two years, she explained, the rural advisory committee and the board of education have studied the problem of increasing school population. The birth rate, plus the present enrollment, make it imperative to proceed with the building program as outlined by the board.

She said that construction of the Hasbrouck Park and Mary's Avenue schools would replace "antiquated and unsafe" structures now in use.

She stressed the need for improved facilities in the downtown section. She also explained that the additions to Schools 5 and 6 would not provide additional classrooms, but would improve general learning facilities in such a way that the schools would be comparable to the Washington School, Port Ewen School, Lake Katrine School, Tillson School, and Chambers School.

the property an ideal location for a camp area. The setting has much natural beauty, as the grounds offer a panoramic view of the City of Kingston, he said.

Three Miles From City

In addition, the property is well isolated, although it is only a little over three miles from Jewish Community Center on Wall Street. Easy access is provided via Route 28 and Old Mountain Hurley Road.

The day camp has been operating for about 10 years. Last year the camp was operated at Turkey Point, Saugerties, and in previous years at Spring Lake.

Plans are being made to develop the camp in time for the summer, in order to assure a complete camping season of eight weeks. It is expected that work will begin shortly on a swimming pool as well as buildings and sanitary facilities. Minor repairs will be made on the large barn now on the property in order to assure its use for the next year or two.

Cite Was Inspected

The Jewish Community Center had the property inspected, prior to purchase, by Monte Melamed, executive director of the Henry Kaufmann Camp Grounds, Inc., an agency of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies in New York. Melamed is a nationally known expert in the camp field. He strongly recommended that the center purchase this property—that it had all the requirements needed to develop an outstanding camp.

Daniel Balsam is executive director of the Jewish Community Center.

Trinity Luther League Fetes '59 Confirmands

The Senior Luther League of Trinity Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone Streets, entertained the 1959 Confirmation Class at a dinner in the church hall Monday After the serving of a ham dinner the young people had a program of entertainment under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. John Amarello, advisors to the group, and Mrs. Betty Phillips. Blames Congress, Not Benson for Farm Failures

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — Don Paarlberg, a White House aide, says Congress and not Agriculture Secretary Benson is to blame for what he calls the failure of the farm program."

He charged Wednesday night that certain leaders in Congress "hoped to turn public dissatisfaction regarding the farm program toward Secretary Benson, who must administer it, rather than toward Congress, which authorized it."

He said he considered the chief failure of the legislators to be "the present inactivity in Congress in the face of irrefutable and widespread evidence that the mandatory support program has been weighed in the balance and found wanting."

Paarlberg is an economic adviser to President Eisenhower. He was an assistant secretary of agriculture under Benson before joining the White House staff last year.

He addressed a meeting sponsored by the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell University and by the National Association of Food Chains.

Paarlberg urged that farmers be given a greater voice in deciding what crops to plant and how they should be marketed.

He said that under the present farm program:

1. Farmers who grew regulated crops have lost markets.
2. Most of the money spent on present subsidy programs benefit only a few large producers of only a few crops.
3. And that all the while, surplus stocks in government warehouses continue to increase.

"Even a wealthy country," he said, "cannot continue to waste its substance in the endless accumulation of surplus stocks, particularly when it needs its resources in a struggle for economic leadership with countries of the Soviet bloc."

Jersey Parties Meet To Plan on Election

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — New Jersey's Republican and Democratic parties meet in convention today to plan for the November legislative election campaign.

The two conventions, both set to start at 2 p. m., were expected to do little except name committees and listen to the traditional keynote speeches.

Platforms are to be drafted during a two-week recess and adopted at return sessions May 14.

Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner, who will speak at his party's convention, has refused to say whether he thinks the traditional party plank against no new taxes should be retained.

But on the Republican side, at least three candidates are known to favor dropping the "no new tax" plank.

Loses Life in Fire

WOODHULL, N. Y. (AP)—Firemen say Howard Symonds, 75, was killed when his clothes caught fire from his furnace and the flames spread to the house.

The fire destroyed the two-story frame house near this Steuben County community Wednesday. There was no estimate of the loss.

Symonds' daughter, Gwendolyn, 40, told firemen her father had gone to the basement to tend the furnace. She smelled smoke, went to investigate and found the basement in flames.

Found Dead in Car

HUNTINGTON, N. Y. (AP)—Edwin F. Brooks, recently resigned chairman of the Huntington Town Board of Zoning Appeals, was found dead Wednesday in his automobile. Death was listed as apparent suicide.

Police said Brooks, 59, of Centerport, was holding a glass of liquid in his hand, and several empty medicine bottles were nearby.

The zoning appeals board is under investigation by a special grand jury. Brooks quit his post with the board last Thursday following the conviction of John Hulsen, Huntington Town Republican leader, and Hulsen's nephew, James Weber, on extortion charges.

Enlistment Opens In Guard, Bundy Going to Capital

The New York Army National Guard today made two announcements of local interest.

Major General R. C. Brock, commanding officer, announced authorization has been given to increase the number of quotas for the six-month active duty program.

Lt. Col. Frank W. Harkin, commanding officer, 1st Howitzer Battalion, 170th Combat Arms Regiment (formerly 156th Field Artillery Battalion) of the New York Army National Guard, made known plans for the dedication of the National Guard memorial building, 1 Massachusetts Avenue, Washington, D. C., Sunday, May 3.

Enlistments are open in units of the First Howitzer Battalion, 170th Combat Arms Regiment, at the local armory on Manor Avenue. Young men in the Kingston area interested in the six-month active duty for training for the months of May and June should apply at the armory regarding enlistment in one of the local units of the 1st Howitzer Battalion.

Young men of draft age and particularly those who will be graduating from high school this year may go to the armory and obtain information about the many opportunities offered for performing their military service with a local Guard unit. Young enlistees who take the training course may complete their remaining service obligation with a home town unit, according to General Brock.

M/Sgt. Walter T. Bundy of Columbia Street, Sunset Park, Kingston, will represent the local Guard unit, oldest military organization in New York State, at the dedication ceremonies in Washington on Sunday. He will act as color bearer, carrying the battalion's colors.

Bundy has been a member of Headquarters Battery of the local unit since December 1947. The battery was recently awarded the "Eisenhower trophy" for 1958 for being the most outstanding battery of the ANG in the state.

Boy, 16, Indicted In Dad's Slaying

WAMPSVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—A 16-year-old boy was indicted by a Madison County grand jury Wednesday on a first-degree murder charge in the shotgun slaying of his father.

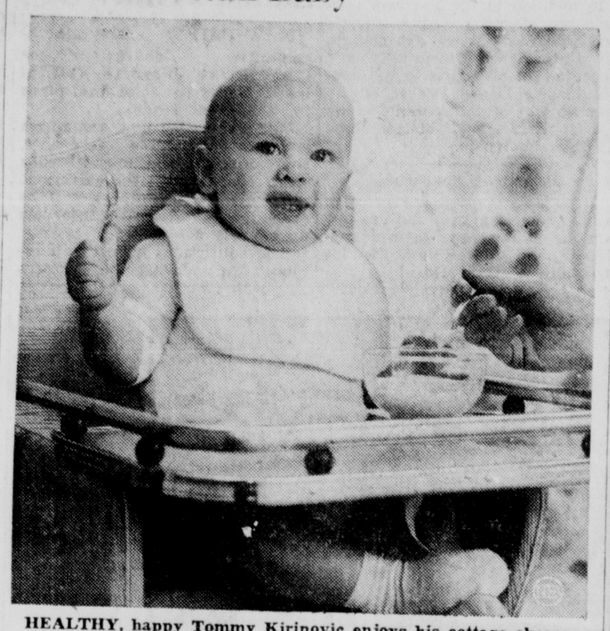

State Police have said Stephen Girard killed his father, Ferdinand, 44, on March 24 at the family farm in West Edmeston after an argument over farm chores. Five shots were fired.

Young Girard was arraigned before Justice Howard A. Zeller of State Supreme Court. He told the court he was without counsel and Zeller adjourned arraignment until Friday, when a lawyer will be assigned to the case.

Girard is confined in the county jail here.

Child Health Day Warning: Don't Overstuff Baby

HEALTHY, happy Tommy Kirinovic enjoys his cottage cheese and pineapple treat. Little Tommy is healthy, but not overfed.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Tomorrow, Friday, the first of May, is National Child Health Day. Just about now, a goodly share of last year's 4,250,000 infant arrivals are making their first untidy efforts at self-feeding. They are great imitators. Therefore a helpful initiation into this do-it-yourself feeding art is to put a small, straight-handed spoon into baby's hand when he is being fed. After the spoon has been picked up and handed back for the 100th time, the small hurler will begin poking, stirring, trying to transfer food to his mouth—generally with the spoon upside down.

Nutritionally important news for enthusiastic young eaters is the first cottage cheese in baby food form, with a shelf life comparable to other baby foods. Requires no refrigeration until after the little container is opened. Strained and junior cottage cheese with pineapple (plus concentrated orange and lemon juices and whole milk powder) is the newest item for the little spoon twirlers.

National Child Health Day is an appropriate time to remind some mothers that a fat baby is not necessarily a strong, healthy baby.

Dr. W. H. Sebrell Jr., director of the Institute of Nutritional Sciences at Columbia University, warns mothers that the foundation for obesity is often laid in early childhood.

"In spite of the doctor's advice, many mothers still believe a plump, overfed baby is a healthy baby. They cling to the superstition that to be big is the same thing as to be strong and healthy," this leading researcher in nutrition states. "Therefore, because of ignorance, or overprotectiveness, or emotionalism, they put excess food before small children and insist on its being eaten."

Dr. Sebrell believes parents in this way encourage the habit of overeating in the child. He warns that overweight in an adult who was fat as a child is the hardest kind to overcome.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Tomato and clam juice cocktail, poached filet of sole, butter, lemon, parsley and grated cheese sauce, whipped potatoes, new peas, buttered whole carrots, crusty rolls, butter or margarine, green apple pie, coffee, tea, milk.

Too Many Coupons

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Investigators said supermarket operators became curious when Mrs. Elwood E. Kist demanded cash upon redeeming large groups of coupons. They said she cashed as high as $50 worth of coupons at a time. She had 400 altogether.

Her postman husband was jailed on a charge of stealing merchandise coupons mailed to residents on his route. He denies guilt.

Former Boxer Gets Break From Judge

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — "A lot of people are rooting for you, Bobby," the judge told Bobby Woods, one of boxing's derelicts at 24.

Woods, blind in one eye and lame from brain damage suffered in the ring, got a break from Superior Judge Lewis A. Drucker Wednesday. The judge sentenced him to 90 days in the county road camp and three years probation on a robbery charge. He could have gotten a 10-year term for attempting a liquor store robbery.

Last March 11, Woods lurched into a store and demanded money. Rebuffed by the owner, he shuffled out and was arrested moments later on the street. During his brief career, Woods met such top-ranking prizefighters as Willie Pep, Sandy Saddler and Jimmy Carter.

Police theorized Miss Stafford collapsed and her father was stricken while trying to help her.

The bodies were discovered by a son, Frederick E. Stafford of Holyoke.

Auto Accidents Kill 8,000 in 3 Months

CHICAGO (AP)—Automobile accidents killed more than 8,000 persons in the nation in the first three months this year, an increase of 5 per cent over the first quarter of 1958. The fatalities in March were 9 per cent higher than in 1958.

The National Safety Council said March was the third straight month the death toll on the highways was higher after two years of almost unbroken decreases. Fatalities for the first three months totaled 8,080 compared with 7,690 in the conrresponding period last year. The March death toll was 2,790, compared with 2,560 in March 1958.

The council attributed the upward trend to complacency.

Swings to Safety

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Construction worker Bill Bell, 36, lost his balance and fell from a fifth-floor girder—but dropped only a few feet. He grasped a rope used to haul up air-conditioning equipment and swung into a fourth-floor window.

Aliens in the United States are not eligible for old age assistance in some states.

Too Many Coupons

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Investigators said supermarket operators became curious when Mrs. Elwood E. Kist demanded cash upon redeeming large groups of coupons. They said she cashed as high as $50 worth of coupons at a time. She had 400 altogether.

Her postman husband was jailed on a charge of stealing merchandise coupons mailed to residents on his route. He denies guilt.

Former Boxer Gets Break From Judge

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — "A lot of people are rooting for you, Bobby," the judge told Bobby Woods, one of boxing's derelicts at 24.

Woods, blind in one eye and lame from brain damage suffered in the ring, got a break from Superior Judge Lewis A. Drucker Wednesday. The judge sentenced him to 90 days in the county road camp and three years probation on a robbery charge. He could have gotten a 10-year term for attempting a liquor store robbery.

Last March 11, Woods lurched into a store and demanded money. Rebuffed by the owner, he shuffled out and was arrested moments later on the street. During his brief career, Woods met such top-ranking prizefighters as Willie Pep, Sandy Saddler and Jimmy Carter.

Two Found Dead

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — The bodies of a man and his schoolteacher daughter were found Wednesday night in their apartment.

Police theorized Miss Stafford collapsed and her father was stricken while trying to help her.

No Moving Permit

DANVILLE, Va. (AP)—A house knocked down a stop sign at an intersection here this week. Police charged Lawrence Burton with moving a house on a flat bed truck over city streets Tuesday without a permit.

'Down on Farm' Is Month's Theme For Pack 13 Cubs

The monthly meeting of Cub Pack 13 of P-TA, School No. 7, was held Tuesday night at the George Washington School. The theme for the month was "Down on the Farm" and the Den tables displayed a variety of items made by the Cubs including bird houses, models of barns, weather vanes, scare crows and gardens. A live rabbit was also on display. During the month Robert Guzewich, activities chairman, took Pack 13 on a trip to Boice Brothers Dairy. The appreciation of the Pack is extended to the dairy for making their facilities available to the Cubs.

A brief adults' meeting was held while the Cubs participated in a program of games. Assistant Cubmaster William J. Teegan was in charge of the meeting in the absence of Cubmaster Everett F. Schoen. Teegan announced the following meetings for May:

Future Meetings

Round Table, Monday, May 18, 8 p. m. with Pack 10 acting as host. The probable meeting place will be Chambers School. Committee meeting Thursday, May 21, 8 p. m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Giscoma, 115 Fairview Avenue.

Pack 13 will participate in the Memorial Day parade and it is planned to have a float. It was suggested that more committeemen try to attend all meetings concerning Pack 13 as their presence is necessary and appreciated. Teegan also suggested that parents submit their ideas for games or make games that Cubs could play at Pack meetings. Pack 13 is also continuing its newspaper project. Mrs. Ralph Stewart and Mrs. Alan Holt collect newspapers monthly from Den 2 families, but adult volunteers from the other Dens to assist in this endeavor would be appreciated. Newspapers may be left at any time in the garage of Mr. Walker, 171 Fairview Avenue.

June 27 and 28 will be Lions-Webelos weekend at Camp Tri-Mount. All Cubs of Lion and Webelos rank and their fathers are encouraged to attend.

During the adults' meeting Assistant District Commissioner Gordon Craig Jr. and Dr. Clement Angstrom spoke briefly on the biggest gain all boys receive from scouting. Cubs and adults then joined for the Pack meeting.

The opening flag ceremony was conducted by Den 1 followed by the Pledge of Allegiance and the Cub Scout Promise. It was Charter presentation night and Craig reminded those present that the charter is given to the sponsoring organization which has certain responsibilities in connection with the Pack. Teegan represented the P-TA of School No. 7 during the charter ceremony.

Commissions Given

Commissions for the coming year were then presented to the following: Robert Walker, chairman; Robert Guzewich, Martin Sior, Eugene Giacoma, treasurer; Donald Jamieson, Robert Myers Sr., Theodore Lyke, institutional representative, and Cubmaster Everett F. Schoen and Assistant Cubmaster William J. Teegan.

Den Mothers receiving recognition were the Mmes. Eugene Giacoma, John Cline, Frank Storms and Everett Schoen. All Cubs received their membership cards.

During the award ceremonies, Scoutmaster Angstrom presented Paul Lambiase with the Webelos Badge, Cubbings highest award. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lambiase stood with their son at the ceremonial table and Mrs. Lambiase received the mother's Webelos pin.

A new Bobcat, David Ackert, was inducted into Pack 13, Mr. Teegan, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ackert also stood with their son for the welcome into the Pack. Other awards were as follows:

Other Awards

Lion Badge, David Stewart; Bear Badge, Robert Walker; Silver arrow on Lion, Wayne Terwilliger; Silver arrow on Bear, Bruce Giacoma, James Myers, Bruce Kennedy, Gregory Lyke; Gold arrow on Bear, Robert Walker.

Following the awards Paul Lambiase entertained with several accordian selections and also accompanied the group singing that followed under the direction of Den Chiefs Ronald Storms, Michael Angstrom and Eric Scott.

This month "Cubby" was awarded to Den 5 for scoring highest in the evening's games. The meeting closed with the Cubs forming the Living Circle and repeating the Cub Scout Promise. Refreshments were prepared and served by mothers of Den 2.

The next Pack meeting will be held May 26, at 7 p. m. in the Forsyth Park Pavilion.

Tiny but Tough

"Utterly delicious" the ladies at your luncheon will say if you serve them fresh cooked asparagus stalks served with buttered slices of baked ham and a snappy cheese sauce.

Veterans Told Of Disability, Death Benefits

A World War II Korean veteran who has a service-connected disability but is not in receipt of compensation must have a disability that is recognizable as being in existence at the date of death before the widow may qualify for death pension benefits, according to Charles L. Culver, counselor, New York State Division of Veterans Affairs, and Howard C. Shurter, director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency.

"The disability does not have to be compensable," they said, 'but it must be identifiable and so manifest as to be recognized by symptoms or other means."

Where there is evidence in the veteran's file that shows no residuals were in existence before the veteran's death, say as a result of a recent physical, it cannot be presumed that the disability existed to any ascertainable degree.

Culver and Shurter recommend that any veteran who experiences any difficulty with his service-connected disability subsequent to a medical finding of no residual effects should immediately have it medically recorded because it may determine whether or not his widow and children will receive pension benefits.

Veterans in this area who have any questions relating to this important matter and other affairs relating to their status as a veteran were urged by the veteran's officials to get in touch with their New York State Division of Veterans Affairs office at the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency. The address is 32 Main Street, Kingston with branch offices in Ellenville, Highland, Kerhonkson and Saugerties.

Contracts Awarded For Two Job Cranes

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York State Power Authority announced the award of two contracts Wednesday for furnishing gantry and traveling cranes for the Tuscarora pumping and generating plants of the Niagara Power Project near Niagara Falls, N. Y.

The Milwaukee Crane Division of Industrial Enterprises Inc. of Cudahy, Wis., was awarded a $957,795 contract for supplying two gantry cranes, one of 150-ton capacity and one rated at 65 tons.

The Whiting Corp., Harvey, Ill., was given a $127,660 contract for a 100-ton traveling crane. The two firms had submitted the low bids.

Wage Talks Are Off On Machinist Wages

NEW YORK (AP)—Wage talks have been adjourned indefinitely between the Machinists' Union and the Remington Rand division of the Sperry Rand Corp.

Talks broke off late Wednesday, with a federal mediator saying only that the union representatives were returning to their individual plants to report to local members.

Earlier Wednesday, the mediator had expressed optimism regarding negotiations on the national level.

The union seeks 20 cents an hour additional across the board for workers whose pay scales vary from city to city. About 10,000 workers represented by the International Assn. of Machinists are covered by the existing contract, but about 4,000 of them are currently laid off.

The company has plants in Elmira, Utica, Ilion, Tonawanda and North Tonawanda, N. Y.; Benton Harbor, Mich.; and Holyoke, Mass.

Man Crushed to Death

HERKIMER, N. Y. (AP)—Harry Teletnick, 73, was crushed to death Wednesday by a runaway tractor on his farm at Millers Mills, about 10 miles south of nearby Ilion.

State Police said Teletnick apparently cranked the machine while it was in gear and the vehicle rolled forward.

Matter of FACT

The colony of Maryland was originally planned by George Calvert, the first Lord Baltimore. In 1632, King Charles I commanded that a charter be drawn up for the proposed colony. Charles himself named it Terra Mariae, or Maryland, in honor of Henrietta Maria, his queen. The charter gave almost kingly power to the colony's proprietor. At the same time it provided that the colonists should have the rights of English subjects.

'Down on Farm' Is Month's Theme For Pack 13 Cubs

The monthly meeting of Cub Pack 13 of P-TA, School No. 7, was held Tuesday night at the George Washington School. The theme for the month was "Down on the Farm" and the Den tables displayed a variety of items made by the Cubs including bird houses, models of barns, weather vanes, scare crows and gardens. A live rabbit was also on display. During the month Robert Guzewich, activities chairman, took Pack 13 on a trip to Boice Brothers Dairy. The appreciation of the Pack is extended to the dairy for making their facilities available to the Cubs.

A brief adults' meeting was held while the Cubs participated in a program of games. Assistant Cubmaster William J. Teegan was in charge of the meeting in the absence of Cubmaster Everett F. Schoen. Teegan announced the following meetings for May:

Future Meetings

Round Table, Monday, May 18, 8 p. m. with Pack 10 acting as host. The probable meeting place will be Chambers School. Committee meeting Thursday, May 21, 8 p. m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Giscoma, 115 Fairview Avenue.

Pack 13 will participate in the Memorial Day parade and it is planned to have a float. It was suggested that more committeemen try to attend all meetings concerning Pack 13 as their presence is necessary and appreciated. Teegan also suggested that parents submit their ideas for games or make games that Cubs could play at Pack meetings. Pack 13 is also continuing its newspaper project. Mrs. Ralph Stewart and Mrs. Alan Holt collect newspapers monthly from Den 2 families, but adult volunteers from the other Dens to assist in this endeavor would be appreciated. Newspapers may be left at any time in the garage of Mr. Walker, 171 Fairview Avenue.

June 27 and 28 will be Lions-Webelos weekend at Camp Tri-Mount. All Cubs of Lion and Webelos rank and their fathers are encouraged to attend.

During the adults' meeting Assistant District Commissioner Gordon Craig Jr. and Dr. Clement Angstrom spoke briefly on the biggest gain all boys receive from scouting. Cubs and adults then joined for the Pack meeting.

The opening flag ceremony was conducted by Den 1 followed by the Pledge of Allegiance and the Cub Scout Promise. It was Charter presentation night and Craig reminded those present that the charter is given to the sponsoring organization which has certain responsibilities in connection with the Pack. Teegan represented the P-TA of School No. 7 during the charter ceremony.

Commissions Given

Commissions for the coming year were then presented to the following: Robert Walker, chairman; Robert Guzewich, Martin Sior, Eugene Giacoma, treasurer; Donald Jamieson, Robert Myers Sr., Theodore Lyke, institutional representative, and Cubmaster Everett F. Schoen and Assistant Cubmaster William J. Teegan.

Den Mothers receiving recognition were the Mmes. Eugene Giacoma, John Cline, Frank Storms and Everett Schoen. All Cubs received their membership cards.

During the award ceremonies, Scoutmaster Angstrom presented Paul Lambiase with the Webelos Badge, Cubbings highest award. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lambiase stood with their son at the ceremonial table and Mrs. Lambiase received the mother's Webelos pin.

A new Bobcat, David Ackert, was inducted into Pack 13, Mr. Teegan. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ackert also stood with their son for the welcome into the Pack. Other awards were as follows:

Other Awards

Lion Badge, David Stewart; Bear Badge, Robert Walker; Silver arrow on Lion, Wayne Terwilliger; Silver arrow on Bear, Bruce Giacoma, James Myers, Bruce Kennedy, Gregory Lyke; Gold arrow on Bear, Robert Walker.

Following the awards Paul Lambiase entertained with several accordian selections and also accompanied the group singing that followed under the direction of Den Chiefs Ronald Storms, Michael Angstrom and Eric Scott.

This month "Cubby" was awarded to Den 5 for scoring highest in the evening's games. The meeting closed with the Cubs forming the Living Circle and repeating the Cub Scout Promise. Refreshments were prepared and served by mothers of Den 2.

The next Pack meeting will be held May 26, at 7 p. m. in the Forsyth Park Pavilion.

Higher Taxes Common Remedy For Ailing Economy in States

By CHARLES STAFFORD
Associated Press Writer

"Maybe," an eastern Kentucky civic leader said, "we should secede from the United States and apply for foreign aid."

He was discussing remedies for the ailing economy of his area, where mechanization and depression in the coal industry have caused widespread unemployment.

The secession proposal was delivered tongue-in-cheek, but many a state official would get the point. A check of state capitals by The Associated Press indicates that 29 states are encountering some measure of financial difficulty today.

Higher taxes are the common remedy.

Some of Targets

Cigarettes are a favorite target of the revenue hunters of 1959. Sales and income tax increases also are common.

Withholding plans for state income taxes, which increase revenue by cornering tax dodgers, have been adopted by Utah, Massachusetts, South Carolina, and New York. Five more states are seriously considering them.

Some tax programs have been whoppers.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio has presented the Legislature with plans to increase cigarette, beer, corporation franchise, gasoline and diesel fuel taxes. Sales taxes are to be upped to produce some 119 million dollars in the next two years. Adopted without change, DiSalle's program would produce 360 million dollars in new revenue in the next two years.

New York raised its tax revenue 239 million dollars. The Pennsylvania Legislature is studying Gov. David L. Lawrence's proposal for an additional 237 million in taxes to balance the record-breaking biennial budget of $1,907,000,000. The lawmakers have already raised the 3 per cent sales tax to 3½ per cent, making it second only to Washington state's 4 per cent.

Approval Not Easy

Getting a new tax program approved isn't an easy matter. The Minnesota Legislature adjourned April 24 after 3½ months of work without finding the 84 million dollars needed to balance Gov. Orville L. Freeman's proposed 470-million-dollar budget.

The governor, who has recommended increases in liquor, cigarette, tobacco, iron ore, gifts, inheritances and income taxes, called the lawmakers back into special session the very next day to finish the job.

In Massachusetts, Gov. Foster Furcolo's efforts to balance his 456-million-dollar budget have touched off a fight within his Democratic party. He proposed that the Democratic-controlled Legislature enact a sales tax.

However, the No. 1 plank in the Democrats' campaign platform was a stand against the sales tax.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California, a Democrat, has asked a politically friendly Legislature to tax cigarettes, oil and gas and increase taxes on horse racing, beer and income to provide 256 million dollars in new revenue. His headache: a rapidly expanding deficit.

His Order: Economize

In Georgia, economy is the word. Gov. Ernest Vandiver, who ran on a platform of no new taxes unless absolutely necessary, ordered state departments to reduce their operating expenses by 10 per cent during the final quarter of the fiscal year, which ends June 30. The Legislature economized by elimination and consolidation of several agencies.

The governor is holding a tight rein on budget requests. He has a committee studying government reorganization and economy. And he has ordered a crackdown on loose practices in the purchasing and tax departments where there have been irregularities in recent years.

Oklahoma, where Gov. J. Howard Edmondson is trimming the fat from the state payroll and cutting other state expenses, solved part of its revenue problem in an old-fashioned way. Its citizens voted the repeal of prohibition.

Sometimes the answer to a state's financial worries is heavensent. North Dakota is entering the new biennium with a 10-million-dollar surplus, thanks to last year's fine crop harvest.

COMFORTABLE 'COPTER—New helicopter with flying-boat hull, top, has spacious seating for 25 baggage-carrying passengers, bottom. Scheduled for its first flight in 1960, the Sikorsky S-61 has a top speed of over 150 m.p.h. Cabin is 30 feet long.

Old Fire Truck Given to Scouts For Use at Camp

The A. H. Wicks Engine Company's old squad truck, replaced with a modern squad truck this week, was released to the Rip Van Winkle Council Boy Scouts of America by the city's Board of Fire Commissioners at a meeting Tuesday evening.

Acting upon a request by the local Boy Scout council through its camp committee chairman Henry P. Eighmey, the board of fire commissioners awarded the old squad truck for use within the boundaries of Boy Scout Camp Tri-Mount at East Jewett.

Speaking for the fire commissioners, Fire Chief James M. Brett stated that "the board of fire commissioners was pleased to release this truck for such a worthwhile cause to the Boy Scouts to be used at their summer camp."

The chairman of the Boy Scout camp committee revealed that the request for the truck had been made due to the need for a small truck to haul materials, tents and equipment around Camp Tri-Mount. "This truck will be utilized only on camp property," said chairman Eighmey, "and we are most appreciative of the decision of the board of fire commissioners in awarding the truck to our council."

Grange Sunday Set May 5th at Hurley Church

A social hour will follow the service. The county service and hospitality committee will be in charge.

Pomona Grange Master George Mollenhauer and Lecturer Ross K. Osterhoudt ask all county Grangers and guests to attend.

No 'Adams Case' in Albany

Rocky Means Business, Demands Honest Aides

By CHARLES DUMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller is anxious to avoid anything even resembling a "Sherman Adams incident" in his new state administration.

Top officials have been told quietly—and instructed to pass the word down—that the boss means what he says when he promises there will be no hanky-panky on his team.

Strictest Standards

So convinced is Rockefeller that his political career can be wrecked by a single scandal that he has set the strictest standard of purity for the men who serve with him.

The Republican governor has told them that they not only must shun wrongdoing but they also must not do anything that would cast suspicion on them, even though they might be innocent.

In short, the policy is: Dishonest or merely possibly dishonest—out you go!

Observers of the political scene will recall this was the policy proclaimed by Dwight Eisenhower when he assumed the presidency in 1952. Yet, when chief assistant Adams was alleged to have used his influence improperly, the President was reluctant to act.

No Hesitation in Siding

Rockefeller had no hesitation in siding, at least by inference with those who demanded Adams' removal last summer. At that time, Rockefeller declared:

"When it comes to public office, it is just as important to avoid the appearance of wrongdoing as it is to avoid actual wrongdoing."

Rockefeller followed through immediately on taking office. His first act inaugural day was to issue an order setting a "no gifts" policy for his administration.

Even Returns Dime

His aides even went so far as to return a dime sent by some school children.

Later, Rockefeller had his first experience with what some newspapers called "special interest" legislation—a bill that would have enabled Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson to retire at 49, instead of 55.

Wilson, a close adviser of Rockefeller, argued persuasively in the press that the measure was justified because, when he moved up from the Assembly, he lost the right to retire at 45.

Nevertheless, criticism of the bill persisted. And Rockefeller vetoed it.

Earlier this week, a stir was caused in the governor's office by a report that a high official of the State Tax Department had been taking state expense money while staying at his wife's apartment in New York City.

Sets Clear Policy

The governor promptly asked the tax commissioner for "a full accounting."

Rockefeller enunciated his policy most clearly in his third television-radio "Report of the People" last week. He said:

"A public official must not only be personally honest in fact, he must also avoid acts that even give the appearance of dishonesty or misconduct.

". . . It is all too easy to drift into situations where he may become entangled and find himself compromised — under obligation. Thus he becomes trapped.

"He has lost his freedom to act in the sole interest of the people of the state."

The Institute of Design of the Illinois Institute of Technology asked top designers around the world to pick the "best designed products of modern times."

Of 1,000 nominations, who should come out among the top ten but the good old American, Bell System telephone. Needless to say, we're tickled pink (which happens to be one of the most popular colors for this model phone).

So – with all due respect to the engineers and scientists who made the phone so perfect telephonically – this is the day for beauty.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The State Tax Department is preparing its annual spring surprise for truckers—road blocks.

The department said it would operate blocks at scattered points throughout the state to check on whether truckers were conforming to the truck mileage tax law.

Last year, the department checked 5,118 trucks at 96 road blocks and found many overloaded and some without permits and special plates.

The department said it was warning the trucking industry now so that violations could be corrected in advance.

A sound principle of competitive bidding is to keep on when you are sure that the opponents will be able to bring home their contract and know that you can't be hurt if you compete.

Now take a look at the South hand only. Your partner opens with one club and you should respond a spade. Only four high card points but you do have a reasonable spade suit and a singleton diamond.

Normally you will be throught bidding but West doubles, your partner redoubles, East bids two hearts, you pass, West bids three hearts, your partner goes to three spades and East bids four hearts.

Dr. William Lipton of New York, who held the South hand, promptly went to four spades in accordance with the first paragraph principle.

He was right that the opponents could make four hearts. He was pleasantly surprised to make his four spades. West opened the king of hearts and shifted to the king and queen of diamonds. Doc trumped, trumped a heart with dummy's ace, returned to his hand with the queen of trumps, trumped his last heart with dummy's king, drew trumps and eventually lost a trick to the queen of clubs.

The department said it was warning the trucking industry now so that violations could be corrected in advance.

Retired Engineer Honored at 75th Birthday Party

A retired power company engineer, Hubert Smith of High Falls, was honored on his 75th birthday Saturday night with a party at his home. More than 100 relatives and friends called to offer congratulations.

His daughter, Mrs. Chester Kopp and grandchildren Sally, Chester and Charles Hubert of Fenton, Mich., arrived Friday night to be present at the event. Also attending were his sisters, Mrs. Charles McKinnon and Mrs. Ernest Harbord of Caldwell; Mrs. Charles Tears of Walden; Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Harbord and daughters, Carol and Jaye of Caldwell; Mrs. McKinley and daughter, Louise of Fenton, Mich. and Mrs. William Tears of Walden.

Other guests from Kingston, Port Ewen, Ellenville, Rosendale, Stone Ridge, Poughkeepsie and Greenville called in addition to many local friends.

Mr. Smith came to High Falls from Colton in 1920. He became active in church and community activities. He is a member of St. John's Episcopal Church and was a licensed Lay Reader in that church for 25 years. He served as vestryman and later as warden and at present is warden emeritius. He acted as superintendent of the Sunday school for 27 years. A charter member of the High Falls Fire Company, he was treasurer of the High Falls Fire District for 25 years. He was the first president of the High Falls Civic Association.

From 1910 to 1918, he was engineer for Honk Falls Power Co. at Napanoch. Then for two years he was superintendent of the Hydro-Electric Plant of the St. Lawrence Transmission Co. at Colton.

September 12, 1920, he returned to Honk Falls as operating manager. It was then that he and Mrs. Smith moved to High Falls. He then joined the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Co. and became district superintendent of the Rosendale office.

When the Rosendale office was discontinued, he was transferred to the Kingston office as special commercial representative in charge of rural extension and rights of way.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Smith and her assistants. A shower of birthday cards from many friends decorated the wall of the dining room.

Erie, Lackawanna Plan to Merge Railroad Forces

NEW YORK (AP)—Its official—the Erie and Lackawanna Railroads are going to merge, pending stockholders approval.

The two eastern roads so stated Wednesday. The combine means a rail system of 3,119 miles of track extending from northern New Jersey through western New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio to Illinois.

Erie stockholders would get 1¼ shares of common stock in the new company under the proposal for each share of Erie stock they now hold.

Those holding stock in the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad will get a one-for-one stock exchange.

Bond details are still to be worked out and a name for the organization must be chosen.

Stockholders and bondholers of both lines are slated to get a complete set of proposals no later than next fall.

The Interstate Commerce Commission must also approve the merger before it can be effective. Unification can be completed by 1960, say officials of the two lines.

Two weeks of negotiations preceded the announcement. Actually, talks go back as far as 1956, but they included the Delaware and Hudson Railroad. The D. & H. bowed out of the picture April 13.

The merged system would extend from Jersey City and Hoboken, N. J., west to Scranton, Pa.; Binghamton and Buffalo, N. Y.; Youngstown, Cleveland and Akron, Ohio, and Chicago. It would have assets of 737 million dollars.

LEE ANN MERIWETHER

Former 'Miss America' Will Appear Here For New York State Pageant May 1, 2

Lee Ann Meriwether, Miss America of 1955, will make a personal appearance in Kingston Friday night, May 1, when she will appear at the opening night ceremonies of the Miss New York State Pageant at municipal auditorium.

The state pageant is being sponsored by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce and will continue Saturday night.

Friday's pageant program will be open to the public at the auditorium, starting at 8:30 o'clock. The Saturday program will get underway at 8 p. m. Tickets are available for both evenings.

Making the announcement today was Guy Visk of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, who is state director of the pageant. "We are delighted Miss Meriwether was able to clear her busy schedule to be with us for this great show," Mr. Visk said.

After winning the coveted title of Miss America Miss Meriwether then traveled 13,000 miles throughout the United States, South America and Canada for the Miss America Pageant. Upon concluding her reign, she went to work as a regular on the Dave Garroway TODAY show on NBC. During the past three years, has appeared on most of the top television shows including Philco TV Playhouse, Alcoa, Omnibus, Phil Silvers Show, Walter Winchell show with Art Carney, Dragnet, the Millionaire and Matinee Theatre.

The most important event to happen during this period in her life was her marriage to actor Frank Aletter, currently appearing in the Broadway show "Bells Are Ringing" with Judy Holliday. As a bride, the former Miss America is busy learning how to cook. "It's awful," she says, "because he can cook better than I can. But I'm trying." Their goal is to live in San Francisco, raise a family and work in the theatre only when they can work together. The 1955 queen's immediate goal is to make Broadway. She has been gathering experience in that line doing summer stock. She has appeared in the leading woman's roles in the following plays: "Hat Full of Rain," "Affairs of State," "Nature's Way" and "Witness for the Prosecution." Recently Miss Meriwether completed her first starring role in the film "The Fourth Dimensional Man."

She will be one of the pageant's features which will be highlighted by 21 of New York's most beautiful girls competing for the state title. Competition categories are evening gown, talent and swimsuit.

Tickets for the Miss New York State Pageant may be obtained at O'Reilly's (uptown), the Governor Clinton Pharmacy, and at the municiple auditorium box office during the day on May 1 and May 2, dates of the Pageant.

McAdoo-Walbroehl Wedding Is Announced; Ceremony Takes Place at Veteran Church

MRS. CORRELL P. WALBROEHL

Miss Joyce Valerie McAdoo, daughter of Mrs. Elsie E. McAdoo of Port Ewen, exchanged marriage vows with Correll Paul Walbroehl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walbroehl of Saugerties, on Saturday, April 25, at St. John's Church, Veteran.

Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Daniel Daley. It was a double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Robert Ferrigan played the traditional wedding selections and sang the "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus."

White gladioli decorated the church for the occasion. The pews were marked with white ribbon.

IN THE BRIDE'S ABSENCE

Dear Mrs. Post: The day after my daughter was married she had to leave for California. It was a quiet wedding with only the families present and announcements were sent out after to all others. Wedding presents are arriving every day from her country. Since my daughter will be gone for at least six months, would it be proper for me to open the presents and thank the givers for her, or just how should this be handled?

Answer: You should open the presents and send a discription of each to your daughter who could then write a brief but appreciative note of thanks from where she is, saying: "Mother has described the lovely (whatever it is) you sent me. I do thank you for it and am eagerly looking forward to seeing it when I get home."

Plastic Furniture Coverings

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it rude, or in bad taste, to leave a plastic covering on furniture, such as living room sofa and chairs, when entertaining guests—especially when they are expected and there would be time to remove them. LEE ANN MERIWETHER

Former 'Miss America' Will Appear Here For New York State Pageant May 1, 2

Lee Ann Meriwether, Miss America of 1955, will make a personal appearance in Kingston Friday night, May 1, when she will appear at the opening night ceremonies of the Miss New York State Pageant at municipal auditorium.

The state pageant is being sponsored by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce and will continue Saturday night.

Friday's pageant program will be open to the public at the auditorium, starting at 8:30 o'clock. The Saturday program will get underway at 8 p. m. Tickets are available for both evenings.

Making the announcement today was Guy Visk of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, who is state director of the pageant. "We are delighted Miss Meriwether was able to clear her busy schedule to be with us for this great show," Mr. Visk said.

After winning the coveted title of Miss America Miss Meriwether then traveled 13,000 miles throughout the United States, South America and Canada for the Miss America Pageant. Upon concluding her reign, she went to work as a regular on the Dave Garroway TODAY show on NBC. During the past three years, has appeared on most of the top television shows including Philco TV Playhouse, Alcoa, Omnibus, Phil Silvers Show, Walter Winchell show with Art Carney, Dragnet, the Millionaire and Matinee Theatre.

The most important event to happen during this period in her life was her marriage to actor Frank Aletter, currently appearing in the Broadway show "Bells Are Ringing" with Judy Holliday. As a bride, the former Miss America is busy learning how to cook. "It's awful," she says, "because he can cook better than I can. But I'm trying." Their goal is to live in San Francisco, raise a family and work in the theatre only when they can work together. The 1955 queen's immediate goal is to make Broadway. She has been gathering experience in that line doing summer stock. She has appeared in the leading woman's roles in the following plays: "Hat Full of Rain," "Affairs of State," "Nature's Way" and "Witness for the Prosecution." Recently Miss Meriwether completed her first starring role in the film "The Fourth Dimensional Man."

She will be one of the pageant's features which will be highlighted by 21 of New York's most beautiful girls competing for the state title. Competition categories are evening gown, talent and swimsuit.

Rocky Dedicates Rt. 17 Section In Corning Area

CORNING, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller today dedicated a new 1.8-mile section of the Route 17 arterial highway and announced plans for completing the city's arterial route.

Before leaving for Buffalo and a second dedication ceremony, the governor also paused on the new 1,377-foot four-lane bridge spanning the Chemung River to unveil a plaque to Benjamin Patterson, Revolutionary War scout, for whom the bridge is named.

Sees June Contracts

In remarks prepared for delivery at the highway dedication, Rockefeller said that contracts totaling $6 million will be let in June for the final section of the Corning arterial. This section will involve construction of an interchange in the village of Painted Post to ease the flow of traffic at the intersection of Routes 5 and 17.

The interchange will require moving the channel of the Cohocton River 800 feet to the south and the construction of five new bridges.

It is anticipated, Rockefeller said, that this work will be completed within three years.

"The completion of this arterial," he said, "will constitute another important step in the conversion of Route 17 into the Southern Tier-Expressway — which is one of the objectives of my administration.

Boost for Economy

"Such an expressway connecting the Southern Tier with metropolitan New York is certain to provide a tremendous stimulus to the economy of the entire area."

In Buffalo, the governor was to dedicate two dormitories at the State Teachers College.

He promised, "having now put our fiscal house in order," that the state would move forward to meet its growing educational needs.

"I am confident," Rockefeller said, "that sympathetic consideration will be given this matter at the next session of the Legislature.

"New Yorkers have signified overwhelming support of the State University program, through their endorsement of the $250 million bond issue last year. In the light of that mandate, I shall do all in my power to expedite this program."

Tear Gas Halts Widow

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP) — A widow with a shotgun barricaded herself in her apartment for three hours Wednesday and tossed back the tear gas grenades fired by police.

Mrs. Catherine Ranonis, about 60, held 30 policemen at bay by threatening to shoot at them if they stormed her third-floor apartment.

Two policemen tried to sneak up the back stairs and found out she wasn't bluffing. She fired at them, but the pellets lodged in the wall and the two backed off unhurt.

Finally, however, the tear gas got the better of Mrs. Ranonis and officers wearing gas masks entered the apartment and disarmed her.

Sawyer Debaters Finish Fifth In State Finals

Saugerties varsity debaters Nancy Overbagh, Carolyn Roeser, George Popowicz and Paul Kruger rang down the curtain on their 1958-59 debate season Saturday with a surprisingly strong fifth place finish.

First place was taken by Xavier, second by Archbishop Stepinac (NFL state champion), third by Mary Louise Academy, fourth by Jeffersonville and fifth by Saugerties and Jamestown.

The Sawyer comeback, only a week after early elimination in the National Forensic tourney at Syracuse, was highlighted by impressive victories over the NFL runner-up Liberty and Canisius. Two losses to Xavier in the third and fourth rounds blighted Saugerties hopes of a trophy.

The fifth place finish was the highest ever attained by a Saugerties varsity squad in the New York State finals to choose champions in three divisions from 70 member schools. New York City private and parochial schools have dominated the league finals for five years and only Jamestown (1958) had previously reached the final championship fourth round.

Lutheran Church Sets Ascension Festival Service

The Festival of Ascension will be observed Thursday, May 7, at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Atonement, Saugerties.

The observance will include the common service, a Scripture relating to the Ascension, and a pageant, "The Risen and Ascended Lord," written by the Rev. Walter Cowen, pastor of the church. The pageant will be presented after the service.

The pageant will seek to make the message of the risen Lord applicable to present day people and show how Jesus meets the need of all sincere seekers for truth, the pastor said.

Patricia Sloboda of Robinson Street will act as "The Church," presenting an outline of the life, death and resurrection of Jesus, and proclaiming the universality of the Gospel. Various characters approach "The Church," some to criticize, some for guidance, some for comfort.

These are represented as the student, Linda Boettcher of High Woods; the critic, Victoria Wrolsen, High Woods; the sinner, Brian Legg of West Camp; the grieving one, Dorothea J. The congregation and choirs will sing relevant stanzas of hymns after "The Church" has answered each inquirer.

The cherub choir under Mrs. Josephine Canger will sing "Beautiful Savior." Special music will be provided by the senior choir.

Vote Mt. Marion One-Room School To Fire District

Title to the one-room Mt. Marion Schoolhouse, closed since 1957 was released to Mt. Marion-Ruby Fire District by a 22 to 2 vote of former common school district taxpayers Wednesday night at the new Mt. Marion Elementary School.

Twenty-four taxpayers of the former common school district registered and 24 votes were cast.

The transfer of the property to a tax supported district of the community received prior approval by the State Education Department.

The balloting was conducted by Morris Rosenblum, attorney for the Saugerties Central School District, and Mrs. Margaret Marburger, clerk. Board of Education members present were John Lowther, president, and Milton Armstrong.

The transfer of the schoolhouse to a community organization was arranged to provide a community hall for the Mt. Marion area.

The taxpayers voted to close the the school in 1957 by a vote of 55 to 2. However a second proposition on the ballot voted against selling the property at auction and dividing the proceeds among the taxpayers according to their assessments. Some former school districts turned the proceeds of the schoolhouse sale over to the centralized district.

The Festival of Ascension will be observed Thursday, May 7, at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Atonement, Saugerties.

The observance will include the common service, a Scripture relating to the Ascension, and a pageant, "The Risen and Ascended Lord," written by the Rev. Walter Cowen, pastor of the church. The pageant will be presented after the service.

The pageant will seek to make the message of the risen Lord applicable to present day people and show how Jesus meets the need of all sincere seekers for truth, the pastor said.

Patricia Sloboda of Robinson Street will act as "The Church," presenting an outline of the life, death and resurrection of Jesus, and proclaiming the universality of the Gospel. Various characters approach "The Church," some to criticize, some for guidance, some for comfort.

These are represented as the student, Linda Boettcher of High Woods; the critic, Victoria Wrolsen, High Woods; the sinner, Brian Legg of West Camp; the grieving one, Dorothea J. Tracey of Woodstock, the selfish one, Edward Strohsahl, Market Street, Saugerties, and the afflicted one by Joan Strasser, Manor Lane, Saugerties.

The congregation and choirs will sing relevant stanzas of hymns after "The Church" has answered each inquirer.

Vote Mt. Marion One-Room School To Fire District

Title to the one-room Mt. Marion Schoolhouse, closed since 1957 was released to Mt. Marion-Ruby Fire District by a 22 to 2 vote of former common school district taxpayers Wednesday night at the new Mt. Marion Elementary School.

Twenty-four taxpayers of the former common school district registered and 24 votes were cast.

The transfer of the property to a tax supported district of the community received prior approval by the State Education Department.

The balloting was conducted by Morris Rosenblum, attorney for the Saugerties Central School District, and Mrs. Margaret Marburger, clerk. Board of Education members present were John Lowther, president, and Milton Armstrong.

The transfer of the schoolhouse to a community organization was arranged to provide a community hall for the Mt. Marion area.

The taxpayers voted to close the the school in 1957 by a vote of 55 to 2. However a second proposition on the ballot voted against selling the property at auction and dividing the proceeds among the taxpayers according to their assessments. Some former school districts turned the proceeds of the schoolhouse sale over to the centralized district.

Apropos of our recent discussion about the relative merits of Kingston's bowlers compared with those of other cities over the years in the Hudson Valley League, along comes Jack Ferraro to expose another canard—that Kingston bowlers can't hit out of town alleys.

Son of the Old Pro, Jack racked up a brilliant 221.12 average over the last 21 games in the HVBL. This tremendous strike spree included a 703 blast at Middletown and a 719 series at Walden.

In his last 12 road games, the free wheeling Ferraro averaged a mere 225.09, embellishing his 700 sets with a 634 at Newburgh and 653 at Poughkeepsie. His seasonal average of 201.89 for 108 games qualifies him for the HVBL's inner circle and makes him a worthy successor to the mantle worn so elegantly by his father for so many years.

And when somebody comes along to better Jack's final run, we'd like to hear about it.

• Splits and Misses:

Of the most storied teams in ABC tournament history, Pfeiffer Beer of Detroit, broke the oldest major record of the tournament on Feb. 25 with a 3243 series. Captain Ed Lubanski's 700 series at leadoff set the pace as the ABC's only three time champions broke the record of 3234 established in 1938 by Birk Brothers of Chicago. The next afternoon Lubanski became the first man in 56 years to top 2100 in all events. To the 700 team set he added 652 in the doubles and 764 in singles for 2116 to break by 28 pins the 2088 total set in 1957 by Jim Spalding of Louisville. A 10 pin tap that didn't fall on a solid pocket hit in the 10th frame of his third game prevented Lubanski from breaking the all-time singles mark of 775. Bowling two lanes away at the time was Lee Jouglard, who set that record in 1951 when he and Lubanski were Stroh's Beer teammates. Those are mighty totals for the national tournament but don't bet they won't be shattered next time around. Bowling like other sports is revelling in its rocket age. Scores that seemed incredible 20 years ago are commonplace today.

• The Nineteenth Hole:

Youth took an awful beating at Shaker Ridge's ponderous layout Monday when delegations from Twaalfskill and Woodstock went to Albany for the annual Northeastern PGA golf show and dinner. Alex Gerlak and his partner, James Berardi, downed Bob Schoonmaker and Eugene Berardi, the Twaalfskill prexy, 6 up in a nine hole match, mercifully halted by rain. And this without strokes, mind you. Chick Harbert, the former PGA champion who was guest speaker, told some amusing stories. During one of the Masters tournaments he realized he needed a 33 on the last nine to have a chance to win first place. What happened en route to a fantastic 47 furnished the details for a hilarious story. Harbert said Slammin' Sam Snead was one of the few pros ever to make it "big" his first year on the circuit. Ben Hogan tried unsuccessfully for three years, quit and had to be coaxed back. Harbert is opposed to the present out of bounds rule and pledged to do everything in his power to have it abolished. Why are there so few good left handed golfers, Harbert was asked. For one thing, only two per cent of all the golfers in the world bat from the portside. Secondly, all golf courses are topographically designed for right hand swingers.

• A Plausible Boo-Boo:

There is no denying the charms of Loretta Helen Budd, the 1959 Page One Queen. It extends even to the baseball diamond. One of the county's finest umpires was officiating at first base in New Paltz recently when Queen Loretta pranced across the area in shorts, striding in gazelle-like fashion. The umpire turned inevitably to glance longingly toward the Queen. At the precise moment a pickoff play occurred at first base. The ump blew it high, wide and handsome. A sharp rhubarb followed, but the ump defended himself gallantly. "I had a vision in my eyes," he explained.

Dutchess Nine Gets Crucial Run On Squeeze Play

Wappingers Falls edged Saugerties High, 3-2, Wednesday in a 10-inning DCSL baseball game, decided by a squeeze play that the Sawyers apparently had snuffed out.

Moments earlier, the Sawyers had blown a sure-fire double play on a wild threw into left field.

With Detmer on Third, Wappingers called for the squeeze. The Wappingers centerfielder was hung up between third and home but, after a rundown, slid under catcher Whitaker and eluded the tag.

The successful slide climaxed a rugged ball game in which Saugerties was blanked after a two-run first inning and Wappingers picked up single markers in the fourth and seventh innings.

Barry Wolven went the route for Saugerties, permitting seven hits. He gave three walks and fanned seven. Booth of Wappingers limited the Sawyers to four hits and whiffed 10.

HOOKING SHORT STRIKERS

SOMETIMES, TROUT IN HEAVILY FISHED AREAS OF STREAMS WILL NIP THE TRAILING END OF A WORM AND PULL IT IN TWO, THEN REFUSE THE REST OF THE HOOKED WORM. THIS IS FRUSTRATING BECAUSE THE NEXT WHOLE WORM USUALLY GETS THE SAME MANGLING. IF YOU RELEASE LINE WHEN YOU GET A NIBBLE, THE RESULT IS USUALLY THE SAME--NO FISH, A MANGLED WORM. ASSUMING IT IS DOWNSTREAM, PULL BAIT AN INCH OR SO TOWARD YOU WHEN YOU FEEL THE FIRST TUG. THEN THE TROUT REACTS INSTANTLY, GULPING ENTIRE WORM. WAIT A SECOND, THEN SET HOOK.

The next afternoon Lubanski became the first man in 56 years to top 2100 in all events. To the 700 team set he added 652 in the doubles and 764 in singles for 2116 to break by 28 pins the 2088 total set in 1957 by Jim Spalding of Louisville. A 10 pin tap that didn't fall on a solid pocket hit in the 10th frame of his third game prevented Lubanski from breaking the all-time singles mark of 775. Bowling two lanes away at the time was Lee Jouglard, who set that record in 1951 when he and Lubanski were Stroh's Beer teammates. Those are mighty totals for the national tournament but don't bet they won't be shattered next time around. Bowling like other sports is revelling in its rocket age. Scores that seemed incredible 20 years ago are commonplace today.

• The Nineteenth Hole:

Youth took an awful beating at Shaker Ridge's ponderous layout Monday when delegations from Twaalfskill and Woodstock went to Albany for the annual Northeastern PGA golf show and dinner. Alex Gerlak and his partner, James Berardi, downed Bob Schoonmaker and Eugene Berardi, the Twaalfskill prexy, 6 up in a nine hole match, mercifully halted by rain. And this without strokes, mind you. Chick Harbert, the former PGA champion who was guest speaker, told some amusing stories. During one of the Masters tournaments he realized he needed a 33 on the last nine to have a chance to win first place. What happened en route to a fantastic 47 furnished the details for a hilarious story. Harbert said Slammin' Sam Snead was one of the few pros ever to make it "big" his first year on the circuit. Ben Hogan tried unsuccessfully for three years, quit and had to be coaxed back. Harbert is opposed to the present out of bounds rule and pledged to do everything in his power to have it abolished. Why are there so few good left handed golfers, Harbert was asked. For one thing, only two per cent of all the golfers in the world bat from the portside. Secondly, all golf courses are topographically designed for right hand swingers.

• A Plausible Boo-Boo:

There is no denying the charms of Loretta Helen Budd, the 1959 Page One Queen. It extends even to the baseball diamond. One of the county's finest umpires was officiating at first base in New Paltz recently when Queen Loretta pranced across the area in shorts, striding in gazelle-like fashion. The umpire turned inevitably to glance longingly toward the Queen. At the precise moment a pickoff play occurred at first base. The ump blew it high, wide and handsome. A sharp rhubarb followed, but the ump defended himself gallantly. "I had a vision in my eyes," he explained.

Dutchess Nine Gets Crucial Run On Squeeze Play

Wappingers Falls edged Saugerties High, 3-2, Wednesday in a 10-inning DCSL baseball game, decided by a squeeze play that the Sawyers apparently had snuffed out.

Moments earlier, the Sawyers had blown a sure-fire double play on a wild threw into left field.

With Detmer on Third, Wappingers called for the squeeze. The Wappingers centerfielder was hung up between third and home but, after a rundown, slid under catcher Whitaker and eluded the tag.

The successful slide climaxed a rugged ball game in which Saugerties was blanked after a two-run first inning and Wappingers picked up single markers in the fourth and seventh innings.

Barry Wolven went the route for Saugerties, permitting seven hits. He gave three walks and fanned seven. Booth of Wappingers limited the Sawyers to four hits and whiffed 10.

White Sox Tonic for Yanks

Undesirables Boost Braves

Three Home Runs Check Bombers' Losing Streak

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

What is it about the Chicago White Sox that peps up the New York Yankees?

The Yankees had their first run-in of the season with the White Sox Wednesday. They went into Comiskey Park below .500 after losing four in a row. Bob Turley, the 'Yanks' right-handed ace, had lost two straight. And the club hadn't been able to score twice in any of its last 51 innings.

So the Yankees rapped three home runs, scored twice in the first inning and beat the White Sox 5-2. Turley evened his record at 2-2, although giving up nine hits.

That hoisted the Yankees to fifth with a .500 record and helped to hand the Cleveland Indians, whose game with Boston was rained out, a 1½-game lead. The Baltimore Orioles remained tied with Chicago for second despite a 7-1 loss at Detroit in a game held to five innings by rain. Kansas City defeated Washington 7-6.

Mantle Hits Homer

Mickey Mantle, Hank Bauer and Bill Skowron homered for the Yankees, who had eight hits. Mantle's came with a man on in the first off loser Ray Moore (0-2).

Only Nellie Fox, who was 4-for-5, gave Turley any real trouble. Frank Lary (1-2) became the first complete-game pitcher this season for the Tigers. Larry Osborne and Al Kaline homered for Detroit in a three-run first inning against loser Arnie Portocarrero (0-3).

Hector Lopez drove in four runs for the A's, singling home the winner in the ninth. He also hit a two-run homer. Tom Gorman (1-0) won it in relief after the Nats chased Ralph Terry in a three-run ninth that tied it 6-all. Vito Valentinetti (0-2) was the loser in relief.

Logan, Covington Home Runs Beat Cardinals, 9-3

By ED WILKS
AP Sports Writer

The Milwaukee Braves are back in the National League lead.

Who put them there?

Johnny Logan and Wes Covington, the men Manager Fred Haney had announced he was going to bench after the Braves lost two in a row to Cincinnati and fell out of first place.

Shortstop Logan belted his first homer of the year, with a man on, in a three-run second inning against St. Louis Wednesday night. Left fielder Covington blasted his first of the year, also a two-run shot, in the third and the Braves were off to a 9-3 victory.

The win gives Milwaukee a .042 percentage edge over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who slipped to second with a 5-4, ninth-inning defeat at Philadelphia. Cincinnati powered into third, ripping the Chicago Cubs 18-8 as San Francsco skidded to fourth with a 3-2 loss at Pittsburgh.

While Logan (1-for-3) and Covington (2-for-4) fought to hold their starting positions, Hank Aaron continued his hot hitting with a 4-for-5 night, including his fifth homer, and lifted his league-leading average to .526. Billy Bruton also homered for the Braves, who collected 15 hits and made Lew Burdette's fourth straight victory a breeze.

Winless Larry Jackson lost his third for the last-place Cards.

Reds Get 18 Hits

The Phils caught up with Dodger southpaw Johnny Podres (2-2) with two runs in the ninth. Four singles did it, with pinch hitter Bob Bowman driving in the tying run and pinch hitter Dave Philley delivering the clincher against reliever Art Fowler. Jack Meyer (2-1) won it in relief of Robin Roberts.

The Reds swung for 18 hits, counting three homers from Frank Robinson, Roy McMillan and Gus Bell. Brooks Lawrence (2-1) was staked to a 10-0 lead in two innings but needed relief help from Bob Mabe after a four-run seventh had cut the Reds' edge to 12-8. Moe Drabowsky (1-2) lost it.

The Pirates were blanked on three hits by southpaw Johnny Antonelli (3-1) until they broke loose for a three-run seventh inning capped by Bill Mazeroski's two-out, solo homer. A triple by Bob Clemente, a double by Smoky Burgess and Dick Stuart's single tied it. Ron Kline won his first.

New Paltz Thinclads Winners in Quadrangular Meet

Undesirables Boost Braves

Three Home Runs Check Bombers' Losing Streak

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

What is it about the Chicago White Sox that peps up the New York Yankees?

The Yankees had their first run-in of the season with the White Sox Wednesday. They went into Comiskey Park below .500 after losing four in a row. Bob Turley, the 'Yanks' right-handed ace, had lost two straight. And the club hadn't been able to score twice in any of its last 51 innings.

So the Yankees rapped three home runs, scored twice in the first inning and beat the White Sox 5-2. Turley evened his record at 2-2, although giving up nine hits.

That hoisted the Yankees to fifth with a .500 record and helped to hand the Cleveland Indians, whose game with Boston was rained out, a 1½-game lead. The Baltimore Orioles remained tied with Chicago for second despite a 7-1 loss at Detroit in a game held to five innings by rain. Kansas City defeated Washington 7-6.

Mantle Hits Homer

Mickey Mantle, Hank Bauer and Bill Skowron homered for the Yankees, who had eight hits. Mantle's came with a man on in the first off loser Ray Moore (0-2).

Only Nellie Fox, who was 4-for-5, gave Turley any real trouble. Frank Lary (1-2) became the first complete-game pitcher this season for the Tigers. Larry Osborne and Al Kaline homered for Detroit in a three-run first inning against loser Arnie Portocarrero (0-3).

Hector Lopez drove in four runs for the A's, singling home the winner in the ninth. He also hit a two-run homer. Tom Gorman (1-0) won it in relief after the Nats chased Ralph Terry in a three-run ninth that tied it 6-all. Vito Valentinetti (0-2) was the loser in relief.

Logan, Covington Home Runs Beat Cardinals, 9-3

By ED WILKS
AP Sports Writer

The Milwaukee Braves are back in the National League lead.

Who put them there?

Johnny Logan and Wes Covington, the men Manager Fred Haney had announced he was going to bench after the Braves lost two in a row to Cincinnati and fell out of first place.

Shortstop Logan belted his first homer of the year, with a man on, in a three-run second inning against St. Louis Wednesday night. Left fielder Covington blasted his first of the year, also a two-run shot, in the third and the Braves were off to a 9-3 victory.

The win gives Milwaukee a .042 percentage edge over the Los Angeles Dodgers, who slipped to second with a 5-4, ninth-inning defeat at Philadelphia. Cincinnati powered into third, ripping the Chicago Cubs 18-8 as San Francsco skidded to fourth with a 3-2 loss at Pittsburgh.

While Logan (1-for-3) and Covington (2-for-4) fought to hold their starting positions, Hank Aaron continued his hot hitting with a 4-for-5 night, including his fifth homer, and lifted his league-leading average to .526. Billy Bruton also homered for the Braves, who collected 15 hits and made Lew Burdette's fourth straight victory a breeze.

Winless Larry Jackson lost his third for the last-place Cards.

Reds Get 18 Hits

The Phils caught up with Dodger southpaw Johnny Podres (2-2) with two runs in the ninth. Four singles did it, with pinch hitter Bob Bowman driving in the tying run and pinch hitter Dave Philley delivering the clincher against reliever Art Fowler. Jack Meyer (2-1) won it in relief of Robin Roberts.

The Reds swung for 18 hits, counting three homers from Frank Robinson, Roy McMillan and Gus Bell. Brooks Lawrence (2-1) was staked to a 10-0 lead in two innings but needed relief help from Bob Mabe after a four-run seventh had cut the Reds' edge to 12-8. Moe Drabowsky (1-2) lost it.

The Pirates were blanked on three hits by southpaw Johnny Antonelli (3-1) until they broke loose for a three-run seventh inning capped by Bill Mazeroski's two-out, solo homer. A triple by Bob Clemente, a double by Smoky Burgess and Dick Stuart's single tied it. Ron Kline won his first.

HENDRIK HUDSON'S ARRIVAL — The above mural, designed and painted by Earl B. Winslow, Woodstock artist, has a prominent spot in the official New York State folder published in conjunction with the 350th anniversary of the Hudson-Champlain celebration.

Earl Winslow Mural Featured In Hudson-Champlain Book

Weak Spots Seen In Soviet Offer On Nuclear Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. authorities see many potential loopholes in the Soviet offer of limited inspection to back up a nuclear test ban.

With only a general outline of the Soviet idea presented thus far, officials here have found enough weak spots to make the plan unacceptable to the West.

They are awaiting clarification before deciding whether the proposal shows promise of breaking the long deadlock in the Geneva talks on banning nuclear tests.

While Western powers had called for an inspection system to police any agreement to halt atomic explosions, Moscow had been pushing for veto power.

In a switch Tuesday night, the Soviets announced in Geneva they would cooperate in a veto-free system of spot checking the sites of suspected nuclear explosions — provided the Big Three atomic powers fix in advance the number of such checks to be allowed each year.

Thomas Doyle Arraigned

It was Thomas Doyle of Valley Street, not Timothy Doyle who was arraigned in County Court Wednesday on a charge of indecent exposure. A plea of innocent was entered and the case was set down for disposition in June to which time the present term of County Court will be adjourned. Sherwood E. Davis appeared for Thomas Doyle at the time of arraignment.

Violence Is Heavy In Kentucky Strike

WHITESBURG, Ky. (AP) — A nonunion coal loading ramp was dynamited Wednesday night during one of the heaviest outbreaks of violence since the United Mine Workers strike began in eastern Kentucky.

Earlier in the day another ramp was dynamited and guards at a mine exchanged more than 200 shots with hidden snipers.

Paul Tayloe, co-owner of the Ulvah Coal Co., where the latest blast occurred, said union pickets held to railroad cars entering the ramp and tossed dynamite under the tipple.

One guard at the ramp received a slight leg injury. Another man on the ramp was unhurt.

Tayloe and his partner M. W. Ritchie said the ramp would operate today.

Tayloe has been one of the leaders of resistance to UMW demands during the 53-day-old strike.

Ford Foundation Contest Planned For Playwrights

The Ford Foundation has called for nominations of American playwrights for the second year of its production-subsidy program. Deadline for nominations now being invited is May 16, 1959.

Eight plays to be produced next fall with subsidies under the first year of the program were announced on March 10.

Producers, agents, directors, critics, heads of university drama departments, and others in the theatre have been invited by the Foundation to make nominations. In addition, playwrights themselves may write to the New Dramatists Committee, 130 West 56th Street, New York, to seek a nomination. Scripts nominated by the committee will be considered on the same basis as other nominations.

Final recommendations will be made to the Foundation by a panel of leading persons in the theatre. No member of the first-year panel will be on the second-year panel.

For U. S. Citizens

To be eligible, playwrights must be American citizens, must have written two full-length plays, and "must have reached a stage in their development where the opportunity of having a play performed would be of importance to their careers," W. McNeil Lowry, director of the Foundation's program in the Humanities and the Arts, said.

The Foundation hopes to select up to 10 scripts for the program. Theatres to be announced after the plays are selected will produce them with partial production subsidies from the Foundation. The playwrights will receive royalties and travel and living expenses while participating in the production.

Curtis Case Put Off Two Weeks

The case of Terry Curtis, 19, of Fairview Avenue, temporary bartender at Mirror Lake Lodge, Ulster Park, charged with selling alcoholic beverages to a minor, has been adjourned for two weeks.

Michael Nardone, atorney for Curtis, asked for a jury trial at the hearing Wednesday night before Justice of the Peace John Beaver of Esopus. The case was adjourned for two weeks.

Curtis was arrested Saturday night, April 18, by Troopers James Kaljian and William Brennan of the Highland state police.

Upon arraignment at that time he entered a plea of innocent. He was paroled in custody of his employer, Mrs. Fannie Camm.

It is alleged that Curtis sold a bottle of beer to Robert J. Benkert, 17, of South Wall Street.

Iron and Calcium

Molasses is rich in assimilable iron and in calcium. You make cookies for your youngsters? Then it's a good idea to choose a recipe in which molasses is used as all or part of the sweetening.

HENDRIK HUDSON'S ARRIVAL — The above mural, designed and painted by Earl B. Winslow, Woodstock artist, has a prominent spot in the official New York State folder published in conjunction with the 350th anniversary of the Hudson-Champlain celebration.

Earl Winslow Mural Featured In Hudson-Champlain Book

A sixteen foot by four foot mural depicting the arrival of Hendrik Hudson and his Half Moon entering the Catskills in 1609, designed and painted by Earl B. Winslow of Woodstock, is prominently displayed in the official brochure of the Hudson-Champlain celebration.

Origin of the mural was conceived by Augustus P. Modjeska of Woodstock, president of the Modjeska Sign Studios, Inc., early in 1958. With the coming of the 1959 Hudson-Champlain celebration, Modjeska suggested the mural idea to the Sawdust Trail proprietors.

75,000 Copies Printed

Earl B. Winslow was commissioned to design and paint the picture, which now appears in the New York State brochure, of which 75,000 have been printed and are now being distributed to travel agencies throughout the country.

Winslow has long been associated with and active in advertising and magazine illustrating having had work in the Saturday Evening Post, Outdoor Life, Liberty, Cosmopolitan and several other publications.

He also has many book illustrations in the adult and children's field. Winslow is a life member of the Society of Illustrators of New York City, a member of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen. He has exhibited in both local and national watercolor and oil shows. A former teacher in Pratt Institute, he is now association with the Visual Art school in New York.

Weak Spots Seen In Soviet Offer On Nuclear Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. authorities see many potential loopholes in the Soviet offer of limited inspection to back up a nuclear test ban.

With only a general outline of the Soviet idea presented thus far, officials here have found enough weak spots to make the plan unacceptable to the West.

They are awaiting clarification before deciding whether the proposal shows promise of breaking the long deadlock in the Geneva talks on banning nuclear tests.

While Western powers had called for an inspection system to police any agreement to halt atomic explosions, Moscow had been pushing for veto power.

In a switch Tuesday night, the Soviets announced in Geneva they would cooperate in a veto-free system of spot checking the sites of suspected nuclear explosions — provided the Big Three atomic powers fix in advance the number of such checks to be allowed each year.

Thomas Doyle Arraigned

It was Thomas Doyle of Valley Street, not Timothy Doyle who was arraigned in County Court Wednesday on a charge of indecent exposure. A plea of innocent was entered and the case was set down for disposition in June to which time the present term of County Court will be adjourned. Sherwood E. Davis appeared for Thomas Doyle at the time of arraignment.

Violence Is Heavy In Kentucky Strike

WHITESBURG, Ky. (AP) — A nonunion coal loading ramp was dynamited Wednesday night during one of the heaviest outbreaks of violence since the United Mine Workers strike began in eastern Kentucky.

Earlier in the day another ramp was dynamited and guards at a mine exchanged more than 200 shots with hidden snipers.

Paul Tayloe, co-owner of the Ulvah Coal Co., where the latest blast occurred, said union pickets held to railroad cars entering the ramp and tossed dynamite under the tipple.

One guard at the ramp received a slight leg injury. Another man on the ramp was unhurt.

Tayloe and his partner M. W. Ritchie said the ramp would operate today.

Tayloe has been one of the leaders of resistance to UMW demands during the 53-day-old strike.

Ford Foundation Contest Planned For Playwrights

The Ford Foundation has called for nominations of American playwrights for the second year of its production-subsidy program. Deadline for nominations now being invited is May 16, 1959.

Eight plays to be produced next fall with subsidies under the first year of the program were announced on March 10.

Producers, agents, directors, critics, heads of university drama departments, and others in the theatre have been invited by the Foundation to make nominations. In addition, playwrights themselves may write to the New Dramatists Committee, 130 West 56th Street, New York, to seek a nomination. Scripts nominated by the committee will be considered on the same basis as other nominations.

Final recommendations will be made to the Foundation by a panel of leading persons in the theatre. No member of the first-year panel will be on the second-year panel.

For U. S. Citizens

To be eligible, playwrights must be American citizens, must have written two full-length plays, and "must have reached a stage in their development where the opportunity of having a play performed would be of importance to their careers," W. McNeil Lowry, director of the Foundation's program in the Humanities and the Arts, said.

The Foundation hopes to select up to 10 scripts for the program. Theatres to be announced after the plays are selected will produce them with partial production subsidies from the Foundation. The playwrights will receive royalties and travel and living expenses while participating in the production.

Senators Vote To Halt Marine Force Reduction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators voted unanimously today to halt a reduction in the Marine Corps ordered by Pentagon leaders in defiance of Congress.

They tacked on to a big catchall supplemental money bill a rider by Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) that would tie up Navy personnel funds unless the strength of the Marines is increased to 200,000.

By a similar voice vote the Senate Wednesday added a rider by Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La) that would require a minimum Army of 900,000 or tie up Army operating funds.

"I think the politicians who are running the Army ought to sit up and take notice," Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) told the Senate.

Congress provided more funds than asked by President Eisenhower last year and directed that the Army be maintained at 900,000 and the Marines at 200,000.

Instead, civilian defense leaders have been reducing both forces, aiming at an Army of 870,000 and Marine Corps of 175,000 by the end of the current fiscal year next June 30.

Must Die for Duncan Role

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — Luis Moya must die in the gas chamber for his part in the strangulation of nurse Olga Duncan.

A jury so decreed Wednesday night. Moya is the final member of a trio convicted of first-degree murder in the slaying of the 30-year-old pregnant nurse.

Moya and Augustine Baldonado said they were hired to kill the Canadian-born nurse by Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, the victim's intensely jealous mother-in-law. The two men kidnaped her from her Santa Barbara, Calif., apartment last Nov. 17, strangled her and dumped the body in a roadside grave.

Mrs. Duncan and Baldonado are awaiting automatic review of their death sentences.

On-And-On to Run In Derby Saturday

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — On-And-On, Calumet Farm's hope for a third straight Kentucky Derby victory, was a surprise entry today as 18 of the finest 3-year-old horses in the land were named for the 85th running of America's glamor race.

As late as Wednesday, trainer Jimmy Jones had announced that the famous red and blue silks of Mrs. Gene Markey's Calumet Farm would not be in the starting lineup because On-And-On had failed to perform to expectations in prep races. On-And-On showed great speed in races at Keeneland but was a badly beaten fourth at Churchill Downs in a 7-furlong race won by Brookmeade Stable's Sword Dancer Saturday.

If all face the barrier at 4:30 p.m. EST Saturday, the 1¼-mile classic will carry a gross value of $165,000 with a net of $120,900 and a garland of red roses going to the winner.

Deaths

LONDON (AP)—Gen. Sir Kenneth Anderson, 67, commander of the Allied 1st Army in the Tunisian campaign of World War II, died Wednesday in Gibraltar. After the war he commanded British troops in east Africa and was governor of Gibraltar from 1947 until his retirement in 1952.

Bush Heads Group Of 40 to Bolster Freedom Frontier

NEW YORK (AP)—A group of 40 distinguished Americans, alarmed at the economic gains by Russia and Communist China and fearful of isolationism at home, has formed "The Committee to Strengthen the Frontiers of Freedom."

Dr. Vannevar Bush, director of the Office of Research and Development in World War II, was named chairman. Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of the American Assembly and former president of Brown University, was named vice chairman.

Must Alert Public

The committee's goal, said Wriston, is "to alert the American public to the urgent need for effective executive and congressional action aimed at making more secure the economic, political and military foundations of all nations which are free."

He said the committee, announced Wednesday, is politically bi-partisan and has no official standing.

Dr. James B. Conant, president emeritus of Harvard University and a member of the newly formed committee, said the group has no intention of supporting political candidates who represent its point of view.

Two Vital Points

Wriston said the committee is sorely concerned on two points:

1. "The Russians and Chinese have developed economically to a phenomenal degree and have launched vast programs of economic aid abroad which constitute a dramatic and perhaps decisive change in the character and dimensions of the struggle between the nations of the West and the Soviet bloc."

2. "Isolationism is deeply embedded in our history and even more deeply embedded in our tradition; it will take more than a single generation to extirpate it."

Backs Aid Program

The committee asked public support for President Eisenhower's nearly 4 billion-dollar foreign aid program which is under strong challenge in Congress and may face heavy cuts for the coming fiscal year.

Committee members include Mrs. Arthur Hays Sulzberger, wife of the publisher of The New York Times; Mrs. Ogden Reid, former board chairman of The New York Herald Tribune; H. Rowan Gaither Jr., former board chairman of the Ford Foundation; Dr. Grayson Kirk, president of Columbia University; Samuel Goldwyn, motion picture producer;

Barry Bingham, president of the Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal; The Rev. Laurence J. McGinley, president of Fordham University; The Rev. Daniel A. Poling, editor of the Christian Herald; Tracy S. Voorhees, former under-secretary of the Army; Miss Anna Lord Strauss, civic leader; Stanley Marcus, president of Neiman-Marcus, Dallas department store, and Samuel I. Rosenman, former New York State Supreme Court justice and advisor to the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Her First Swim In Years Saves Mate, Children

HYNDMAN, Pa. (AP) — "It was a horrible experience, but thank God my husband and children are all right."

So exclaimed Mrs. Nellie Bridges of Corringanville, Md., Wednesday after she dived into a rain-swollen stream to summon aid for her husband and three children, trapped in their partially submerged auto.

Mrs. Bridges, 41, who was driving, said she missed a curve on a country road near the Pennsylvania-Maryland line about 20 miles southwest of Bedford, Pa., and the car plunged into the creek.

Mrs. Bridges said: "We were in about five feet of water in midstream. The water was very cold but I kept on going. I hadn't swam for more than 23 years, long before I was married. But I knew I had to reach shore."

She ran about half a mile to a farmhourse and phoned for help.

Two volunteer firemen swam to the car and brought the father and children to shore.

Going to Australia

CHICAGO (AP)—Stanley Yankus, Michigan farmer who rebelled against federal regulations on planting wheat, said today he will move to Australia.

His decision was made public in a copyrighted story in the Chicago Daily News which sponsored a preview trip to Australia by the Dowagiac, Mich., man.

Yankus' reason for the move, he said, is that he thinks freedom has a greater future in Australia than in the United States.

He says he believes this country has only one last chance to save itself against socialism. It can be saved, he said, only by the public writing Congress urging repeal of the 1938 Agricultural Adjustment Act.

House Upholds Ike's Veto of Electric Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today upheld President Eisenhower's veto of a rural electrification bill.

The vote was 280-146 in favor of passing the bill over the President's veto. This was four short of the two-thirds necessary to override. It killed the bill.

Senate Beat Veto

The President vetoed the bill last Monday and the Senate overrode the veto Tuesday by a vote of 64-29.

The House decision kept intact Eisenhower's record of never having had a veto overridden.

This bill was the 138th vetoed by the President since he took office early in 1953.

The bill would have stripped from Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson his power to veto loans to cooperatives for rural electric and telephone service.

4 Democrats Switch

Four Democrats joined 142 Republicans in upholding the President. Six Republicans and 274 Democrats voted to override.

There was no debate before the roll-call vote.

Both sides recognized before the House vote that it looked like a toss-up as to which would win.

Ave Beats Harry

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Truman lost a bet today when former Gov. Averell Harriman showed up ahead of time for a pre-breakfast stroll.

Truman, waiting in the lobby of the Hotel Carlyle, bet a photographer a breakfast that Harriman would not arrive by 7:30 a. m., the appointed time. But the former governor appeared at 7:25.

Truman, guest of Harriman for breakfast, promised to pay off at a later date.

GEOFFREY N. FLETCHER

Geoffrey N. Fletcher, co-owner of the Photo Workshop on Broadway, has been appointed official potographer for the Miss New York State Pageant, it was announced today by Guy A. Visk, director.

Visk said that Fletcher, "a fine portrait and commercial photographer, as well as an aerial photographer, who does his own flying," came to Kingston in 1942. After graduation from Kingston High School he attended Hillyer College, Hartford, Conn., and Albany State Teachers College.

The pageant will be held May 1 and 2 at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium.

Lashes Up to Governor

DelawareAdopts Whipping Bill as Robbery Penalty

DOVER, Del. (AP)—Delaware's Legislature, concerned by an increase in the crime rate, has passed a bill making whipping mandatory for people convicted of robbery.

The bill says: 20 to 40 lashes for the first offense and not less than 30 for each subsequent conviction.

The House passed the Senate version Wednesday 22-3. Gov. J. Caleb Boggs, however, declined comment when asked what he thought of the bill.

He said he would decide early next week about signing it.

If he does sign, it will be the first time in the history of the state that whipping has been mandatory punishment for a crime.

In the old days whipping was used to punish wife beating, theft and a variety of other crimes, but it was always imposed at the discretion of the judge. The present sentence for robbery for example, is a fine of not less than $500 and imprisonment for 3 to 25 years, plus not more than 40 lashes if the judge wishes.

For seven years there have been no official whippings in Delaware.

The office of Public Governor of the New York Stock Exchange was created in 1938 so that the public viewpoint would be represented on the board.

Godfreys' Chest Tumor Cancerous; Loses Lung Part

NEW YORK (AP)—An operation disclosed today that Arthur Godfrey's chest tumor is cancerous. Physicians are removing it.

One of the radio-TV star's doctors said at 10:30 a. m. that the operation would take until 11:30 a. m. Godfrey was taken to the operating room at 7:25 a. m.

His condition was said to be excellent.

In a statement issued during the operation, the doctor said:

"The lesion of Mr. Godfrey's left lung has been identified as being a malignant tumor. The section of the lung containing the tumor is being removed. His condition is excellent."

Three physicians, three nurses and an anesthetist attended Godfrey in the operating room of the Columbia - Presbyterian Medical Center.

Senators Vote To Halt Marine Force Reduction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators voted unanimously today to halt a reduction in the Marine Corps ordered by Pentagon leaders in defiance of Congress.

They tacked on to a big catchall supplemental money bill a rider by Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) that would tie up Navy personnel funds unless the strength of the Marines is increased to 200,000.

By a similar voice vote the Senate Wednesday added a rider by Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La) that would require a minimum Army of 900,000 or tie up Army operating funds.

"I think the politicians who are running the Army ought to sit up and take notice," Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) told the Senate.

Congress provided more funds than asked by President Eisenhower last year and directed that the Army be maintained at 900,000 and the Marines at 200,000.

Instead, civilian defense leaders have been reducing both forces, aiming at an Army of 870,000 and Marine Corps of 175,000 by the end of the current fiscal year next June 30.

Must Die for Duncan Role

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — Luis Moya must die in the gas chamber for his part in the strangulation of nurse Olga Duncan.

A jury so decreed Wednesday night. Moya is the final member of a trio convicted of first-degree murder in the slaying of the 30-year-old pregnant nurse.

Moya and Augustine Baldonado said they were hired to kill the Canadian-born nurse by Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, the victim's intensely jealous mother-in-law. The two men kidnaped her from her Santa Barbara, Calif., apartment last Nov. 17, strangled her and dumped the body in a roadside grave.

Mrs. Duncan and Baldonado are awaiting automatic review of their death sentences.

On-And-On to Run In Derby Saturday

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — On-And-On, Calumet Farm's hope for a third straight Kentucky Derby victory, was a surprise entry today as 18 of the finest 3-year-old horses in the land were named for the 85th running of America's glamor race.

As late as Wednesday, trainer Jimmy Jones had announced that the famous red and blue silks of Mrs. Gene Markey's Calumet Farm would not be in the starting lineup because On-And-On had failed to perform to expectations in prep races. On-And-On showed great speed in races at Keeneland but was a badly beaten fourth at Churchill Downs in a 7-furlong race won by Brookmeade Stable's Sword Dancer Saturday.

If all face the barrier at 4:30 p.m. EST Saturday, the 1¼-mile classic will carry a gross value of $165,000 with a net of $120,900 and a garland of red roses going to the winner.

Deaths

LONDON (AP)—Gen. Sir Kenneth Anderson, 67, commander of the Allied 1st Army in the Tunisian campaign of World War II, died Wednesday in Gibraltar. After the war he commanded British troops in east Africa and was governor of Gibraltar from 1947 until his retirement in 1952.

Bush Heads Group Of 40 to Bolster Freedom Frontier

NEW YORK (AP)—A group of 40 distinguished Americans, alarmed at the economic gains by Russia and Communist China and fearful of isolationism at home, has formed "The Committee to Strengthen the Frontiers of Freedom."

Dr. Vannevar Bush, director of the Office of Research and Development in World War II, was named chairman. Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of the American Assembly and former president of Brown University, was named vice chairman.

Must Alert Public

The committee's goal, said Wriston, is "to alert the American public to the urgent need for effective executive and congressional action aimed at making more secure the economic, political and military foundations of all nations which are free."

He said the committee, announced Wednesday, is politically bi-partisan and has no official standing.

Dr. James B. Conant, president emeritus of Harvard University and a member of the newly formed committee, said the group has no intention of supporting political candidates who represent its point of view.

Two Vital Points

Wriston said the committee is sorely concerned on two points:

1. "The Russians and Chinese have developed economically to a phenomenal degree and have launched vast programs of economic aid abroad which constitute a dramatic and perhaps decisive change in the character and dimensions of the struggle between the nations of the West and the Soviet bloc."

2. "Isolationism is deeply embedded in our history and even more deeply embedded in our tradition; it will take more than a single generation to extirpate it."

Board Eliminates Driver Training, Some Art Courses

The Board of Education at its regular meeting Monday again discussed the elimination of driver training courses and of one art position from the schedule for the coming school year. The board decided reluctantly to adhere to their decision made a week ago. The decision, they said, was based on the necessity for economy, and not because they want to eliminate either of these services.

It is proposed to offer driver training as a summer school course this year. Under this program the state makes a contribution toward the cost of the course. This, plus a registration fee of $3, paid by the individual taking driver training, will finance a good part of the total cost. Thirty-six pupils can be accommodated this summer. The course will cover six weeks from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. and requires a pupil's devoting not less than 47 hours to the training. The course includes both book work and training behind the wheel. The board plans to continue the offering of driver training under the adult education program, since that is largely financed under state support.

Each pupil will attend 2 hours per day, four days per week. On two days, each pupil will be in class from 8 to 10. On two other days, the pupil will be in the driver training car for approximately two hours per day. The on-the-road training will be for pupils in groups of four. Some will be scheduled between 8 and 10; some between 1 and 3; and others between 3 and 5. This schedule of hours may make it possible for many who take the course to work during the summer as well.

Only Two Art Teachers

The decision not to include the third art teacher on next year's staff was also made reluctantly by the board, and with the understanding that the offering of art in the junior high school next year will be on a minimum level of four periods per week for each pupil for a period of ten weeks. It will be necessary under this schedule, also, to reduce the art offering in the elementary grades so that the subject will have to be taught in the first and second grades also in two of the third grades by the regular classroom teacher.

In the senior high school, grades 9-12, the following art courses will be offered, basic art; crafts 1 and 2; design in living 1 and 2; drawing and painting 1 and 2 (each of these courses is a half-year offering except for basic art, which is a full-year course).

In discussing the problem of school costs, board members pointed out that state aid has not increased as mandated costs of education have increased. "Until the state brings its support of education in line with current costs," one board member said, "the increased demands of school budgets places an unfair burden on people who pay real estate taxes."

Discuss 5-Year Term

The board discussed a new chapter of the laws passed by the last legislature which makes possible the election of board members for three years rather than five, as is currently the practice locally. The decision of the board was to remain with the present plan which calls for a board member's term being five years. For the next few years, some local board positions will be for less than five years, until the five-year terms can be placed fully in effect. Eventually all will be on a five-year term basis.

Dates were set by the board for the sale of the West Camp and Quarryville School buildings. The sale of the West Camp building will occur May 20 at 7:30 p. m. at the site; the Quarryville building will be sold May 27 at 7:30 p. m. at the site.

Several members of the board plan to attend the area school boards meeting at New Paltz. It is a dinner meeting at the New Paltz Central School.

Board Eliminates Driver Training, Some Art Courses

The Board of Education at its regular meeting Monday again discussed the elimination of driver training courses and of one art position from the schedule for the coming school year. The board decided reluctantly to adhere to their decision made a week ago. The decision, they said, was based on the necessity for economy, and not because they want to eliminate either of these services.

It is proposed to offer driver training as a summer school course this year. Under this program the state makes a contribution toward the cost of the course. This, plus a registration fee of $3, paid by the individual taking driver training, will finance a good part of the total cost. Thirty-six pupils can be accommodated this summer. The course will cover six weeks from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. and requires a pupil's devoting not less than 47 hours to the training. The course includes both book work and training behind the wheel. The board plans to continue the offering of driver training under the adult education program, since that is largely financed under state support.

Each pupil will attend 2 hours per day, four days per week. On two days, each pupil will be in class from 8 to 10. On two other days, the pupil will be in the driver training car for approximately two hours per day. The on-the-road training will be for pupils in groups of four. Some will be scheduled between 8 and 10; some between 1 and 3; and others between 3 and 5. This schedule of hours may make it possible for many who take the course to work during the summer as well.

Only Two Art Teachers

The decision not to include the third art teacher on next year's staff was also made reluctantly by the board, and with the understanding that the offering of art in the junior high school next year will be on a minimum level of four periods per week for each pupil for a period of ten weeks. It will be necessary under this schedule, also, to reduce the art offering in the elementary grades so that the subject will have to be taught in the first and second grades also in two of the third grades by the regular classroom teacher.

In the senior high school, grades 9-12, the following art courses will be offered, basic art; crafts 1 and 2; design in living 1 and 2; drawing and painting 1 and 2 (each of these courses is a half-year offering except for basic art, which is a full-year course).

In discussing the problem of school costs, board members pointed out that state aid has not increased as mandated costs of education have increased. "Until the state brings its support of education in line with current costs," one board member said, "the increased demands of school budgets places an unfair burden on people who pay real estate taxes."

Discuss 5-Year Term

The board discussed a new chapter of the laws passed by the last legislature which makes possible the election of board members for three years rather than five, as is currently the practice locally. The decision of the board was to remain with the present plan which calls for a board member's term being five years. For the next few years, some local board positions will be for less than five years, until the five-year terms can be placed fully in effect. Eventually all will be on a five-year term basis.

Dates were set by the board for the sale of the West Camp and Quarryville School buildings. The sale of the West Camp building will occur May 20 at 7:30 p. m. at the site; the Quarryville building will be sold May 27 at 7:30 p. m. at the site.

Several members of the board plan to attend the area school boards meeting at New Paltz. It is a dinner meeting at the New Paltz Central School.

Dutch Freighter First Big Ship To Sail Seaway

CHICAGO (AP) — A flagbe-decked Dutch freighter carrying a cargo from the old world comes to Chicago today, marking a niche in the maritime history of the new world.

She is the 353-foot Prime Johan Willem Friso, easy victor in the momentous race to become the first large-size ocean-going vessel to sail the rebuilt St. Lawrence Seaway through the Great Lakes to Chicago.

Heralds New Era

The ship's arrival heralds a new era in sea transportation, opening up the Midwest to big ships.

A gala celebration, including a parade and banquet, awaited the Friso here, similar to the whoopla Milwaukee put on Wednesday night when the ship docked there.

15,000 Greet Ship

A roaring welcome by some 15,000 persons greeted Capt. Sander Klein and his crew when the Friso docked at Milwaukee 90 miles north to become the first foreign flagship to tie up at a Lake Michigan port after sailing through the new canal.

Court Officer Good

Adolph H. Wolfershiem, 112 Henry Street, a court officer in attendance at the County Court, collapsed in the court room during the morning session and was removed by Fatum Ambulance Service to Kingston Hospital. His condition was later reported as "good" and it was expected he would be released from the hospital later today.

Roosevelt Dam in Arizona is 30 miles long and 2 miles wide. There is a 16-foot driveway across the top.

Wind Cave in South Dakota became a national park in 1903. It has several miles of artistic galleries in its limestone walls.
